Melting Pot" In Feature At E. O. N. During Afternoon

A "Melting Pot" was held yesterday at the Eastern Oregon Normal school as a get-acquainted affair for its students. A jolly afternoon was spent playing clever games, meeting in contests, and dancing.

Miss Madeline Larson had charge of the program with a number of faculty members assisting her. She selected four acts: Mildred Standley, of La Grande; Doris Brown of Baker, via Hansen of La Grande, and Anne Herr of Freewater, as leaders for the afternoon. They divided the party into four groups to compete for a grand prize. Irma Eck, of Pendleton, won a music contest for her group, while the representative of group two, the Hahn, of Salem, won the ending grand prize. A clever spot was won by group three, with Beth Benson, of Hermiston, running, and Doris Somerville of Pendleton, Margaret Maddock, of Union, and Elizabeth Heese, of La Grande, assisting.

The most attractive display of fall attire ever displayed in our time forth when the members of six different groups were lined up to heel along the floor, to determine which division had the best footage.

There were also get-acquainted lines, and contests for the best ribbons.

Group four was awarded the honor of the most firsts. Members of the faculty served refreshments to the students arranged in a grand arch. Clark Truckman played for dancing, closing a delightful afternoon.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

With cabbage at five cents or more a pound, the thrifty housekeeper hesitates to throw away any that has wilted, but if her family is small, it often is a difficult problem to devise ways to use it up.

Some people object so seriously to the odor of cooking cabbage that they will not taste the finished dish. Properly cooked cabbage is really more delicately flavored than cauliflower or brussels sprouts and does not fill the house with a disagreeable odor.

Always cook cabbage or any of its family in an uncovered pan. This prevents the forming of the gas which gives off the unpleasant odor. It also keeps the vegetable from becoming strong flavored and unpalatable.

These suggestions may help you in planning your next week's menu. The head of cabbage does duty for several meals in succession but does not become monotonous.

It's Economical, Healthful

Cabbage is one of the cheapest sources of vitamins and mineral salts available. It will pay every housewife to serve it often even if economy need not be considered.

Cut the fresh head of cabbage on the night fish is served for dinner. A salad of shredded cabbage, carrots, green peppers and celery mixed with French dressing or old-fashioned coleslaw is always good with fish.

For the next day's luncheon combine the left-over fish with well crisped cabbage for a salad.

Let cabbage stand in cold water for half an hour before using. This makes it deliciously crisp and tender. Drain thoroughly before combining with other ingredients.

The next night peppers stuffed with cabbage and finely chopped meat provide an appetizing dish.

The last quarter of the head of cabbage is used in a vegetable soup. Carrots, onions and tomatoes blend their flavors in a savory soup that is truly delicious.

The vegetables can be finely shredded and minced and served in the broth or the whole can be strained and a clear soup served.

A cut head of cabbage can be kept for several days in the ice box if wrapped in waxed paper. This makes it possible for one or two days to elapse between the serving of cabbage in one of its numerous ways. No matter how cabbage is to be used, it's vastly improved if crisped before cooking or serving.

Peppers Stuffed With Cabbage

One-quarter head cabbage, 1/2 cup minced celery, 1 cup chopped left-over meat, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 4 to 6 sweet green peppers, coarse bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter.

Drop cabbage in boiling water and cook ten minutes. Drain and chop. Combine with celery, meat, salt, pepper and mustard. Cut stem ends from peppers and remove seeds and white fiber. Fill with cabbage mixture and cover with crumbs. Dot with bits of butter and place in a shallow pan. Cover bottom of pan with boiling water and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Midget Type

The smallest type that has ever been set is the fly's eye type, only two points high.

Suffices in Russia

The terminations "off" and "off" in Russian names signify a grandson or descendant. "The 'rich' or 'switch' means a son. 'SKP' is of local origin and refers to the city.

Orangemen Will Play California Aggies Saturday

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Sept. 27—Pass defense and work with the line has claimed most of Coach Paul J. Schissler's attention in this week's practice. The Orangemen are preparing for the second game of the season, that against the California Aggies here Saturday afternoon and Oregon State was woefully weak in these two departments of the game despite the fact that the Orangemen won the opener, 37 to 6 from Willamette.

While the Orange backfield looks as strong as last year's, minus Howard Maple, the forward wall needs considerable bolstering and Coach Schissler has put in hours of his time with his linemen. The great weakness seems to be in the guard position left vacant by the graduation of Vern Eilers and Jules Carlson.

The California Aggies lost up a great battle last year, losing by a 14 to 9 count to the Orange. Crip Toomey's Mustangs tied St. Ignace for second place in the Pac. Western conference which was won by St. Mary's. The Mustangs are virtually the same team as played here last year with Captain Kermit Schmidt, two time skipper, at the helm. Coach Schissler highly commended his work at end in two previous games against the Orange.

RUSSIANS TAKE OFF

DUTCH HARBOR, Unalakleet, Sept. 27 (AP)—Four Russian aviators flying from Moscow to New York in the "Land of the Soviets," took off at 9:30 a. m. (Pacific time) today on the last leg of their hazardous flight over the stormy North Pacific ocean.

The Russians expected to complete their 700 mile hop to Seward, their first stop on the Alaskan mainland, late this afternoon. They started after a delay of two days because of a southeast gale, which nearly smashed their plane on rocks when it arrived here Tuesday from Atiu. Farthest west on the Aleutian islands.

with a revolver, the others attempted to lift the body to a stretcher in the car. They dumped it in the gutter, however, when several persons ran toward the scene and made their escape.

Police flashed an alarm to all stations for the apprehension of Granville Blair, 41, convicted on Antink's testimony for the robbery of May 21, 1923, and Morris Moll, 29, known to police throughout the country as "the phantom gunman." Moll was identified by Antink in St. Paul, Minn., last spring as a member of the holdup gang. Officers said witnesses picked pictures of the suspects out of police files.

Blair was sentenced for life, but was paroled from San Quentin last February, and had been living in Long Beach, Cal., police said. They were unable to account for Moll's presence, and did not reveal whether of the third assailant had been identified.
