NOTRE DAME WINS 7 TO 0; ARMY BEATEN

down. Not an Ell tackle laid a hand on the Army ace. O'Keefe kicked goal and Army led, 7 to 0. Both teams were playing tight defense football as the second period started but Army soon scored another touchdown after Hunter, left guard, intercepted an Ell pass on the latter's 42 yard line. Cagle pulled 12 yards to Murrel on the first place, then the Army fullback, broke through tackle and raced 29 yards to cross the goal.

Yale Scores

Yale leaped to the attack as the shadowy Ell halfback, Albie Booth, came into the game for the first time. The blue got a break when Gilmer, Army quarterback fumbled after taking a 65-yard punt from Booth. Captain Green recovered on Army's 32 yard line and Booth went over for a touchdown in four dazzling dashes. It took 12 yards off tackle. Booth drop kicked the extra point. It didn't look like the same Yale team. The half ended with the score: Army 12; Yale 7.

The Ell's struck back quickly and Booth, on a cut-back, dashed 16 yards to Army's 22 yard line after a pass. Dunn to Austin, gained eight. The blue streak tore around end to the 17 yard line but again the Cadets braced. Booth tried a drop kick from his 25 yard line but it was partially blocked and fell short. Army's captain, Cagle, was thrown for an 8 yard loss on the first play and Murrel's kick carried only to his 5 yard line.

Booth aided by Miller and Taylor sub-fullback dashed to Army's 12 yard line in three plays. Booth, after being stopped twice whirled to Army's 7 yard line, then picked up two more yards as the Ell stands reared.

Third down, with three yards to go, Taylor was stopped a foot from the goal. Booth then plunged over center for the second Ell touchdown.

The Ell star drop-kicked goal and Yale led, 14 to 12.

Booth took an Any punt on his own 29 yard line and dashed 30 yards for a touchdown, shaking off Cadet tacklers in a sensational zigzag sprint that started on the side lines and finished in the middle. He again drop kicked goal, making the score Yale 24; Army 12.

Cagle's passing attack was broken up early in the fourth quarter.

Albie Booth, Yale's 144 pound ball carrying whirlwind, led the Ell's to the spectacular victory. Booth, entering the game after the Cadets had piled up a lead of 12 to 8, scored all of Yale's points, dashing 30 yards for one touch down. Booth transformed Yale with one of the greatest individual exhibitions ever witnessed in the big bowl. His razzing and kicking seemed to paralyze the Army.

another off tackle slice by the Dartmouth star was good for nine yards and Wolf made it first down. Marsters made another first down and then Sutton went over for a touchdown. Clark kicking the extra point to give Dartmouth a 7-0 lead. Ben Benson, of Harvard, ran Boomer's attempted drop kick back to his own 40 yard line.

A 40-yard pass, Potter to O'Connell, and a 15-yard penalty put the ball on Dartmouth's three-yard line. Devens plunged across for touchdown and Wood, who replaced Putnam, drop kicked the extra point tying the score.

After several exchanges of punts a fumble cost the Indians possession of the ball. Potter's kick went only to his own 25-yard line and Marsters circled left end for a touchdown. Clark place kicked the goal giving Dartmouth a 14-7 lead as the period closed.

Dartmouth scored two touchdowns in quick succession in the fourth period. Bromberg blocked and recovered Potter's kick and ran 15 yards to a touchdown. Clark adding the extra point on a place kick. After an exchange of kicks, Marsters went through tackle for 15 yards to Harvard's 30-yard line and then added 20 yards more on two attempts, taking the ball to the Crimson's 10-yard line. Marsters circled left end for another touchdown and Clark added the point, making the score 28-7.

E. O. N. Students Are Hostesses at 'Hallowe'en Party

Doris Brown and Irene Potraits, normal students who are staying at the Mosman house entertained at a charming dinner Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Elmo N. Stevenson, and P. G. Macomber, faculty members at the Eastern Oregon Normal school, as guests.

The table was cleverly decorated in the Hallowe'en motif. Following dinner an interesting program was presented, with slides, recitations, and solos. An original dramatization of the wedding of the painted doll was presented by the girls in costume.

This was one of a series of dinners that are being given by two of these girls every Thursday evening.

Costume Party at Home of Mrs. Milne

Last evening nine normal school students enjoyed a delightful costume Hallowe'en party at the home of Mrs. Alfred Milne. Dancing and games were the diversion of the evening.

A delicious luncheon was served at a table centered with a cluster of scotch marigolds and black privet berries.

Guests for the evening were: Mrs. G. N. Tarkington, Grace Herr, Irma Beck, Dorothy Cook, Zelma Austin, Evelyn Kraelin, Winifred Cobb, Miriam Hanna and Hazel Williamson.

Members of Bridge Club Entertained

Members of the Coterie Bridge club were delightfully entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Maxam. The theme to the decorations was expressed by a Hallowe'en color scheme.

Honors for high score were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Albertson. Consolation prizes were given to Mrs. J. H. Diehl and B. C. Thomas.

Following bridge a delicious two-course luncheon was served by the hostess.

Central P.-T. A. In Friday Session

Mrs. Stella Ingle's room won the five dollar prize for securing the most new members for the Central Parent-Teacher association. A second prize of two dollars and a half was awarded to Mrs. Bess Cook's room.

"Mother, home, heaven—three most beautiful words in a child's vocabulary—to this should be added a fourth—school," the Rev. J. George Wake said when he spoke on the topic, "What the Home Does for the School, and What the School Does for the Home." Both function to the end that the child will realize that future generation must be finer and truer," he continued.

"The Relation of a Child's Teeth to Health" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. E. S. Rinschert. Miss Inogene Russell's second grade room sang a song. Mrs. C. S. Moore sang a vocal solo.

MENUS

By SISTER MARY One of the fundamental rules of cooking for children is to vary their diets. Many adult diets may be traced to a lack of well chosen foods during childhood.

Certain foods make strong bones, others develop muscles, some, create energy for immediate needs, and still others are a protection against disease.

Milk, vegetables, cereals and fruits must be used in abundance for children's meals. Not much meat is necessary; one specialist in children's diets says that the most portion should be the size of the palm of the child's hand.

Eggs and certain kinds of fish are good, although the method of serving them must be considered. Intense heat makes both of those foods hard to digest.

The All-Important Milk Milk is essential. A six-year-old child needs a quart of milk a day. This need not be consumed as a beverage, but can be used in cream soups or sauces, in custards or simple puddings and in cereals and vegetables. If the child drinks his quart of milk in addition to these various dishes, so much the better.

Fruit is good for its mineral and vitamin content and often acts as a stimulant to a child's appetite. Fresh or stewed dried fruits are valuable in every meal of the day. The mother who has difficulty in persuading her child to eat vegetables can use an extra amount of fruit in his diet to advantage.

Leafy Vegetables Important Leafy vegetables are much discussed these days. They have a unique value in being rich sources of tooth and bone building material. A child two years of age should have one of two leafy vegetables a day.

Cereals are important and can be used in "gruels" from the time a child is one year old. Gradually thickened, they may appear in "porridge" form by the time he is two.

An item which is of paramount importance all through childhood is adequate rest. A child who is overstimulated and excited, or whose mind is overtaxed and worried with school work, has a tendency toward undernourishment. This tendency retards digestion, which in turn causes loss of appetite.

If women wish as smart as they're cracked up to be they'd go back to shoe-top skirts and kick up now and then. One of the earliest mergers of which there is any record is sour kraut and spare ribs.
