GRAIN IS WEAK AND UNSETTLED

Wheat at Lowest Point This Season — Other Grains Also Lower.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—Heavy liquidation in wheat futures markets following the sharp declines in securities forced wheat prices to the lowest point of the season to date during the week ending October 26, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

World supply and demand conditions for wheat, however, were not materially changed, and the nervous condition of the grain market may be attributed largely to the actions of the stock market. The decline in wheat weakened the market for other grains, and prices declined sharply during the week, but at the close most of the loss had been recovered as a result of lighter offerings and an active demand. Corn oats and barley were bringing practically the same prices in the cash markets as a week ago. Wheat was down 5c to 7c lower, rye 1c to 2c lower and flax 8c to 9c below quotations at the close of the previous week.

A continued slow demand for domestic grain, together with a further increase in market stocks in North America, contributed to the weakness in the wheat market, but this was somewhat offset by reductions in trade estimates of the Argentine crop. The world import requirements this season, according to trade estimates, will total slightly less than 700,000,000 bushels, compared with world shipments of about 915,000,000 bushels last season and 790,000,000 and 800,000,000 bushels two and three years ago, respectively. World shipments to the middle of October amounted to approximately 150,000,000 bushels, or practically the same amount as two years ago for the corresponding period, but 17,000,000 bushels less than last season. The southern hemisphere has contributed a large percentage of these shipments and North American shipments totaled only about 70,000,000 bushels, or nearly 90,000,000 bushels less than for the corresponding periods of the past two years. Stocks in North America now total the record amount of nearly 400,000,000 bushels. Trade estimates now place the Argentine crop at from 225,000,000 to 240,000,000 bushels, which would give an exportable surplus 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels below this season's record shipments. Unfavorably heavy rains there recently have improved prospects for the 1930 crop. Native wheats continue to be offered freely in European markets and export shipments of Canadian wheat to date have been much larger than in recent years. The ample offerings of wheat have been reflected in a sharp decline in Liverpool future prices and also in quotations for foreign wheats. At the close of the week 43½-pound Argentine wheat offered was quoted at Liverpool at $1.10½, compared with $1.19⅝ for No. 3 Manitoba.

WHEAT—Trading in cash wheat markets was light because of the wide fluctuations in the future markets. Decided weakness prevailed, but cash prices did not follow the 1929 decline in futures. Local mills continued to operate the principal outlet, although some export sales were reported. In general, however, Argentine wheat alone was being quoted below United States wheat even in the lower price levels.

Soft winter wheat receipts were light at most markets and the cash prices advanced slightly in response to trade demand.

The Pacific northwest was relatively firmer than other spring wheats, although prices declined with the others.

The Canadian markets declined about the same as domestic markets, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba was quoted Winnipeg at $1.17⅝, a decline of 2¾c for the week.

Pacific coast markets were dull and unsettled, and declined sharply as a result of the low prices in eastern markets. Occasional sales of Portland declined 4½c. White, hard and soft wheat were in line with the local situation, closing the week as follows: Big Bend bluestem quoted at $1.26 and soft and western white at $1.24; gain for the week. Western red and northern spring were quoted at $1.24 per bushel.

Trading at San Francisco was practically at a standstill, with offers against the same prices as a week ago, but nothing moving and other ports were showing no bid. Dark prices in line with the short decline in eastern markets. Mill stocks were reported fairly large. White, hard, soft, hard winter and western were being offered at $1.16 per 100 pounds sacked basis No. 2 hard white, No. 1 hard white, hard winter and No. 1 soft white wheat were quoted at $1.16 to $1.17 per 100 pounds. The Los Angeles market was also weak and very dull. Wheat was quoted in that market at $1.13 to $1.16, and hard wheat at $1.20 to $1.21 per 100 pounds.

WHEAT—Trading in cash wheat was quiet, with offerings light and demand fair, resulting in local quotations shouted as Bingham continued his speech.

MR. BINGHAM FIGHTS BACK AT SENATORS

Referring to the senate speech Saturday by Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee, Bingham said the Connecticut association "by innuendo, by furtiveness and twisting of evidence and personally by misstatements which were corrected later only by expressions of doubt as to their veracity."

Caraway had argued employment by Bingham of a paid representative of the association was beneath the dignity of the senate.

"I was so amazed by the speech that I was in doubt whether to reply," Bingham said. "I feel now that a reply is due me, due my constituents and due to the Manufacturers' association.

"I had not supposed there was so much substance in a group of senators.

"I had not supposed that the political poisoners, in order to New England senator and a friend of the administration that they would go as far as they did. I was asked one question several times by the same senator in the hope, apparently, that I would contradict myself."

Bingham then said this senator was the same one who had used a capital policeman as his private chauffeur. Shortly before the senate convened this morning, Bingham's office announced the senator would reply to Caraway and that Caraway had been requested to be present.

ALL SHOULD HAVE PLENTY OF MILK

Drink Fresh Milk—Use It and Condensed Milk in Custards and Other Desserts

Two famous nutrition authorities emphasize the need of the human body for the calcium and phosphorus found in milk. Children and expectant or nursing mothers should have from three-quarters to one quart of milk a day, according to these authorities, and other adults should have from three-quarters of a pint to a pint of milk a day. These authorities point out that too little calcium in the diet retards bone growth, causes rickets, may result in bone deformities, produces poor quality of teeth and lowers vigor and vitality. Whole milk also is rich in phosphorus.

Unfortunately there are many people who do not like the taste of milk. For all such people, a delicious milk drink should be made.

One mother makes her children sugar for milk by giving it to them in milk shakes. "They call one drink a chocolate froth," she says. "I take a level teaspoon of cocoa and two teaspoons of sugar, mix in the bottom of a glass with a few drops of milk until it's smooth, add a drop or two of vanilla flavoring, fill the glass with milk and shake it with an ordinary tin shaker." Another way to increase the enjoyment of milk is to use it in making desserts. "Condensed milk makes a delicious, smooth custard.

Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor. "Help make children drink milk," says an eminent food scientist, "by adding chocolate and sugar." The Sugar Institute.
