SMOKES GO HIGHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—P. Lorillard & Co. announced today that it had advanced the wholesale price of its leading brand of cigarettes from $6.10 to $6.40 a thousand. This advance brings the price of the Lorillard product into line with those of three other leading cigarette manufacturers who announced price increases Saturday.

SEEK ORINOCO'S SOURCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—One of the last blind spots on the map is the goal of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer Dickey, who are planning to search for the source of the Orinoco river by launch and canoe next spring. They hope to find trace of an ancient civilization.

HOW HE DOES IT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (AP)—Before a radio audience, Leopold Stokowski takes liberties with the conventions, but not with the classics. Attired in plus fours and no collar, he conducted the Philadelphia orchestra through scores by Bach and Mozart. Before attacking a Wagner overture, he removed his coat and necktie.

BLAST KILLS THREE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (AP)—An explosion on board the steamer Kelbeck today killed three men and injured a number of others. The blast occurred while repairs were being made in the ship's hold, the cause of which has not been ascertained.

MORE BOMBINGS IN 1929

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—The high mark in bomb outrages will be reached this year, the Employers' association predicted today on the basis of 98 bombings since December 12, 1928.

The association notes that the year's bombings have been directed in 45.9 per cent of the cases against business places rather than against speakeasies and gambling houses as formerly.

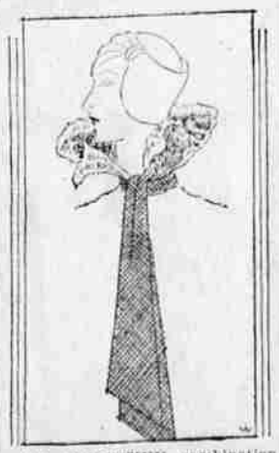
FIND BIG STILL

PORTLAND, Oct. 7 (AP)—The federal prohibition office here today told of the discovery and confiscation of a giant liquor plant near Salem Saturday night. The liquor plant, officers said, sent 150 gallons of high grade moonshine to Portland daily. It was found by state and federal prohibition officers who raided the Fulmer ranch eight miles west of Salem.

Some Parties

A White House reception is a colorful event. About 3,500 invitations are issued.—American Magazine.



AN EFFECTIVE combination of fur and fabric was noted on the collar of a new beige caracul coat. The gathered collar stands high on the shoulders, framing the face. The long cravat is of heavy corded silk.

Jury Selected In Fall Trial In Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was selected today to try Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary, on charges of bribery growing out of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve lease to Edward L. Doheny.

Apparently bearing in mind the jury shadowing which led to a mistrial in the Sinclair Teapot Dome case, Justice Hitz announced the Fall jury would be locked up.

He said counsel had advised him the trial would take three weeks.

Endurance Plane Aloft Seven Days

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—With the halfway mark only two days away, the "Chicago—We Will" continued to cruise in lazy circles about Sky Harbor airport today in its fourth attempt to surpass the 421-hour refueling endurance record of the "St. Louis Robin."

At 6:52 a. m. the "Chicago—We Will" passed the 168th hour, exactly seven days.

BLAME DEATH TO RELIGIOUS CULT

who alleges that after becoming a member of the cult, he advanced approximately $40,000 to Mrs. Blackburn, pending the completion of a book she was writing, to be known as "The Sixth Seal," and upon which the colony based its beliefs. Mrs. Blackburn's arrest on an embezzlement charge disclosed activities of the cult which brought revelations leading to the discovery of the girl's body.

Her husband standing silently by, Mrs. Rhoads told investigators that her step-daughter had died of diphtheria, Jan. 1, 1925. Believing that she would be resurrected, the body was placed in an improvised, copper-lined casket made by Mr. Rhoads, packed in ice and for more than a year had been transported from one dwelling to another as the family changed residences. Despairing of the resurrection that never came, Mrs. Rhoads told officers that the burial took place February 10, 1926.

Following the recital of her story, Mrs. Rhoads led officers to the bedroom and ordered her husband to lift a trap in the floor. With shovels provided by Rhoads, officers dug into the ocean soaked earth and within half an hour two caskets—one containing the body of the girl; the other the remains of seven dogs—were resting on the bedroom floor.

