

OREGON ELEVENS PLAY IN SOUTH

Three Conference Games
Scheduled for Pacific Coast Tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Pacific coast conference football games, with the weaknesses of the teams evidenced in last week's opening games, partly leveled out, will advance another step tomorrow, in their 1929 campaigns.

Three conference clashes, on widely separated grids, will draw tens of thousands of fans, but the greatest interest is being shown in the clash between little St. Mary's college's galloping Gaels and the "Beat of California".

A cry of "Beat California" is ringing over the Moraga valley campus of St. Mary's, and a determined band with a tricky machine that includes three centers and four halfbacks, will invade the fair of the Bears. The game is expected to draw between 60,000 and 70,000 fans.

In the southern part of the state, the University of Southern California Trojans will attempt to steamroll their way over another conference opponent, Oregon State. Last week the Trojans trounced the University of California at Los Angeles 26 to 0.

Stanford Favored
At Palo Alto, Stanford university will make its conference debut against University of Oregon. A crippled Cardinal, with its chief passing threat, Bill Shinkins, on the sidelines, will battle the northerners and is favored to win.

In the Far North, Coach Enoch Bagshaw's University of Washington team, out to vindicate its coach in the eyes of the football world, will take on the University of Montana eleven. Hope points to this game being an easy win for the Huskies of Washington.

Other conference teams meet non-conference opponents. Idaho tackles Whitman college at Moscow; Washington State runs up against Mt. St. Charles at Pullman; and the University of California at Los Angeles will take on Fresno State.

The truck became stalled on the track in some manner and was virtually demolished.

Ishbel May See Baseball Contest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The wish to see a baseball game expressed on the Atlantic by Ishbel Macdonald may be gratified while her father is visiting President Hoover.

The prime minister's daughter was not sure that the pleasure could be arranged, but any steps to that end will be supported by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club. Through the Evening Star, he offered the British visitor the president's box for the Saturday or Sunday games with the Boston Red Sox which close the season.

Little Interest Remains In Big League Contests

By William J. Chipman

Major league baseball outplayed the weather man yesterday, but lost all decisions to the fans who refused to give the turnstiles a work-out. Only the Giant-Phillie game was postponed in a schedule of four, and that postponement was ordered to make a double-bill with which to close the Baker bowl season on Saturday than from any necessity imposed by the weather.

The Cubs and the Reds again had the National league stage to themselves. The Bruins seized the opportunity to win another game and so to force ahead of the Hendricks forces in the series by two decisions to one. The score was 8 to 1.

Pete Donohue was punished severely, yielding 12 hits and all of the eight runs in five and a fraction innings before Marvin Gudat rushed to the rescue. Joe McCarthy divided his box work among three men, Hal Carlson, Art Nahl and Pat Malone. Rogers Hornsby got only one safe blow in five attempts, and failed definitely from the race for the National league batting championship, which seems to belong to Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia. The rajah's chances of finishing second now are none too good.

The Browns nosed out the Indians by 3 to 2 in ten innings through two late rallies against Walter Huddell, and retained a chance to the Peck's club for third place. The Browns must take three more in succession to turn the trick. Alvin Crowder pitched smart ball.

In the other American league game, Ted Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 3 to 1 victory over Detroit at Chicago. It was Lyons' fourth victory of the season for the seventh place Pale Horse.

Naval Airman Is Killed in Crash

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 4 (AP)—Ensign Henry Gsell, student naval aviator, was killed at the naval air station here today when he apparently lost control of the Curtiss Hawk airplane he was piloting in aerial maneuvers 2500 feet above the station's landing field and fell to the field. Gsell's home was in Kansas City.

STARS AND REDS TIED FOR FIRST

Ducks Trim Hollywood
While Missions Again
Win From Seattle.

By The Associated Press
Neck and neck in the Pacific coast league's race for second-half season honors, the Mission Reds who wouldn't stay down and Hollywood Stars who won't give up were battling today, with the result shrouded in a haze of uncertainty.

A victory yesterday for the Bay City boys in their contest at Recreation park against the Seattle Indians, and a defeat handed out to the Stars by the Ducky Portland club at Los Angeles may mean all the difference in the world to the winner and the loser of the campaign, for it erased the lead of the Stars and brought the Missions into a tie which may prove a stepping stone to the pennant for the 1929 season.

The Missions had no difficulty winning from the Indians by a 13 to 1 score. It was an old fashioned beating. The Indians took it without a yell.

Ducks Trim Stars

On the other hand, the Portland Ducks, who hold a much better rating in the league standings than the Indians, have dealt less kindly with the Hollywood lads. The Ducks won 9 to 5. Ernie Walters held the southern club to eight hits while his mates bagged 15 off Hollersson and Hensel Hulvey. Heath, star first sacker, nipped the ball for a homer, his second in a couple of days.

