Returns From Conference—

E. D. Towler has returned from the High School Principals' conference held in Salem last week, Friday and Saturday. Mr. Towler was chairman of a committee on class size and efficiency, which reported some interesting conclusions. In summarizing a research on class size and efficiency, it was found that there is little relation between class size and the efficiency of a large class room. It might just as efficiently be a small one. Small high schools have much smaller classes than the larger high schools, hence much higher cost per pupil. The largest classes are those in which English, history, science, and physical education are taught. Advanced mathematics and special subjects have the smallest classes. It was said: "The report was summarized in two statements: (1) The data shows a greater number of small classes in small high schools than in large high schools. (2) Large high schools are handling their pupils in classes over 20 while small high schools are carrying their students in classes under 20. The recommendation of the committee made was that a study of the efficiency of large and small classes be conducted on an experimental basis in Oregon high schools for the ensuing year under controlled conditions with these controls devised and carefully outlined by a committee from the high school principal. During Mr. Towler's absence E. A. McEachern, head of the industrial arts department, was acting principal.

Schools Adopt New System Of Marking Grades

A new marking system has been adopted for the La Grande public schools which will give a more comprehensive report to the parents and will enable them to know just how their children rank with the others.

This marking system and this report card have been adopted in the hope that they will contribute toward a more equitable judgment of the pupils' school work, and will better indicate his progress in education." Superintendent, J. T. Longfellow said.

The highest possible grade is an A, which is given for superior ability in scholarship, initiative, attitude, cooperation, and for individual improvement. A student receiving this grade, must be alert, active, and intelligent.

There are four other grades, B, C, D, and E, being above average, C slightly below B, and an average grade which from 75 to 45 per cent of the class will receive. D is a grade below average, yet passing; and F is a failing grade.

The new grade card gives considerable information. Following each subject, the number of students registered in that class is written, the number receiving A's, B's, C's, etc., is also shown.

Consider an arithmetic class of 25. It will be shown on the card, for example, that two received A's; 18 a B; 7 a C; 7 a D; and one failure. Around the number which includes the individual child's grade a red circle is drawn, so that if in this arithmetic class a boy received a B; a red circle would be drawn around the figure 8 in the column B on his report.

Each card contains a year's record in scholarship and attendance. The system has been adopted in all the city schools, and these cards being used in all the grade schools. Report cards will be given out at the first Tuesday following the expiration of the six week period. Cards for this last period will be given out tomorrow.

Big Attendance At Services In Local Churches

Church services in La Grande were generally well attended with several very interesting sermons and musical programs.

At the Salvation Army hall, English Pack, who is to leave Wednesday for Medford, gave his farewell. He will be succeeded by Curtin Walter Jackson.

At the Baptist church, the pastor in the morning deplored the fact that so often in pulpit and in print the prayer of Jesus in the garden that the "cup" might pass, was interpreted to be a prayer to evade the cross. He went on to show how unthinkable such a prayer would be. The evening sermon was a dramatic recital of the story of the trial and crucifixion of the Christ. The E. V. P. U. held an interesting service led by Harvey St. John. A special musical number was a vocal solo by the pastor.

The Rev. J. George Watz spoke on "The Immutability of Christ" at the Presbyterian church, pointing out that Jesus Christ's omnipotence is his defense. "He is the same always in the virtue of His merits and sacrifice; in the tenderness of His compassion; and in His fidelity to His promises," the pastor declared. The anthem by the trio, Mrs. A. L. Richardson, Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Jr., and Ernest E. Hurley, and the organ numbers by Mrs. R. G. McCall and Mrs. H. N. Ashby with the contralto solo by Mrs. Leal Russell, were features of the service.

Attend Golden Wedding at Salem

The following story is of interest to friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tullius Bellamy who attended the golden wedding of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bellamy in Salem. This is a clipping from Saturday's Oregon Statesman:

Mr. and Mrs. James William Bellamy are today celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage which occurred in Franklin county, Ill., on October 19, 1879.

In March, 1903, Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy were members of a party of thirteen that came west from Illinois and settled in the Salem district. Since that time they have lived either in Salem or in the vicinity of the city.

Today a banquet dinner will be served at five o'clock to the family and friends who meet to honor the golden wedding anniversary.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy are Tullius of La Grande, William of Salem and Mrs. Claudine Turvine of Suver, Mrs. Olga Fazio, another daughter, passed away in 1922.

Among those attending the dinner tonight will be Mr. and Mrs. Tullius Bellamy of La Grande.

Could You Get Extra Cash In An Emergency?

If you suffered an accident and were put out of work, or had a long expensive sickness in the family, or you had a chance to buy a house and lot at a bargain—could you raise the necessary cash in such an emergency?

If you have saved a little of your income right along, if you have accumulated a few bonds or other good securities, if you have invested in a good piece of real estate—then you'd naturally expect that you could borrow a little extra money when needed.

But if you have never saved anything, if you've always spent everything you could make, if you owe more bills than you can pay—under those circumstances, you'd hardly blame anyone for refusing you a loan.

Your credit is a very tangible asset that is built or destroyed by the way you handle your financial affairs. Your banker can advise how your credit can be strengthened. We are glad to have a friendly talk with you any time on reasonable plans for saving and investment.
