In corps, justices of the supreme court, members of the cabinet and of congress.

Upon receiving the degree from Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the university, the prime minister said he assumed the distinguished roles with which he had been invested embodied the thanks of the university to all of those who try to promote the peace of the world.

"I regret that I am unable to accept the numerous invitations from other universities to join them in a like ceremony," Mr. MacDonald said. "But I take it, Mr. President, that you will allow me to say I regard you not only as yourselves but as the representatives of the other great universities of the United States."

"I have been asked to say something to you. What can I say? I've never attended a university, unfortunately."

"My friends, my colleagues in academic titles here, I hope you will never forget that the finest education is education acquired by toil, by labor, by saving—saving not so much in money but saving what is much more important, time and opportunity."

Nothing Without Price
"One word I would like to say and one word only. You never can acquire anything in the world without purchasing it, purchasing it by your own effort, your own will, and your sacrifice. You may attain to high office in state but it will never come to you without effort. You may attain high place in business but it must be your own effort. Your name may be emblazoned in the news papers of your country, but to reach that one must follow a hard road and only men and women of high courage and stability can attain to it."

Before going to a luncheon given in his honor by the over-seas writers, the prime minister drove to the White House for a conference of more than half an hour with President Hoover.

While no official information was forthcoming, it was understood that this meeting had to do with the joint statement which the president and the prime minister are expected to issue before Mr. MacDonald leaves Washington tomorrow.

It will deal generally about the conversations, which have been going on between the two statesmen since last Saturday.

be tried out. Skip Steyers, formerly all-American player from Idaho, is coaching the Nampa bunch and both he and Woodie put a lot of faith in forward passing. Both men have a large group of veterans to work with, and both Nampa and La Grande have won their early season games. The Tigers triumphed Wallawa 31 to 0 last Saturday while Nampa defeated Emmett 35 to 0 last Friday, after winning the opening game the previous week.

Everything will be used by both teams, ranging from the intricate double reverses and other deception plays to plain, old-fashioned line smashing, and local fans believe it will be a game in which almost anything can happen.

Following the game here Friday, the Tigers will prepare for their second tilt with an Eastern Oregon eleven—the veteran Enterprise team which will be here the following week. Last Saturday Enterprise defeated Pomona, Wash., 29 to 0 and held the E. O. N. squad to a 13 to 6 score the week before, Wallawa county re-

Willa Rhoads, and charges of fraud preferred by Clifford Dabney, Long Beach, Cal., oil man and other cult members, against Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Weiland-Helzig.

The charges against Mrs. Blackburn and her daughter, the latter identified as a cult priestess, recite that they obtained $50,000 from Dabney and others through representations that a book they were to write would reveal by use of lost measurements, the whereabouts of all mineral wealth remaining in the earth.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Fabel, Portland, today asked police aid in locating her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Miller, whose husband is said to have confessed to participation in the enticement of Willa Rhoads by members of a weird Los Angeles cult.

EHMKE NO HERO DURING SEASON

a whisper, he said, "They've all waived on me." "Every one," replied Manager Mack. "It seems that none of them wants you now."

The tall pitcher was silent for a moment, then made his plea. "Mr. Mack," he said, "please give me a chance. My arm hasn't been right, but I'm trying all the time to get it into shape. Just give me one more chance. I'll even let you suspend me without pay until such time as my arm improves and I can pitch again. I've been in this league for a long time and I never have been on a championship team. Just let me go into the world series and then you can do anything you wish."

For a tragic moment Connie Mack pondered the problem. "All right, Howard," he said, "we'll just let this rest between ourselves. Nobody shall know anything about it. I'll not suspend you, for I don't do business that way. But I'll give you another chance. And when you tell me your arm is right I'll take you up. We'll let it stand that way."

After the meeting in the tower Ehmke pitched a few games successfully and continued to work with the ailing arm, always hopeful it would come back.

Mack's selection for the opening game with the Cubs was not surprising here to those who knew Ehmke's status and Mack's opinion of him as a pitcher. More than a week ago he had said in discussing his pitching staff: "Ehmke is a fine pitcher. I do not know who I will start in the world series, but

If you should lift the body of every car in Buick's field — and compare the chassis — then you too would choose

The New BUICK

If you were to lift the body from the chassis of any one of a hundred cars—and compare the vitally important details of chassis design and construction—you would find Buick so outstandingly superior in all phases of fine car engineering that you would almost inevitably make Buick your choice. Here is what you would see in this famous chassis:

Buick's great new Valve-in-Head engine—developing 99 horsepower in the 124- and 132-inch models, and 80½ horsepower in the 118-inch models. Unapproached in sturdiness, all-round performance—ability, reliability and economy as well.

Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—providing smooth, positive, silent braking, with minimum pedal pressure. And—because fully protected against dust, dirt and water—operating at maximum efficiency in any weather.

Buick's new frictionless steering gear and new Road Shock Eliminator—twin advancements introduced by Buick. The Buick wheel offering effortless control throughout its entire turning range—and the new Road Shock Eliminator assuring complete freedom from annoying jolts and jars.

Buick's new, longer rear springs, and new

Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers—front and rear. Combining to check both bound and rebound, and providing a degree of riding ease without parallel anywhere.

And, finally, such established Buick superiority as the famous double-drop frame of toughest steel... the massive side and cross members reinforced at points of stress to insure greatest long life... the celebrated torque tube drive, Buick multiple-disc clutch, self-lubricating differential, and numerous other features.

When the list of Buick's chassis features—entirely aside from the irresistible appeal of Buick's new Fisher Bodies—reads like a roll-call of all that is soundest and best in fine car engineering... and when, in addition, you can buy a Buick for as little as $1,225, f.o.b. factory... what wonder that all comparisons lead to Buick! What wonder that more than 2,000,000 people have invested their money in Buicks—and that from two to five times as many are purchasing this new Buick as any other automobile priced above $1,200!
