

Local News In Brief

Christian Church—Services at the Central Church of Christ will begin Sunday with Bible school at 9:45 a. m. with all classes to meet in their department rooms. Morning worship is at 11 o'clock with a violin duet by Dorothy Higgins and Edna Turner. The sermon subject will be "Breaking Up Fallow Ground." Christian Endeavor is at 6:30 p. m. The church will join in the Armistice Sunday union service in the evening. Beginning next Sunday, Nov. 17, the church will launch a week of special evangelistic services.

Speaks Over Radio—W. M. Deane, secretary of the state optometry board, is in the city from La Grande. Once in so often the board broadcasts over KGW on the subject of optometry. Mr. Deane went on the air last night. The board has received reports from listeners in California, Washington and Idaho, as well as Montana, regarding their five-minute talks.—The Oregonian.

Brothers to Sing—The congregation at the First Methodist Episcopal church will have an unusual musical treat during the Sunday morning service. Three brothers will appear as a trio. Ed Williams, of Salem, is visiting in La Grande with his brothers, Sherwood and Raymond Williams, and the three, all fine singers, will present the trio number Sunday morning.

In Penitence—The Rev. R. L. Putnam, accompanied by Mrs. E. Guttridge, drove to Pendleton yesterday afternoon to visit Mr. Guttridge, who is failing rapidly in the hospital there. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie White also made the trip.

To Speak Sunday—Mrs. R. L. Putnam, of the local Christian church, will speak Sunday evening at the Lower Cove Road school house.

To Bolse—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hunting have returned to Bolse. Mrs. Hunting has been here with relatives, and Mr. Hunting has been on business in this territory.

Joint Committee Met—A joint committee of the Odd

James Oneal, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Oneal, and Mrs. Earl Johnson of Haines drove to Tacoma, Wednesday morning where Mrs. Standley has been living. Burial services will be held in Tacoma tomorrow.

Trip to Portland—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dobbins, Miss Margaret Dobbins, Mrs. J. D. McKennon, and Mrs. L. T. Grady, drove to Portland Wednesday evening on a business and pleasure trip. Mrs. McKennon plans to remain in Portland for several weeks visiting relatives and friends. The others expect to return the last of the week.

In La Grande—C. M. Starr, president of the state board of higher education, was in La Grande Thursday conferring with President H. E. Inlow of the Eastern Oregon Normal school and J. T. Longfellow, superintendent of city schools.

Improving—Virginia Lee Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Courtney who has been ill of diphtheria for about two weeks, is reported to be improving.

Annual Supper—The Modern Woodman met last night at the K. P. hall with Ray Bennett, venerable council, presiding. Following the regular business session the members enjoyed their annual oyster feast at a local restaurant.

From Union—Rowena Davis from Union was in La Grande Thursday on business.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
In many households turkey is symbolic of Thanksgiving and if the patriotic bird is to grace but one holiday feast it's most fitting that he should appear on the day held sacred to the memory of our forefathers.

Keep in mind the necessity of ordering the Thanksgiving bird early. Whether your butcher or poultry man supplies you, he can give you a better selection if he knows several weeks ahead of time just what you want.

If your family gathering is to number six or eight persons, order a hen turkey weighing eight or ten pounds. This will allow generous servings at the feast proper with plenty left over for sandwiches or that delightful family informality of "going to the cupboard."

If the family is to include ten or more, more turkey of course will be needed. Two ten-pound turkeys will be found more satisfactory than one eighteen or twenty-pound. The meat on the smaller birds is apt to be much more tender and sweet than on the larger ones.

How to Choose Turkey
There are innumerable factors which enter into the preparation of a turkey for market. The housekeeper has little knowledge and no control over these things, but she can abide by certain simple rules for the choice of her turkey.

The general condition of the flesh should be firm, the cartilage at the rear end of the breast soft and pliable, the breast soft and plump, the neck short, the "drumstick" dark colored and smooth, and the skin covering the entire bird smooth, full and unbroken. Pin feathers, although a young bird, usually indicate a young bird, for they prove that he has not had "to scratch for a living." Your butcher will dress the turkey for you. This means that he will draw it, discarding all the viscera except the heart, liver and gizzard. These "gizzards" are usually dropped loosely inside the body. If the gizzard is not opened, make a gash with a sharp knife through the thickest part down to the neck, taking care not to cut the covering of the neck. Peel the outside away from the inner neck with the fingers and discard the sack. Let giblets stand in cold salted water for an hour or longer.

The tiny hairs left on the skin after picking will have to be removed. This is done by holding the turkey over a flame and turning it from side to side.

The pin feathers that escaped plucking must be carefully pulled out.

The tiny oil sack at the tail of the bird must be cut away.

The turkey must be thoroughly washed, inside and out, first with salted water and then with clear water. A small, not too stiff brush is a help in scrubbing the outside of the bird.

