BUILDING NEARS $300,000 MARK

George Lyman to Erect $4,000 Dwelling Place on Pennsylvania.

Another week of considerable new construction in La Grande swelled the year's building total to $257,750, which includes the unofficial $450,000 for the Eastern Oregon Normal school. From Sept. 15 to 21, inclusive, six permits were issued by the city recorder, J. R. Stouras.

George Lyman, who has erected several fine, modern homes in La Grande in the last few years, took out a permit last Tuesday to construct a $4,000 dwelling place on Pennsylvania between Oak and Cedar streets.

The other permits issued follow: Sept. 16—John Mars, to alter and repair a one-story home on Greenwood between 8 and Monroe, work to cost $100.

Sept. 18—Edith Salisbury, to alter and repair a home on Oak between Spring and Main, work to cost $150. Contractor J. D. Smith.

Sept. 19—Cameron and Bragg, for Joe Love, to erect a garage on M between Cedar and Oak, to cost $150.

Sept. 21—Beck and Robbins, to alter and repair filling station on Adams between Greenwood and Hemlock, work to cost $25.

HALF-TIMBERED RED FEATURE

By Chester H. Disque

A modern interpretation of Old Elizabethan architecture is found in the above sketch. The half-timber work serves to form a strong horizontal note, which not only creates a snug homelike character, but seems to help the house nestle closely to the ground and also serves admirably to tie the hooded entrance door, double windows on second floor, leaded glass windows in living-room and side porch, together in a most pleasing manner.

Notice how the house seems to grow from its very surroundings, the eye being carried from the living-room door and windows up to the oriel window, then to the peak of the roof, and in turn, to the topping out of the massive chimney leading from the corner fireplace in the living-room and again being tied into the house by means of the gormer window in the interior. Here we find a convenient coat closet behind front door, simple fireplace in living-room.

done for this is eye with busy vetch. The eye provides a support for the vetch and some winter protection and adds some organic matter to the soil; the vetch, being a leguminous plant, also adds nitrogenous matter.

On well-drained soils this combination seems to winter well even as far north as Wisconsin, Michigan and Maine. The crops should be sown at least six to eight weeks before freezing weather, at the rate of one pound of ryegrass to 400 square feet of garden, and half as much of vetch.

room, convenient toilet on landing at lower stairs, practical and convenient kitchen layout, with its comfortable rear porch and breakfast nook. The front porch is so arranged that access may be had from either the living-room or dining-room, making an ideal place for the evening meal during the warm summer months.

Hardwood floors, heavy oak plank doors, and finished plaster, steel element sash with rolling screens, colored plumbing fixtures, and chestnut trim are used throughout.

The house may be heated with either warm air or hot water, with the furnace, laundry trays and other utility features contained in the basement, which has cement floor.

A fifty foot lot will be required, and it is estimated that this house can be built for between $4,500 and $5,500, exclusive of heating and plumbing.
