TRADE MARK REG.

"Hello."
"This is Mrs. Jones on Third street. Will you send me up some nice fish right away?"
"I'm sorry, Mrs. Jones, but we haven't any fish."
"Oh! well, send me a couple of nice lean pork chops."
"We haven't any pork chops, Mrs. Jones."
"Oh, how provoking! Then a small sirloin steak will have to do."
"We haven't any steaks."
"For heaven's sake! Isn't this Smith, the butcher?"
"No, this is Smith, the florist."
"Oh! well, send me a dozen white carnations. My husband is just starved to death."
One day Mrs. Jones rushed into her husband's presence with hasty steps and a wild look of excitement.
"Oh John!" she exclaimed, "Norah's made a mistake and tried to light the kitchen fire with gasoline."
"Gasoline, eh?" Calmly responded John. "Did she get it started?"
"Did she get it started?" cried the amazed Mrs. Jones. "It blew her out of the kitchen window."
"That's all right, my dear," returned the philosophic Jones; "it was her afternoon out anyway."

A self-made man gives all the credit to his maker.
"So you wear spats."
"No, that's my long underwear."

Gladys: "I hear Jack married one of the schoolgirls from the H. price department store."
Helen: "Yes, but I think he'd have done better if he'd shopped around a little!"

AT THE THEATERS

"Conquest" At Arcade Is All-Talking Film

"Conquest," the Warner Bros. all-talking special starring Monte Blue and directed by Roy Del Ruth and now showing at the Arcade theater, has no silent sequences. Every foot of it is genuine Vitaphone. It also contains all the natural sound effects, such as the whir of the three great motors of the monoplane that carries Blue and Warner on their dash to the South Pole—the howling of the wind in the straits—the frightful roar of the Antarctic blizzard and the crash of the falling plane as well as gentler sounds such as whistling—drumming on a straw hat—the telephone bell and the rustle of silken skirts.

"Conquest" is based on the novel, "The Canals in the Wind," by Mary Inlay Taylor. Eva Unwin did the adaptation and C. Graham Baker the scenario. Besides Monte Blue, the cast includes H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, Edmund Broese, Tully Marshall and others.

"Conquest" is now seen and heard at the Arcade theater.

"Isle of Lost Men" Coming Saturday

If you have been bored with some of the screen fare offered about town lately go to the Columbia theater Saturday for "Isle of Lost Men," a melodrama of the South Seas with action galore and then some. It is an excellent story, enacted by a great cast.

The murderous skipper of the "Vulcan" sets the hero adrift in a small boat with salt food and salt water for rations. Exhausted, the youth is washed up on an island and found by a white girl.

CATHERINE CREEK PERSONALS

By E. H. Miles
(Observer Correspondent)

CATHERINE CREEK (Special)—Miss Fern Hundy, after spending a pleasant week visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lathrop, left last Friday evening for Seattle, Wash., where she will visit for a few days with her sister, Elsie. Then she expects to enter the Teachers college at Bellingham, Wash.

Those attending the annual flower show from this neighborhood last Tuesday were: Mrs. W. E. Fields, Mrs. R. F. Lathrop, Fern Hundy, Mrs. R. H. Bonnie, and Mrs. E. H. Miles. They all report a fine display of beautiful flowers for such a late showing.

S. J. Kingsbury is handling his grain to the mill at Union this week.

Mr. and Milton Mason, of Millwaukie, Ore., were guests at the Lathrop home last week. They are old time friends of the Lathrop family.

Mrs. A. N. Standaht and daughter, Lela, spent Tuesday in La Grande visiting at the home of Mrs. R. J. Cusick. They report Mrs. Cusick and daughter, Miss Elms, most pleasantly located and well, but still thinking of their old neighbor and still thinking of their old neighbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wood were visiting at the home of Art Moody last Friday. Fay Moody, who is staying in Union attending school, accompanied them to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fields are planning on attending the annual fair at Halfway next Friday.

Mrs. Sessions, of Hot Lake, and Mrs. Lee were pleasant callers at the Ed Miles home on Tuesday.

Had Suffered 10 Years, She Says

"After ten years of suffering, Sargon made me well and strong again."
"Indigestion and constipation had me in a terribly rundown condition. I had very little appetite and the little I ate disagreed with me. I had an almost constant pain in my right side and I never got a good night's sleep. Finally, I had an operation on my gall bladder but my condition grew steadily worse. My nerves went all to pieces and my strength and energy left me. My liver became sluggish and I felt wretched day and night."
"I tried many medicines but nothing really helped me until I started taking Sargon. Now my appetite is fine and my stomach trouble is over. I'm not nervous any more and I sleep fine. Sargon Pills rid me of constipation, stimulated my liver and that pain in my side is gone. Now I'm just full of new strength and energy and feel good all the time."
—Mrs. Edward S. Christensen, 7th Ave. and Pike St., Seattle, Wash. Red Cross Drug store agent.
