COLLEGE OF IDAHO HERE ON FRIDAY

ged, which observers believe was largely due to missed assignments, although both the line and back field showed potential power.

Both Quinn and Coach Ira Woodie used several combinations during the scrimmage. The normal school was on the offensive first, finally turning the ball over to the Tigers and assuming the defensive. A large crowd of football fans was present for the scrimmage.

Neither Barrett nor Irwin were in suits yesterday. The game tomorrow will be refereed by Charles Reynolds and Jimmy Rosenbaum will be umpire. Woodie will take care of the yard sticks. Unless rain comes tomorrow, the field will be dry and fast—made to order for the occasion.

The ticket sale has met with a general response, and a large crowd of spectators is expected in the E. O. N. team's debut into college football.

Following the game here tomorrow, the normal school will go to Lewiston Normal on Oct. 26 and the Oregon State Troops are expected to play here either Nov. 1 or 2. Mammoth Normal school will come to La Grande either Nov. 15 or 23 and Quinn is arranging for a game at Pendleton with Cheney Normal school for Armistice day. It is also possible that a practice game will be played here soon with one of the Whitman house eleven.

In preparation for the game tomorrow, a pep meeting will be held at the Normal school at 7 o'clock tonight.

PORTLAND EGGS

PORTLAND, Oct. 3 (AP)—Despite further advances at Seattle and San Francisco, the Portland egg price remains unchanged, with an undertone of unusual firmness. There has been a large movement of eggs out of storage. Four cars from Oregon were shipped to New York last week and one car each to Chicago, San Francisco and

HOUSE AGAIN EXPECTED TO BACK HOOVER

Despite the senate vote on the flexible tariff issue, President Hoover's friends in congress were confident that the house, which passed the bill 264 to 147, would insist upon continuance of the flexible policy. Democratic leaders, on the other hand, predicted that their substitute would win strong if not majority support in that chamber. Few members of the house were on hand to substantiate or deny either opinion.

Observers Wondering

Political observers, meanwhile, were left wondering what influence the apparently close organization of northwestern republicans would have on the future political situation. The cleavage disclosed in the republicans over President Hoover's two principal legislation proposals is recognized as the deepest in years.

The political significance of this division is regarded as intensified because of the active leadership of Senator Borah of Idaho. He was perhaps Mr. Hoover's most prominent opponent, preceding last year's election. All of the republican independents with the exception of Senator Norris of Nebraska, in fact, were more or less on the Hoover firing line throughout that campaign.

Solid Lineup
The group represents almost a solid lineup of the northwestern agricultural states. Besides Senator Borah and Norris, the following voted yesterday against the Hoover flexible tariff proposal: Howell, Nebraska; Brookhart, Iowa; Schall, Minnesota; La Follette and Haines, Wisconsin; Johnson, California; Pine, Oklahoma, and Cutting, New Mexico. In addition, Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, was paired with this group.

Mr. Longfellow stated that several younger brothers and sisters of normal school students and faculty members have enrolled both in the grade and high school. Of particular interest is the high attendance records for the first month of school. Only 121 cases of tardiness occurred during September, and on the other hand, a total of 1468 students were neither tardy nor absent. The percentage of attendance in the grade schools was 98.3 and in the high school 96.6.

During the month 71 parents visited the schools and four visitors were made by school board members.

streets, the truck to be paid for out of the 1929 budget.

Commissioner Charles Phayle gave his opinion that loads of logs hauled through the city should be held in place by two chains, instead of one, in order to increase the safety. The city manager was authorized to request log haulers to do this.

In the city manager's weekly report, it was stated that the city library will be open on Sunday afternoons beginning next Sunday, between the hours of 2:30 and 5:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Gehring in charge. The circulation during September was 6,253.
