Wife Is Held In Bridge Murder

Accused at his tants for an alleged mislay during a bridge game. Mrs. Dorothy Bennett (above), wife of John G. Bennett, Kansas City perfume dealer, ran to a bedroom for a gun and then shot and killed her husband as her guests looked on. She now faces a charge of first degree murder. She claims he slapped her three times in the presence of the guests.

AT THE THEATERS

Negro Spirituals In Talkie At The Arcade

One of the greatest poets America has produced, who also came near to being one of America's greatest musicians, must remain nameless, as great a mystery as the Unknown Soldier.
"This poet and musician was the man who wrote "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Deep River" and "Roll, Jordan, Roll."
That trio of spirituals, as well as two scores of others will be heard from the speaking screen for the first time when "Hearts in Dixie," Fox Movietone 100 per cent singing, dancing and talking feature, is showing now at the Arcade theater.

Western At The Colonial On Saturday

In producing "Hawk of the Hills," a Pathwestern drama which will appear at the Colonial theater Saturday, Spencer Bennett, the director, and George Gray, the author of the story, met with many strange facts. One was that practically every outlaw has an aversion to a certain fear of some sort, against which he is powerless, despite his weapons. On this psychological basis, one of the most important sequences in "Hawk of the Hills" is founded.

"The Hawk" is the name by which the principal villain in the story is known. He is a heartless man in every sense of the word; one who would not think twice about shooting down another man in cold blood. Throughout the story, he is the essence of wickedness, always fighting his way out of a tight place through guile and use of his two revolvers. Yet, when this character comes in contact with an old Indian legend about a certain canyon being

Troubles Ended; Gained 11 Pounds

"15 years of stomach trouble and constipation had just about wrecked my health. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I'd have indigestion after every meal. I guess I've taken a barrel of soda and I don't know how many digestive tablets, and laxatives, but they all seemed to lose their effect in a short time. Finally I began to break down, losing weight and getting awfully nervous and weak. One day while I was in Los Angeles, I noticed a display of Sargol at the Owl Drug Co., so I went in and bought some. Five bottles of this wonderful medicine built me up from 152 to 163 pounds. I've never had a minute's trouble with my stomach since I started the treatment. My appetite is fine and I eat anything I want without a trace of indigestion. Sargol pills are the finest treatment I ever took for constipation—just one or two before retiring keeps me regulated in good shape.

"It's been two or three months now since I quit taking Sargol and I've never had a recurrence of my old trouble."—Henry E. Berger, 1422 7th Ave., Seattle, 1102 Cross Drug Store, Agent.