Both caskets were taken to the coroner's office. Due to their airtight construction, officers said, the body of the girl and the dogs were in fair state of preservation. After six hours of post mortem examination of the girl's body, Dr. H. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, said he was unable to determine the cause of death and the body was turned over to the county chemist for tests of suspected poisoning and for further examination today. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads are being held as material witnesses. No criminal charges as yet have been filed against the foster parents or other members of the cult in connection with the girl's death. The parents are subject to prosecution on a charge of failing to report death, and also of attempting a private burial, police say.

The cult of which Rhoads and his wife are members has been in existence almost six years, according to its founder, Mrs. Blackburn. She asserted there were no mysterious ceremonials, and said the object of the organization was "for the study of resurrection."

17 Lost In Ocean Tragedy Yesterday

BERGEN, Norway, Oct. 7 (AP)—Seventeen persons are believed to have been drowned in the sinking of the coasting steamer Haakon VII last night after colliding with another vessel.

It was estimated that nine or ten of the seventeen lost were members of the crew and the rest passengers.

WORLD PEACE HOPE OF TWO EXECUTIVES

ference marked a momentous event in history. The picture to him would have been that of two companions resting awhile and discussing the more simple things of life.

But none passed and the only sounds mingling with the quiet tone of their speech were the murmurs of the cascades in the Rapidan river and the rustle of the leaves falling before a gentle autumn wind.

After an hour of earnest talk, the president and the prime minister slowly retraced the pathway they had followed from the president's lodge. There they rejoined the high officers of their governments who had been their companions at the start but had gradually fallen back to permit an uninterrupted conference.

Progress Made

Mr. MacDonald will be the guest of the president until tomorrow, but their talks over the weekend are believed to have gone far toward the attainment of the purpose for which the British leader crossed the Atlantic.

The arrival at the White House marks the beginning of a three days program for the prime minister, crowded with official and social engagements which will leave time for further lengthy personal exchanges with Mr. Hoover before his departure from Washington early Thursday.

The ceremonial dinner at the White House tonight will remain the outstanding social function of the prime minister's visit. At the same time, it will stand as a new chapter in the capital's social history.

The dinner, of course, was arranged in honor of Mr. MacDonald, but only through the relinquishment of his right of precedence by Vice President Curtis was it possible to give him the privilege of escorting Mrs. Hoover and sitting at her right. Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, had to relinquish similar rights as the personal representative of his king to bring about that objective.

PUBLISH TEXT TOMORROW

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The foreign office announced today that the text of the invitation to the proposal naval disarmament conference will be made public tomorrow night including a covering letter to Ambassador Dawes.

It is assumed that the conference will be held in London during the latter part of January but the foreign office is silent upon this point.

CUBS, ATHLETICS TO OPEN WORLD SERIES TUESDAY

Earnshaw has been the big worker of the A's staff, performing more consistently than any of his mates, including the famous southpaw, Mose Grove, over the last few months. The swarthmore alumnus has tremendous speed.

Grove is slated to twirl the second game, opposed by Malone but Connie Mack may cross the experts and nominate old Jack Quinn, right-handed spitballer.

Fence Busters Ready

Outside of the pitching, the series promised to be a spectacular contest between the heavy hitting Cub array featuring Hornsby, Wilson, Stephenson and Cuyler, and the strong Mack cast, boasting a superior battery defense, plus an attack starring Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx.

It will be one of the highspots of the series to see whether the great Hornsby and the slugging Hack Wilson do more damage with their warclubs than Simmons and Foxx, the young Mack siege guns. This quartet contributed a grand total of 146 home runs during the regular season. They may bust a few world's series records, if they get the range, even though the well known Mr. Ruth has left considerable for them to shoot at.

All Seats Sold.

The Cubs, after being routed in their last two games by the Reds and Pirates, expected to tune-up for the series with an hour's drill at noon today. The Athletics, after trimming the former champion Yankees two straight, were due to reach Chicago late this afternoon. They declined an invitation to work out at Wrigley field and will not be seen in uniform until practice before the roar that starts the first game tomorrow at 1:30 p. m, central standard time.

With all reserved seats sold, hundreds of fans prepared today to take up the vigil outside the park and stick it out all night, to make sure of a place when 12,500 bleacher seats at $1 go on sale at 8 a. m. or earlier tomorrow. An hour later, 2,500 standing room tickets for the grandstand go on sale.

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—Mrs. Ada Busse, 196 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.
