

Athletics, Yanks Win Thursday In Listless Games

By William J. Chipman
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

With the baseball world still mourning the death of Miller Huggins, action along the major league front again was more or less perfunctory yesterday in the two decisions reached in such circles. A fifth game, involving the White Sox and the Indians at Cleveland, was postponed on account of rain.

Going into the battle for the first time since 1917 under leadership other than that of Miller Huggins, the Yankees pounded out a 19 to 3 victory over the Senators at Washington and introduced each in the evening for New York to attend the funeral of their deceased pilot.

The champion Athletics had little difficulty in turning back the Red Sox in Boston by 5 to 2, far less than the score might indicate. George Earnshaw gave up just four hits in six innings, earning his twenty-third victory, and then gave way to Babe Adger, who permitted the Red Sox to punch three drives for three runs in the eighth.

The game was practically decided in the first inning when Al Simmons hit his thirty-second home run with two men aboard. By running his mark to 23 victories, Earnshaw broke a tie which had existed between himself and Pat Malone for the interleague leadership.

Duzy Vance once more failed to go the route, and Philadelphia won its fourth straight from the Hobbs by 12 to 3. Lester Birdland was the winning pitcher.

Scipio's single in the ninth drove home the winning run for St. Louis in a 2 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh. Paul Wagner's homer in the first of the same round had tied the score. Clarence Mitchell and Hal Holt outpitched Jess Petty. The defeat left the Pirates with a margin of only two and one-half games over the Giants in the race for second place.

SHARKEY BEATS TOMMY IN THIRD

Boston Sailor Puts Big Punch Back in the Heavyweight Picture.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Jekyll and Hyde of the heavyweight picture, Tom Sharkey, has put the back in the picture, just as it seemed that there wasn't a man-sized wallop left in the ranks. The big Boston sailor exploded 2 1/2 last night, without the slightest warning, to accomplish the downfall of Tommy Loughran, a crowd of 45,000 spectators and a vast throng of reporters.

Sharkey, in the most convincing exhibition of speed and punching skill he has shown in more than two years, knocked out the big Boston Philadelphian boxing master in the third round of a 15-round match at the Yankee stadium. In less than seven minutes of actual fighting—after 27 seconds of the third round had elapsed—Sharkey's unexpected vicious attack crushed the heavyweight hopes of the retired ruler of the 175-pound division.

In Complete Daze
Unbelievably, Magnolia stopped the fight, for Loughran, though on his feet, was in a complete daze, his arms hanging and useless. It was a technical knockout, but it ever a man was thoroughly out "on his feet," it was Tommy, too dazed to know what had happened; that his dreams of sealing the heavyweight heights had been completely shattered.

It was the first knockout of Loughran's career. In fact the first defeat he has met in four years. He took in eleven more pounds to make his debut as a heavyweight last night but it did not do him any good. He was out-gassed and out-punched by the bigger, stronger and more aggressive Sharkey. Even more startling was the way Loughran, who actually entered the ring a slight favorite, was outboxed during the brief period of battle and in the same ring where the light heavyweight king had just defended his 175-pound title in a masterful exhibition just a few weeks ago. Nosed as a slow starter, Loughran never had a chance to start.

Easy Victory
In polishing off Loughran, Sharkey whipped with remarkable ease the boxer who had been picked by many to succeed Turney and by most critics at least as "the man to beat" before any new king of the heavyweights is crowned. As a result Sharkey undoubtedly will star in the next and perhaps final heavyweight bout, scheduled for Miami, with Max Baer, the clouding German, as his probable foe, unless the Englishman, Phil Scott, has a reply to the challenge he made to the winner last night.

Only two real blows were landed in the first round of sparring, but both were by Sharkey. A left to the body and a hard right to the head. In the second round, the sailor took complete command, astonishing the crowd as well as the experts by the ease with which he outboxed the clever Philadelphian, punishing him with well-timed blows to the head and body. The third round and Loughran's finish, after a sharp but decisive flurry along the ropes, came so quickly that the biggest crowd of the outdoor season was almost as dazed as Tommy when he wobbled to his feet, punch-drunk, after the one and only knockdown of the bout.

the Angels again, the contest ending with the score 7 to 4. Five circuit swats marked the game.

Larry Gillick held the Indians in Seattle scoreless for four innings until the sixth inning when the northeners cracked out four hits to gain three runs and tie the score. Three more collected in the eighth won the game for the Indians 5 to 2.

Baseball Men Pay Tribute To Miller Huggins

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Metropolitan baseball men today paid their last tribute to Miller J. Huggins, "the manager" of the New York Yankees. Funeral services for the Yankee chairman who died on Wednesday, were held at 2 p. m. in the Church of the Transfiguration, the "Lath Church Around the Corner."

Hundreds of close friends, acquaintances and just "old fans" passed by the mighty little baseball veteran's bier in the nearby chapel of the church.

Arthur Fletcher and Charles O'Leary, coaches, and Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Earle Combs were selected as pall-bearers. The Yankees' American league game with Washington was postponed to allow the players to attend the funeral.

Huggins will rest beside his father and mother in a cemetery in Cincinnati. Final services are to be held in the First Presbyterian church, Cincinnati, Sunday afternoon.

LEWIS BEATS IOWA GRAPPLER IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27 (AP)—Portland wrestling fans witnessed one of the most sensational wrestling matches ever seen here last night when Ed (Strangler)

Lewis, veteran ex-heavyweight champion, defeated Howard Cantowine, Iowa, two falls out of three before one of the largest crowds ever turned out for a wrestling bout. It was Lewis' famous headlock that finally turned the trick after the former champion had succumbed in the first fall to the now equally famous tackle by which he lost his championship title to Gus Sonnenberg. But it was also through an attempt to repeat this feat that probably cost Cantowine the match. Lewis succeeded to repeated flying tackles after 47 minutes 15 seconds of strenuous wrestling, during which Cantowine used a great variety of holds, coming back for the second fall. Lewis side-stepped one of Cantowine's rushes, the latter coming through the ropes and striking on the side of his head. This was the turning point for Lewis.

Huggins is planning to plant trees along the highway. Now the candidates will be sure of having places to nail their cards.

Reds And Stars Tied For First In Coast League

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Mission Reds and Hollywood Stars were tied today for the Pacific coast league lead, the second time this week that such a situation has existed, giving proof of the determined manner in which the two clubs are fighting for the second half pennant, with barely ten days left of the 1929 season.

Hollywood's one game lead was erased in yesterday's victory by the Reds, the score being 4 to 3. Recreation park here was crowded, as it has been at every game in this week's crucial series. The main thrill came in the ninth inning when Fattis, pinch hitting for Carley, Hollywood center fielder, hit a home run. The rally was short lived.

Ducks Beaten
Meanwhile, the Portland Ducks clung to third place in the standings, having displaced the San Francisco Seals, who today were lagging behind Los Angeles in fifth place. Three Portland pitchers failed to earn the title of run in the game with Oakland yesterday, and Oakland won 3 to 2. The Oaks crossed the plate eight times in the sixth inning and once in the fifth. Lombardi and Vergez clouted home runs for Oakland while Hartz put one in the bleachers for the Ducks.

A home run from the bat of catcher Sandberg, which came in the eighth with the bases loaded, swung the pendulum of victory from the San Francisco Seals to
