WANTED OFFICE CAT

A recent auction in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, brought forth a bid of ten cents for a hungry. The bid was accepted.

Teacher—What are the games and sports of Mexico?
Mike—Bull fightin' and golf.
Teacher—Bull fightin' and golf isn't Mexican game.
Mike—Why ain't you ever heard of de golf of Mexico?

OH TO BE ADAM
Whatever trouble Adam had, No man in days of yore Could say when he had told a joke, "Ever heard that one before."

They met in the grocery store. "Darling, I've just heard the most terrible bit of scandal."

"I thought you had, dear; you looked so happy when you came in."

Doctors say the theory that pollen is the cause of hay fever is not to be sneezed at but the hay fever victims go right on sneezing at it just the same.

An Albertonian and a Yorkshireman foregathered in Hull. They discovered they were both thirsty but naturally neither of them had any money. A bright thought struck the Yorkshireman. "I know a barmaid who is very forgetful. If you engage her in conversation, she can't remember being paid or not. I'll go in and see if I'll work."

In the went and in a short time he came out to find Jack patiently waiting. "Well, how did ye get on?" "Oh, Jack, you try it on."

In Jack went, and after ordering his glass of whiskey, he engaged the barmaid in an interesting conversation and after ten minutes had passed he casually remarked: "Ah, well, I'll have to be going. What about my change?"

"You wish to employ one of our defectives to watch your husband?" "No."

"May I ask what has aroused your suspicions of him?" "He sent me a bunch of violets and a box of candy from two yesterday."

Adam was the first and only man to fail for "the only girl in the world."

Then there is the book who thinks a scratch pad in what the doctor applies to a patient who is suffering with eczema.

One way to feel cool on a hot afternoon such as that of yesterday is to walk down Adams avenue in the sunshine directly behind a fat woman wearing a big fur around her neck.

Radnuzel: Could you pass the bread?
Funnibunk: I guess so, I moved planes last year.

Mom: He can't take our Alice to the dance?
Pop: Why?
Mom: Why, he just told her he won a loving cup!

Perhaps it is the girls knew how effeminate they look in some of the new trousers costumes, they wouldn't be so keen for them.

OUT OUR WAY

AT THE THEATERS

"Father and Son" Coming To Arcade Tomorrow

Stories of the supreme sacrifice tendency of mother love have long been the theme for motion pictures and fiction writers. Similar stories of paternal devotion have somehow been neglected. We often become a little conscience-stricken when we think of the glorious reputation surrounding one male parent—a provider, that and nothing more. Gladly do we hear of him as a glorified person in the sense that he is confronted with a spiritual struggle which will allow him to make a martyr of himself for the sake of his child.

Columbia Pictures has taken this unusual theme for "Father and Son," a production synchronized with dialogue and music, which is coming to the Arcade theater on Wednesday with Jack Holt, Dorothy Revier and Mickey McLean. The sacrifice, Frank Kibbs, played by Jack Holt, is ready to undergo for his son, Jimmy, portrayed by Mickey McLean, rivals in intensity any story of paternal devotion that has ever been told.

"Sweet Sixteen" Showing Today At Colonial

"Sweet Sixteen," coming to the Colonial theater today and Wednesday, tells a story that carries a lesson for every father, every mother and every daughter. It is a story of innocent, though willful, wayward youth, and depicts the modern youth of today from the age of sixteen up.

Cynthia Perry, the central figure in this story, was a girl just sixteen—in reality a child—yet in her own mind she had attained womanhood. The experience she goes through in this story of young girlhood, written by Phyllis Duganne, are a lesson and warning to every young child, and to every parent. For Cynthia was not bad—she was just headstrong and felt that she knew the world and its ways.

Book Sensation New Feature At The Star

"The Bridge of San Luis Rey," Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize winning novel, which created a literary sensation, now triumphs again, for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dramatization of the story, showing at the Star theater Wednesday, has literally made screen history.

Charles Brabin directed the production, in which cross sections of human lives are bared, then assembled to build up a central theme idea. The thrill of the week of the huge bridge, the majestic cathedral scenes and the very portrayal of Camille, the dancer, are highlights in the story.

The cast is a remarkable one. Lily Damita, Europe's dancing sensation, plays the strange dancer, and Ernest Torrence is seen in the role of Uncle Pio, and Don Alva, and Duncan Haldane enact the twin brothers Esteban and Manuel in fine fashion.

To Emily Fitzroy and Michael Vavitch go the honors for character portrayals as the Marquessa and the Viscount. Pully Marshall and Mitchell Lewis, Jane Winton, Paul Ellis, Gordon Thorne and many other well known players are in the cast.

That's some talk of $2 paper suits for men, but what I'm fully expectin' anyday is lambskin dresses for women. Next to rememberin' how many calories you've got comin' to you for supper, the hardest thing is tryin' to keep house on a bond.

FOREIGN WOMEN GUESTS

BERLIN (AP)—Twenty Frenchwomen, mostly teachers in Paris schools, spent their summer vacations as guests here at the League for the Rights of Man. They said they would tell the youth of France that Germany is peace-loving.

FAVOR REPUBLIC

BERLIN (AP)—Attending the recent celebration of the tenth anniversary of the republic, Prince Friedrich von Waldeck and Pyrmont showed that not all members of the old nobility harbor hatred for return of the empire. His and caused much comment.
