Third Cutting Of Alfalfa Is Now Under Way

By Mrs. Charles Spencer
(Observer Correspondent)

GRANGE HALL (Special)—The merry click of mowing machines is being heard in several hay meadows in this district. Among the farmers who started the harvest of the third cutting of alfalfa are C. B. Undzicker, George Gekeler, Joe Harrison and Clyde Kiddle.

School opened here Monday morning, Sept. 9, with Mrs. Inez Jenkins as teacher. There are nine pupils in attendance, one pupil, Lester Robinson, beginning eighth grade work. This is Mrs. Jenkins' third year as instructor here and the children are happy to be under her supervision again.

Arthur Metsil, Melvin Gekeler, Frances DeLong, Raymond DeLong, George Smutz, Richard Smutz, Mervine Kiddle, Donald Spencer and Lee Spencer are among the students from this neighborhood who entered high school in La Grande Monday morning.

An interesting affair of the week was a farewell party at which members of the Countrywoman's club honored Mrs. J. E. Anson. Mrs. Robert Masterton and Mrs. Sara Anson arranged the party which was given at the home of the latter Wednesday afternoon. A handkerchief shower was a feature of the entertaining hour. Miss Minnie Holman had charge of a contest in which Mrs. Orlin Anson and Mrs. Arthur Golden won the honors. The serving of ice cream and cake brought the happy afternoon to a conclusion. Those present were: Mrs. Alvah Dodson, of Union; Mrs. Minnie Probasco, who is here from her home in Long Beach, Cal., visiting with relatives; Mrs. J. A. Holman, Miss Minnie Holman, Mrs. Bert Grout, Mrs. Thomas Macomb, Mrs. George Hughes, Mrs. Walter Richards, Mrs. George Salisbury, Mrs. Ralph Chenault, Mrs. Albert Hamann, Mrs. John Hamann, Mrs. Mattie Golden, Mrs. Orlin Anson, Mrs. O. C. Fleshman, Mrs. Guy Spencer, Mrs. Clarence Redhead, Mrs. Arthur Golden, Mrs. Reece McAlister, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Nellie Colver, Mrs. James Lindsey, Mrs. Jesse Anson, Mrs. Charles Spencer, Mrs. Sara Anson and Mrs. Anson, the honor guest. Mr. and Mrs. Anson plan to leave by car the last of the week for Redlands, Cal., where they intend to live a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Daron and little daughter, Evelyn Marie, of near Cove, were all day visitors at the Elmer Daron home Tuesday.

Lon Ludgate returned to Hot Lake last week to continue medical treatments. Mr. Ludgate was at the lake for a period of two or three weeks in the early summer.

A vacation trip to Boise, the Payette lakes and other Idaho points was recently enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Macomb and son, Tommy. They were gone about a week.

Joe Harrison is preparing to milk more cows. He has added five cows to his herd, consequently he has to have more barn room. A shed to be equipped with stanchions and so forth is being built joinin gthe west side of the main barn. The floor will have the proper slope and other dairy barn regulations will be carried out. Mr. Harrison markets cream at one of the creameries in La Grande.

Bert Grout lacerated his right foot quite badly with an ax Wednesday morning while removing a limb that had fallen from a nearby tree on to the garage. Mr. Grout is going about his work on crutches.

The outcome of 282 White Leghorn baby chicks received the first of April from a hatchery in Western Oregon is most pleasing to Mrs. Elmer Daron. Out of the number Mrs. Daron raised 199 chickens and the pullets are beginning to lay.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lemon and two children arrived last Sunday and are at the home of his brother, Elbert Lemon. At the conclusion of their visit they will return to their home in Mt. Vernon.

As Philosopher Sees Life

Life is an amusing thing if you don't take it too seriously. It is far pleasanter to possess one's own soul than to possess political power. WHEN GLOBE-CIRLING GRAF CAME TO EARTH

It did it! It turned Old Mother Earth into a local-stop air bus to ute! And here you see the proud Graf Zeppelin, its historic world voyage done, as it nosed down to the ground at the Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station after breaking all records for round-the-globe travel. The monster sky-gird had flown across three continents and two oceans in slightly more than 21 days. It's shown in this striking picture as the Lakehurst ground crew seized the cast lines and walked the mighty vessel to its hangar.

Student of Space Perception Moves In Baffling New World

NORTHAMPTON, Mass (AP) — How would you like to reach for a glass of water and meet only empty space, to thing straight doors were curved, or see rainbows around the heads of all your friends?

This is what happened to Miss Janet Goldschmidt of New York when she put on prism glasses in her investigation of the habit of space perception in connection with her work in psychology at Smith college.

Space perception is defined as the ability to perceive which things are far away and which nearby. Psychologists say that this ability must be acquired, one that babies do not possess.

In infancy the world seems only a confusing blur of colors and lines. Gradually, however, by reaching for things and in other ways, each person learns to see the world in three dimensions and thus forms the habit of space perception.

Miss Goldschmidt undertook to investigate this habit further. For three days she wore a pair of prism glasses that moved everything she saw to the left. Straight lines became curved and everywhere light was bent or refracted as it passed through the prisms into rainbow bands of color.

To this new situation Miss Goldschmidt's old habits of space perception were poorly adapted. She reached for a pencil and felt only her desk; she walked towards a door and found only a wall. Soon, however, she began to form new habits and could reach for things with some hope of success. To learn to walk downstairs took longest of all, but in three days she was adjusted to the new world.

One of the most surprising of Miss Goldschmidt's results came when she touched a straight surface which (because of the glasses) looked curved. It felt curved as well. This, Miss Goldschmidt reminded, seemed to prove the primacy of sight over kinaesthetics, or touch, a point which long has been debated among scientists.

This was said to have been the first time that a prism glasses experiment ever was tried continuously. Miss Goldschmidt plans to continue her studies in psychology at Columbia university.

Port Barges Kept Busy

One peculiarity of the port of London is the extent to which vessels load from and discharge into barges. London is a barging port, and it is a staggering fact that on the Thames are 10,000 barges, continually plying to and from the docks and the wharves, warehouses, and factories which line its 170 miles of tidal banks.

Chicago Is Most Acive Market For Radio Sets

CHICAGO (AP) —The most active radio market in the country is Chicago.

Such was the opinion expressed by Edgar H. Felix, radio consultant of the National Electrical Manufacturers' association, in analyzing the last quarterly report of radio sales, stocks on hand and on order, just issued by the association's radio division in cooperation with the department of commerce.

"A compilation of the larger cities reported in the survey shows how sales reflect radio reception in different cities," said Mr. Felix.

"Communities of less than 10,000 population, with 28596 of the 38,766 radio outlets of the country, did only 14 per cent of the country's total business. The total for this large group barely exceeds the sales of New York and Chicago, which did $15,720,650 and $15,361,333 gross business, or 13.73 and 13.41 per cent respectively.

"The superiority of Chicago over New York as a radio market is clearly indicated, the sales in the smaller city being almost equal to those of the eastern metropolis."

In compiling the list of radio sales by cities from the report, Mr. Felix placed Los Angeles third, with sales of $3,800,343, Detroit fourth, with approximately $2,000,000 followed by Cleveland and Philadelphia, both under $2,500,000, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Buffalo, San Francisco, St. Louis, Denver and Milwaukee are placed in the order named in the one to two million class.