Clyde Barfoot yielded the marbles for Los Angeles to the Oakland Oaks who won at Emeryville 2 to 1 in a tight pitching duel with Lou McVey.

The Sacramento Senators handed the San Francisco Seals a bitter pill in the form of a 1 to 6 defeat, scoring the winning run in the eighth inning. The game was an exceedingly fast one, occupying only an hour and seven minutes.

LOUIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch today says that Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, is expected to announce Sunday that he will not renew the managerial contract of Dan Howley, and that Howley will announce he had severed connections permanently with the St. Louis American league club.

Connie Mack To Supply Strategy In World Series

By Alan Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—If the tactics of a baseball sage and master craftsman, guiding the play of his youthful talent by the wisdoms of a score card, if strategy, in other words, develops as a vital factor in the forthcoming world's series, the Athletics seem likely to have the advantage of the Cubs.

It may contribute nothing to the advancement of science for "strategy" to triumph yet it is a well known baseball fact that a few solid baschits can overthrow the most cunning strategy. For that reason the clouting Cub circus probably is not worried by the threat of being outsmarted by Connie Mack and a strategic board of sages that numbers Kid Gleason, Eddie Collins and Ira Thomas. The Yankees have given ample proof that the home run represents one of the cleverest methods of off-setting enemy maneuvers.

Nevertheless, the A's start with the benefit of Mack's long experience, his skillful player-manipulation, in a short series where every move counts, where the slightest tactical mistake may mean the difference between the winner's and loser's end of the pot.

For that matter, the Cubs can do plenty of heavy thinking, or contribute any amount of inside stuff on their own account with Gen. Joe McCarthy in command. Col. Jimmy Burke nearby for advice and Maj. Rogers Hornsby on the field to toss his experience in with that of Field Capt. Charley Grimm.

Yet there is no doubt the master-minding honors, on the whole, belong to the A's. McCarthy was a school kid, playing on the sandlots of Philadelphia, when Connie Mack managed his first championship club in 1902.

Even McGraw yields in technique to Mack, who controls the moves of every player with his famous score card, although he has denied the legend that he directs every pitch. No manager so assiduously studies or so carefully remembers the strength and weakness of opposing players as Mack. From the reports of Chief Scout Ira Thomas, who has been trawling the Cubs, the lean leader probably has indexed all offensive and defensive habits of the National league champions.

Sport Slants by ALAN J. GOULD

The National league has one more decoration and $1,000 check to bestow upon its most valuable player, before this award passes out existence, and it will not be astonishing to see it go to Hack Wilson, the chubby slugger of the Cubs.

The addition of Rogers Hornsby is considered to have made pennant winners out of the Chicago Nationals but the Rajah won the award in 1925 and although technically he can repeat, there has always been a prejudice against this. The pitching of Guy Bush and Pat Malone figured heavily in the Cub victory but the most vital piece of evidence in Wilson's favor is that the team's real rise dated from the shift of Hack to the clean-up role.

Red Lucas, by winning close to 20 games for the lowly Cincinnati club, and Frank O'Doul of the Phillies, by his great batting, earned high ranking but the standing of the clubs usually influences the main award.

The American league has discontinued the player award, effective this year, but any vote taken probably would favor Al Simmons, the great outfielder of the Athletics.

The popular eastern notion that they raise bigger and better athletes in the California climate doesn't stand much scrutiny. Quite often the California stars are transplanted easterners. Gibson Dunlap, here for a day in the amateur golf tournament at Pebble Beach, represented the University of California at Los Angeles but he learned his golf in Chicago. Charley Borah, the Southern California sprint ace, came from Massachusetts and one of the likeliest of Trojan football prospects is Gilbert Bartko, all-Ohio scholastic fullback from Toledo. Stanford's famous, high jumper, Bob King, also came from Ohio.

He is finding it difficult to select a man, or woman, of the ability he desires who is willing to take the post, despite his frequently demonstrated ability to arouse the interest of high minded civilians in less remunerative government jobs. As one close to the president put it, an able attorney with a lucrative law practice would be extremely reluctant to drop it for a $2,000 job which would make him the storm center of such a furiously raging controversy as prohibition and a target for abuse from both wets and dries.

10,000 Pay Tribute To Patron Saint

MAGDALENA, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 4 (AP)—A joyful and devout pilgrimage today brought 10,000 souls to Magdalena to pay tribute to their patron saint, St. Francis. Prayer for a blessing on the rites, and thanksgiving for the recent homecoming of priests from exile were delivered under the stars throughout last night by the throng which overflowed buildings into corrals and patios.

In the church of this village of 2,000 persons, lies the honored wooden image of the saint, dressed in sacred garments. At dawn church bells summoned the thousands to the services. They filed by the image, for a glimpse of the shrine, or perhaps knelt to kiss its cloth.
