Woman's Club At Union Opens Its Autumn Season

By Mrs. S. Z. Terrall (Observer Correspondent)

THE UNION, (Special)—The Women's club members held their first meeting of the season at the clubhouse on Thursday with a large attendance. The meeting was opened with current event topics after which Mrs. Bell Wright gave a very interesting review of Richard Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast." Mrs. Edith Pyle favored the audience with two vocal selections after which afternoon tea was served on bridge tables that were tastefully decorated with fall flowers.

The T. B. Bridge club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Terrall on Wednesday evening and spent their time pleasantly at cards and other refreshments. Guests more than members were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook. Prizes for the evening were awarded to Mrs. P. N. Fox and Mr. and Mrs. William Dobbins.

The first fall meeting of the Lucky Thirteen was held at the home of Mrs. E. P. Coburn on Friday. A tasty three-course luncheon was served at one o'clock after which the crowd spent a most pleasant afternoon playing bridge. The luncheon was attractively decorated with autumn blossoms carrying out a yellow and lavender color scheme. Besides the regular members, Mrs. Walter Cook and Mrs. Geo. Hoffman were present to enjoy the festivities.

Mrs. S. O. Gates received news this week of the death of her brother, Fred Shoets, at Joseph. He had been in poor health for a couple of years following a stroke with badly frozen feet. Miss Margaret Dobbins, of Portland, who has been visiting at the home of her brother Jim Dobbins for some time, was a Union visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. Viola Parker returned Monday from an extended stay in Portland.

Mrs. Bell Wright and Mrs. Edith Pyle spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wright in Baker.

Chester Lindley, of Portland, visited the Gilson brothers on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rollins drove up from Eugene to spend their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Rex Gilgus. Mrs. Gilgus is gaining slowly from her recent mastoid operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dohbert Irvin and family are moving into the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Slater.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neer, of Portland, are visiting this week at the M. S. Levy home.

Mrs. Helen Lewin closed up her home and left on Wednesday to spend the winter in San Francisco with her sons and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harrison and family left this morning by auto for Oakland where they will make their home.

R. H. Bonney and Eugene Reuter took a load of trout to Bull Run creek beyond Sumpter early this week and did a little hunting on the side. Eugene has spent the week in the hills alone with apparently no success to date.

Mrs. Villa Bench left the first of the week for Wenatchee where she will make her home with her daughter Mrs. Gerald Spencer.

Mrs. Louisa Bidder accompanied her husband home from Salem, Ore., on Wednesday and friends are glad to know that she is gaining her health back after a long fight.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Bertha Hoyle, and daughters, Velma Peterson and Mrs. Clark Marston, are making a two weeks auto trip through Utah.

Several of the Union members of the Women's Relief Corps have accepted the invitation of the La Grande chapter to attend the noon luncheon given at their regular meeting place in the K. O. hall today (Saturday). Among those who went over are Mesdames Viola Parker, Walter Cook, Mary Minkie, Clarence Craver, Ed Pickle, Pearl Chadwick, Louise Barwell, Homer Cheney and Jas. Welch.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Terrall and family and C. L. Cadwell were pleasantly entertained at a champagne dinner at the home of Mrs. Bell Wright and Mrs. Edith Pyle Thursday evening.

Mrs. Cora Bloeba and Mrs. Oscar Gorham motored over from Cove to spend Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Don Cate.

Mrs. J. B. Stoddard, of La Grande, visited her daughter Mrs. Frank Cheney, this week. Mrs. Adelaide Hunter, of Portland, arrived in Union last evening to visit for some time with her mother, Mrs. Mary Hutchinson.

C. N. Ogilvie Is Building Large Barn Near Cove

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin (Observer Correspondent)

COVE, Ore. (Special)—C. N. Ogilvie, who lives on the old Geer place, is building a fine new barn 75 feet long by 25 feet wide with a loft that will hold 20 tons of hay. J. E. Hundell and sons are doing the work. The barn is well lighted with nine windows on each side, is equipped with steel stanchions and will stable 20 cows. It is built after the standard requirements with a wide door at the back for entrance. A wide space the entire length of the barn in front of the cows furnishes ample feeding space. The loft overhead is floored with tight flooring to keep the dust from falling through. This barn will be equipped with a milking machine when the electric light is extended that far up the hill. Mr. Ogilvie is milking four-year-old registered Guernsey cows and will be milking six more very soon. He had the grand champion cow at the Wallawa county fair—"Irma Lane" of Maples farm is a registered Guernsey three years old. This cow also won first prize.

