THE GREAT COMMANDMENT—Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy

The inevitable: A lazy man's alibi.

Making a bootlegger drink what he sells would be capital punishment.

No matter which way you drive, if you don't drive the right way it may be the way to jail.

Some after you wash your head, home after you wash your head.

An eye-specialist says green quiets the nerves. This is especially true of green-backs.

And so the earth is losing speed. Well, that sounds hopeful. Perhaps it is on the up grade.

IDEAS

After the first 100 ideas—which means the first hundred indications that the mind is doing a little thinking of its own account—not merely listening in—the progress of thinking becomes easier.

There are men that live and die without ever having what really may be called an original idea of their own, and there have been men who, with one single idea, have done more for the world and for mankind than 10,000,000 ordinary men of ordinary ideas could do in a lifetime.

There was Edison with his electric light idea, his phonograph idea and his hundreds of other ideas which have brought comfort, pleasure, riches and ease to multitudes. There was Ford with his small car idea. There were the Revolutionary fathers with their idea of a free and independent people.

Better to have conceived an erroneous idea than never to have had an idea. The harm of false philosophies is not in themselves but in the willingness of the herd-minded and idea-less to accept them as truths. For every creator of an idea there are millions who never think for themselves who will adopt it for their own without question.

Whatever of real importance has happened on this earth has always begun in the brain of some human being in the shape of an idea.

ON GETTING ALONG

Every community has its members who can not get along with their fellow citizens. Many offices, stores and factories have persons on the staff who are incompatible with their fellow workers. Every man and woman knows somebody he or she "can't bear."

No two persons are alike, and every nation and race has traits peculiar to itself. Sometimes the point of disagreement is opinion, such as religious, race or national prejudice.

Between individuals attitude, habits, personality and tastes may be the cause for dislike. Sometimes people disgust others and often they even anger their fellows. Women are said to be even more prone to take personal dislikes to others than are men, but among men there is often heard the remark "if it wasn't for the law."

But this is a large world and one person has no more right to it than another. Since it is no longer feasible to lead the life of a recluse or hermit or to retire to the recesses of a monk's monastic cell, people must learn to conquer their dislikes and aversions. It isn't easy and it isn't pleasant, but it is frequently necessary. Workmen have been successful in abolishing many undesirable working conditions, but they have never evolved a sure method of ridding themselves of undesirable working companions.

People make life easier and sweeter for themselves by seeing the one good trait in the person who has a dozen bad traits.

That "Reduced" Feeling!

Mexico is one country where the mother who raises her boy to be a soldier is assured he'll have a job.

TRUTHS

No idea is worth much unless a first-class man is back of it. . . . Most of us try to put off everything except a good time. . . . No man looks twice at a woman who is sensibly dressed.

She: "Bill plays golf awfully well, don't you think?"
He: "He has to be makes a bad start."

"Now, my son," said the conscientious father, "tell me why I punished you."
"That's it," blubbered the boy indignantly, "you pounded the life out of me, and no way you don't know."

Why? "Give me a penny, father."
Father: "You're too big now to be asking for pennies."
"Perhaps you're right, father. Make it a nickel."

POST NO BILLS

Able—Baba, cut it science?
Able's Papa—Ah, how could you be so dumb! Science is does things vat says, "No smoking."
"Give us this day our daily bread." The great trouble with the world is that too many people are praying for the other fellow's bread.

"I wish I were like the boss," remarked the homely stevedore.
"Why so?" yawned the file clerk.
"He's always engaged," sighed the hourly one.

Little Sue (on visit to the countryside): "Granny, why are the chickens making such noise?"
Grandmother: "They want their supper, dear."
Little Sue: "Well, if they're why you did it."

Walter C. Winslow, Salem lawyer, Chief of Police Frank Mintz and others of a party that has gone in to the wilds of Douglas county to pray for rain and to rally forth in quest of deer whenever the woods are wet enough to remove the fire hazard, may find themselves fighting fires instead of shooting game. At least Winslow may be looting the flames with a wet blanket, falling snags or whatever else a fire fighter is supposed to do.

State Forester P. A. Elliott has sent orders to Douglas county forest officials to find Winslow if possible and draft him into the service.

Elliott says he wasn't joking. Much of it is the fact that Winslow in past years has been among the most vigorous protesters in the state against the governor's orders to keep the season closed, and one year attempted to enjoin enforcement of the order. Last year he protested particularly hard. He took his party into the deer country while the hunting prohibition was still in effect, and while they did not actually hunt deer, they were ready to go as soon as it rained and the governor issued his proclamation opening the season. The Winslow party has done the same this season. As a result of his attitude towards the authorities Winslow isn't any too popular around the state forester's office.

SCIENTIST FINDS NEW SPECIES OF CROCODILE

(CHICAGO AP)—Quite by accident, Karl P. Schmidt, of the Field Museum, discovered a new species of crocodile two years ago while examining some decorated skulls used as fetiches by natives of New Guinea.

Recently, however, at the head of an expedition into the jungles of New Guinea, Schmidt has verified his discovery by capturing one of the crocodiles, the first complete specimen.

Submarine Mountain Won't Stay Still

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Word that a submarine mountain, located off the Pacific coast west of Catalina, has shifted 50 feet from its last known position was wireless to the Examiner short wave station WJF last night from the Carnegie Institution's experimental yacht Carnegie, which made the discovery.

The message stated that the

If you had to fry a dozen chickens you wouldn't fry them

all at once

For the same reason, Hills Bros roast their coffee a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk. This continuous process—Controlled Roasting, produces a matchless, uniform flavor.

Suppose you did try to fry them all at once. What a time you'd have cooking that tender meat evenly!

The right way to fry a lot of chickens is obviously one at a time. That's just the way Hills Bros. roast their fine blend of coffee. By their patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. Never in bulk. Only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters and the flavor is perfectly controlled because every berry is roasted evenly.

delicious goodness because Hills Bros. Coffee is sealed in vacuum tins at the time of roasting. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name. To be sure, look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Hills Bros. Coffee is sold everywhere.
