WILLING LOSES TO ST. PAUL LAD

Oregon Man's Defeat in National Amateur Disappoints Local Golfers.

Dr. O. F. Willing's defeat in Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday in the national amateur finals, by Jimmy Johnston, came as a disappointment to scores of local golfers, who have followed the accounts of the annual tournament with more than ordinary interest.

From 4:30 o'clock until early evening, the Observer answered scores of telephone calls about the final, and in nearly every case, Willing's loss counted in less than disappointment.

Dr. Ray Murphy, who was a devoted fraternity brother of Dr. Willing at the University of Oregon, cannot understand the golfer's action in one of Willing's matches. Dr. Murphy considers Dr. Willing to be one of the most sportsmanlike golfers playing today, and also points out that the British, for example, never concede putts, and fail to understand why some Americans do.

FAVOR 36-HOLE MATCH
PORTLAND, Sept. 8 (AP)—Agitation for the adoption again of the 36-hole 18-hole match seems likely to follow the thirty-third national amateur golf championship, which followed the crowning of Harrison F. Johnston, of St. Paul, as champion to the throne occupied in four of the five previous years by Bobby Jones.

On the same theory by which championship tennis matches are decided by best three out of five sets and world series by the best four out of seven ball games, a substantial group of officials and experts considers that 36 holes represents a more convincing test of golf than the 18 which now prevails for the first two rounds of the amateur tournament.

LEAGUE LEADERS NEARING PENNANT

Dark and Rainy Weekend Checks Some of Games in The Majors.

(By The Associated Press)
A dark and rainy weekend on the major league front saw the exciting champions in the respective circuits march somewhat closer to the pennant which still eludes them, but not so much closer as they might have hoped with better luck.

No fault could be found with the attendance at Chicago where the Cubs took two from the Braves on Saturday for 12 to 6 and 5 to 2, only to see the Red Sox grab a Sunday slugfest by 12 to 11, but large crowds have been known at White Sox than the one which saw the Cubs divide two with Cleveland on Saturday.

Rogers Hornsby entertained for big crowds at Wrigley field with a home run on each afternoon. Bringing his total for the season to thirty-five, one behind Wilson and Ott and two behind Klein, the league leader.

Win Most Game.
After losing in Pittsburgh on Saturday by 6 to 2, the Robins on the sabbath brought the Pirates back to Ebbets field where they trounced outplayed Ray Flenke by 2 to 1 in a moist game attended by a handful of fans. The Phillies slipped the Cardinals by 4 to 1 on Saturday and killed an even streak yesterday, the game scheduled for today being advanced to last night. This took the season record by 3 to 6, but downed by 4 to 2 in the sixteenth inning which saw Chick Harley hit a very useful home run. The second game was charged to Harry Sawyer, his second defeat.

The Sox won the first game handsily on Saturday by 5 to 1 behind the fire plugging of Ray Green, who scored his twentieth victory, but Willie Hudell outplayed Babe Wabers 4 to 0 in the nightcap.

Defeat slumped the Yankees by 5 to 4 in the opener on Saturday, but the big guns of the dying championship seemed out 25 to 1 to 7 and room in the second round. Nine bases on balls by Vic Sorrell in four rounds and three runs by Earl Yoe in the next five slumped Yankees' game for Ray Stord by 4 to 2.

Red Sox Win

The Red Sox rallied in the ninth on Saturday to beat the Braves by 4 to 3 and won the first game yesterday in match the same manner and by an identical score. The second game was called at the end of the ninth with the score 10 to 9. The Sox had a 10 to 9 lead in the ninth, but a home run by Earl Yoe in the bottom of the ninth, but the Sox won by 4 to 2.

John J. McEwan Lines Up Great Coaching Staff

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of seven articles on the University of Oregon football team for 1929. This article deals with the coaching staff.

By Sam Witherspoon
(Director of A.S.T.O. News Bureau)
In years gone by the University of Oregon boasted a wonderful coaching staff, but it is doubtful if any compare to the present staff of coaches.

Captain John J. McEwan is at the helm for his fourth season. When he became head coach four years ago, he inherited few players of outstanding ability. His first year—1925—was a hard one. Oregon was victor in only one out of five games. His second year—1926—was even worse, for the Webfoots failed to make a single contact.

McEwan's coaching staff is a combination of old and new. He has a number of players who have been with him since he became head coach. He has a number of players who have been with him since he became head coach.