He also won a blue ribbon on a weaning heifer "Smiling" from Maple farm and a blue ribbon on "Bonnie," a heifer under one year. First and second on bulls under one year. Mr. Ogilvie has 37 head of the registered stock. Two of their children, Ted and Eleanor, are doing club work and own and care for their part of this herd. Their farm was one of the first to be settled in the valley. It was owned and settled by Jermain Geer, father of ex-Governor Geer, and was made into one of the finest fruit ranches in the valley. It was planted to cherries, pears, plums and apples. There was also a fine nursery and Mr. Geer was noted for his excellent farming ability, pulling out every weed and insect that appeared above the ground. They planted a long row of sugar maples from which maple syrup was made and there was also a beautiful rose garden and collection of fifty or more of choice roses. This was the first rose garden in Cove where now many of the choicest roses. Mr. and Mrs. Geer died many years ago and the farm passed into other hands and has been neglected until little of its former beauty remains. It is situated well up in the foothills, where it is free from frost both in the late spring and early fall and it commands a splendid view of the Grande Ronde valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie purchased this place two years ago and this summer moved from their ranch home in another part of Cove and are planning to build a home here to make their future home.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Episcopal church held their regular semi-monthly meeting at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Two new members were added to the roll, Mrs. W. A. Winters, wife of the new teacher, and Mrs. Kenneth La Violette, wife of the new high school teacher. After the Ladies Aid there followed a meeting of the missionary society. These two societies are held on the same afternoon once a month, because they have previously the same membership. The devotionals were read by Mrs. Winters and two musical numbers were given by Mrs. Chadwick. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Leonard Towle and Mrs. Harlan Koger, who served a dainty lunch.

A supper was held at the M. E. church parlors Tuesday evening to raise money for some materials for the coming bazaar. The bazaar is an annual event the first Wednesday in December and the ladies.

Two detectives at the Missouri State Fair were mistaken for pickpockets. It's hard to understand how detectives could be mistaken for pickpockets, but maybe the crowd didn't look at their feet.

Prison riots are becoming all too common. They suggest that there's something wrong with prison discipline or management. Perhaps the bloody experience of Colorado could not have been avoided, but an investigation is certainly warranted.

Eastern Oregon Normal has a football team worth supporting. It's a team that shouldn't be in debt for equipment, as it is. The Observer thinks there are enough La Grande men interested in football who would welcome a chance to help pay for that equipment.

THERE WAS A GOOD FOOTBALL GAME YESTERDAY

Most people are interested in sports like football. There's something about the fall of the year and a game of football that go happily together to make an ideal entertainment.

The heights to which you are carried by that entertainment depend on several things. You like to see the teams fairly evenly matched. You like to see hard, clean playing with just enough "breaks" and "freaks" to add the spectacular.

And then when you can add to these qualities the experience of seeing your home team do the unexpected and grab a victory from an outfit you took for granted was superior—then the afternoon is perfect.

That's what happened in yesterday's football game—the first college competition on the gridiron in La Grande's history. It was the first game for the new Normal school eleven outside of a practice tilt with Enterprise high school.

They had been in uniforms no last year's team to build on, no previous training together, a new institution and a new student body. Optimistic as one might be, it seemed beyond the realm of possibility that any kind of a team could be produced without a lot of defeats to knock off the rough spots and provide experience.

The Normal eleven went onto the field yesterday against a college twice its size and "steer" times its age. La Grande fans expected the visitors to carry off the honors. The College of Idaho were quite positive that such would be the case. So confident were they that several substitutes started the fray.

The Normal school immediately scored two touchdowns and the visitors decided their best men were none too good. Competition became more keen but the Normal school scored a third time just to show that it could be done.

The final result can not be blamed on College of Idaho substitutes, who played the first quarter. The visitors' only score was more or less a fluke, coming from a blocked punt. The Normal's score in the third quarter was well earned by straight football. No one doubts that the better team won.

And that's what makes everyone happy. The normal has a good football team in the making—a surprisingly good team under the circumstances.

The victory yesterday means more than the mere winning of a game. It means the birth of a school spirit at the Normal. It means that there will be a loyalty and interest in school life and classroom activities that is impossible without competition such as reasonably successful athletics provide. It means greater interest in and enthusiasm for the school on the part of the community.
