CADET ELOPES AND RESIGNS FROM SCHOOL

WEST NEWBURY, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP)—An ex-West Point cadet and a colonel's beautiful daughter who eloped, were honeymooning here today. Having been refused a job by one newspaper, the bridegroom proposes to apply to another. He did not realize he should have told his own story to any city editor.

Rules at the United States military academy are that cadets "shall not have a horse, dog, wife or mistress."

Time for romantic aims is small at West Point but the 26-year-old had planned a secret marriage. During the recent Yale-Army football game at New Haven while his cadet mates saw Albie Booth upset the army team, Paul Carson, Jr. met Miss Marguerite Gilespie at a hotel here.

New Haven failed to yield a clergyman who could wed a couple so hastily, but a roadster took them 50 miles away to Brewster, N. Y., and a justice of the peace tied the knot.

With the bride's confession to her father the elopement became known and Major General William H. Smith, commander of the academy, summoned Carson before a board. On being told he had made a "grave mistake," he resigned from the academy. The parental blessing was forthcoming. They came here.

WENATCHEE MAN SLAIN

WENATCHEE, Wash., Nov. 7 (AP)—William R. Woodall, 58, who came here from Seattle in September with his wife and four children, was beaten to death in his wood shed between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning with an automobile jack. He went out after wood, his wife said. A son, Oils, works for the Puget Sound Power and Light company in Seattle. Identity of the slayer was unknown.

ADJUST FOREST BOUNDARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The secretary of the interior would be authorized to adjust the boundaries of the Santiam national forest of Oregon by accepting titles to private lands within six miles of the exterior boundary under a bill introduced by Representative Hawley today.

PRINCESS VICTORIA ILL

BONN, Germany, Nov. 7 (AP)—Princess Victoria of Prussia, sister of the former Kaiser, and now legally Frau Alexander Hubhoff, was critically ill today in a hospital. It was feared a serious infection might necessitate an operation.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

Many housekeepers fail to recognize the fact that starch appears in four distinct and different types of cooked food. This lack of information is responsible for poorly balanced meals.

Starchy vegetables such as potatoes, cream sauces and cream soups, breadstuffs and cakes, starchy puddings—apple sauce, starch and cereals—these are all sources of starch and yet have completely different textures.

Starch in its raw form is largely indigestible and cannot be used by the body. Thorough cooking converts the starch into a form of sugar which can be digested and assimilated. Unless starchy foods contain a large amount of water in their composition, water or liquid of some sort must be used in cooking them. For instance, potatoes which are composed of considerable water may be cooked, but cereals or any cereal product must have the addition of liquid in order that the starch grains can burst when subjected to heat.

The Chemistry of Starch

Starch as contained in vegetables and whole grains is stored in an infinite number of cells. The walls of these cells are formed of a substance called cellulose. Heat is almost the only medium which can break down this plant fiber or cellulose, making it soft and digestible.

Ground forms of starch such as cornstarch and the various flours are actually starch grains. In combining them with liquids, care must be taken that the mixture is perfectly free from lumps of partially cooked starch. When starch grains are mixed with a liquid and heated, they absorb water, swell

Battling Loggers Take to Water

Here's where a knockdown means a drenching. An exhibition of rolling a perfectly rounded ball in a tank of water while warding off the attack of an opponent was given by these two hardy lumberjacks at the recent Washington State Fair at Puyallup. L. P. Spiegel (left) of Elma and Matt Dillon of Hoquiam (right) battled to a draw.

and cinnamon candies. Cook over a low fire until fruit is tender. Turn frequently and baste with the syrup while cooking. Soften gelatin in 4 tablespoons cold water for five minutes. Remove apples from syrup and arrange in a serving dish. Add enough boiling water to syrup to make 2 cups and add softened gelatin. Remove from fire and stir until dissolved. Pour over apples. Let stand several hours to chill and become firm and serve with whipped cream or custard sauce.

A youth lost his hearing and sued for $12,000. With the benefits of not being able to hear the radio next door or the talkies, you'd think he'd be more grateful than that.

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity many thousands who suffered just as you do.

Mrs. Verda Stamps, of 548 Yamhill St., Portland, Ore., says: "After an operation the least work tired me out and what I ate caused me untold misery. But since the first few doses of Tanlac I haven't had a headache nor gas."

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, bark and herbs. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Apples should be stored in a cool place, and unless a well-ventilated and cooled fruit cellar is available, the average family will find greater economy in purchasing a half bushel at a time rather than "putting in" several bushels for winter use.

Molded Apples

Four tart apples, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 1 lemon, 2 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons little red cinnamon candies.

Make a syrup of sugar, boiling water, grated rind and juice of lemon. Add apples pared and cored