After washing drain thoroughly and keep on ice until ready to stuff and truss. The trussing is highly essential, since it adds greatly to the final appearance of the turkey before the host on the Thanksgiving table.

The turkey should be stuffed and trussed on Wednesday. Thanksgiving morning is too full of small tasks that eat up precious time.

To truss the turkey, begin by drawing the thighs close to the body. Run a long string through one thigh, the body and out through the other thigh. Cross drumsticks and fasten securely with a stout cord. Fasten to tail. Next place wings close to body with tips pushed over first joint, making triangles on the sides of the bird. Hold them with a second steeper forced through wings and body. Draw the neck skin under the back and sew with a soft cord. Now take the string holding the drumsticks to the tail, cross it and draw it back and forth around each end of the lower skewer. Cross string again and draw it up and around each end of the upper skewer holding the wings. The string securely in a knot and cut off end.

Be sure to remove trussing cord and the string used to sew the opening in the body before serving it to the table.

OFFICE CAT
TRADE MARK REG
By Junius

A "cat" is the openwork that develops in stockings before they are given to mother.

Queerly of all kinds will continue to thrive so long as there is a demand for it.

The thin after thirty live longer than the fat after forty.

People born rich usually are as easy to like as people born poor. But people who make money quickly nearly always develop a feeling of importance and lose whatever charm they may have possessed.

ASK ME SOME MORE

Dear Colym:
I am in love with a very pretty girl. She has beautiful blonde hair and blue eyes and curves like a scenic railway, but whenever I try to neck she always says "Stop." What shall I do, and why?

Willie Wooser:
Don't be discouraged, Willie. Maybe she just wants you to wait till she takes her hands off.

CHURCH MEN CONVENE IN CITY TODAY

the Lord," and "Sing unto the Lord," are quotations of worship; "being offering," "Make known His deeds among men," and "Tell all of Hisondrous works" are the work quotations.

Dr. Weir Speaks
Dr. Weir presented "The Movement Among Men in the Presbyterian Church." Dr. McLeod reported on a program of work for the men in the local church. Following this Dr. Weir gave the concluding lecture of the morning, "Important Issues Now Before the Church that Appear to Men." Some of the points he dealt with were: Law, its observance and its enforcement, marriage and divorce, church union and world peace.

At noon C. M. Humphreys, president of the local men's club, presided at the luncheon. Dr. Cover gave an address on the topic, "A Major Obligation of Manhood." This afternoon Dr. Cover will speak on "Men and Religion in Education," "Men and a Christian Nation," by the Rev. James Thomson, Seattle, executive secretary, synod of Washington; a worship period will follow these, led by the Rev. Weston S. Shields, of Enterprise, on the subject, "World Friendship and Peace."

The Rev. Weston T. Johnson, D. D., San Francisco, Pacific coast secretary of the board of foreign missions, will speak on "Men and a Christian World," and the Rev. D. A. MacLean, Ph. D., Helena, Montana, field representative, western division, board of pensions, will address on the subject, "Men and Honoring Our Veterans."

Singing by the members led by E. E. Hurley and a discussion on the church budget by Dr. Thomson will close the afternoon session.

There will be a dinner this evening with Mr. Humphreys presiding and Dr. Weir giving the address.

Of interest to many is the fact that there are over 500,000 adult men in the Presbyterian church, and that there is an attempt to organize those men in their 9,000 churches into men's clubs, men's study clubs. They have more than 5,000 such organizations of men in operation at present.

This group of men was in Salt Lake City Wednesday of this week. In Boise Thursday, are here today, and will be in Spokane tomorrow. They will hold five other conventions from Seattle down the coast to Los Angeles.

Local arrangements were in charge of a committee of which Jack B. Ferris is chairman.

TENTATIVE PLAN TO STANDARDIZE TAXES PRESENTED

the raising of the low spots and the lowering of the high spots. Testimony by the assessors yesterday furnished the commission as a basis on which it will prepare the county rates so that there is still a woeful lack of uniformity in method and results.

"This thing of each county being a law unto itself must come to an end. It is not that the commission is going to take over the work of the assessors, but that by co-operation between the assessors and the commission we may work out a standardization. It is going to cost the counties and the state some money, but not a great deal. We feel that at least one deputy assessor in each county should be assigned to work with the representatives of the commission in classifying property for taxation. We want you to go to work at once with your county courts and make provision for that in the county budgets."

Galloway mentioned Multnomah and Coos counties as outstanding in the establishment of systematic taxation, and called upon Assessor J. P. Leveaux of Coos county to tell the history of the reform in the county. "It cannot be said that there has been no improvement in the last 20, 10 and even in the last five years. If there had not we would today, with our heavy tax burden, be in a much more serious condition than we are."

Governor Patterson spoke briefly to the assessors.

"I look for immeasurable benefits to come to the state through the work of the new commission," the governor said, "and that it will reveal out many of the difficulties that we have encountered heretofore."

The governor said he stood "for economy, but not too much economy—not the economy that would give the state a black eye."
