RED CROSS GIRL FOR 1929

America's answer to humanity's challenge

Attractive girl artist poses for Red Cross Roll Call Poster for 1929, which is the work of Hayden Hayden.

WHEN Hayden Hayden, distinguished artist, prepared to submit a poster in the competition for use in the 1929 Red Cross Roll Call for members, he was confronted with the problem of finding a model for the typical American girl he wished to depict. He was fortunate in enlisting the cooperation of a young fellow artist, Miss Estelle Stokes, who had for some time been his assistant, not had graduated and after studying at the Art Students' League and with Prunett Carter, is now making a name for herself in the painting field.

Miss Stokes, an athlete and outdoor girl, has transmitted her personality into some of the posters of which she is the artist, and which adorn the highways.

The vividly colored poster of which Mr. Hayden is the artist, and which is pictured here, ranks with the best that have been accepted by the Red Cross in its annual Roll Call invitation.

Wallowa Teams Among Winners At P. I. Show

By Mrs. William Wiggins (Observer Correspondent)

LOSTINE, Ore. (Special).—After placing second among the state teams and third in the entire northwest in the stock judging contest, the Enterprise team returned home Monday. In this team were four local boys, Clifford Lines, Leslie Phillips, Glen Butler and Donald Kooche, with A. Zundell as coach. For the Enterprise team Phillips was high man and Butler second.

Three prizes were won by W. E. and A. C. Craig on the cattle they took to the stock show. They took first and second in the fat cattle class. They shipped 56 Herefords to show. They expect to sell these animals while there.

A large bull trout was caught in Wallowa lake by Walter Lee of Joseph and displayed in the Enterprise meat market. It weighed 14 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham have returned from White Bird, Idaho, where they have been visiting friends. They are at Joseph for the present.

A car belonging to a young man who had been working at Paradise and who had started for Lewiston caught fire and burned. The clothing and hair were singed. He was picked up and taken on to Lewiston.

The Rev. Mr. Harriman held services at the Christian church on Monday evening. He will hold meetings each Monday evening during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook and baby spent several days visiting friends in Lostine. They are at camp 10, where they are cutting wood.

S. P. Crow, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gail Crow, attended the stock show at Portland.

Clifford Wiggins came in from Ladd canyon, where he has been working. He visited his mother here for several days.

Mrs. Sadie Hall returned Wednesday from Portland, where she had spent several days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wart of Enterprise have moved into their new home recently purchased from Cecil Childress.

Mrs. Millie Wamsick fell Wednesday and injured herself quite badly. A physician was called and he took her to the hospital.

Mrs. T. W. Hancock and two daughters were among those who took advantage of the rates to Portland. They went to visit their son and brother, Lyle, who is working at the Raven creamery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bowman and Jess Kiddle and Jerry Maxwell made a trip to White Salmon to inspect some mines. They returned quite enthused.

Mrs. Lester Edmunds accompanied her father, G. W. Neal, of La Grande, to Midvale, Ida. They were going over after Mrs. Neal, who has been visiting.

James Down has gone to Sapinero, Colo., where he has found employment driving a truck for the state highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Moffett have moved in with Grandma Moffett. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harris have moved into the Hunter place. Fred Gray of Lostine has charge of the cream buying station. He has succeeded Dean Rogers. Mr. Gray is still living in Lostine, where he has a meat market and cream station.

Dobbins and Huffman are bringing their sheep from the Idaho side of the Snake river to this side to be near winter feeding. The sheep are brought across on snows propelled by a river boat.

Many farmers and stock growers attended the stock show in Portland. The shipments of livestock from the county included a double deck car of hogs, a car of cattle from Enterprise, a double deck car of sheep by the Enterprise Livestock company and a car of hogs and a mixed car by Barney Beard.

Miss Nina Willett and Jack Reed, two popular young people of Lostine, were married at Walla Walla, Wednesday, October 23. The ceremony was performed by the justice of the peace and the couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crane. Mr. and Mrs. Reed returned to Lostine and are at the Reed home. They have many friends who extend to them best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Courtney left this week for their new home on the Imnaha. Mr. Courtney and son, Donald, have moved most of their stock down.

Steve Burge has moved his family to Enterprise while he will go to the Imnaha to work. Mr. Burge has been in poor health and outdoor work has been advised by his physician.

THE GARDEN

DARWIN TULIP COLOR TYPES

It is impossible to select a list of a dozen or even 25 from the hundreds of Darwin tulip varieties and say dogmatically that it is the best. Many such lists have been made and few agree. It is purely a matter of personal taste and opinion. The most practical approach that can be made along these lines is to list types of various colors.

To begin with the white to crimson range. White Queen or La Candeur shows pink tints as it ages. There are newer and more expensive Darwins in pure white that may now be obtained. Suzen is a pale pink next in depth followed by Gretchen. Clara Butt is the most admired of the clear pink tulips but it is a late bloomer and does not do as well as others in some localities. Flamingo and Yvonne or Duchess of Westminster are acceptable substitutes.

From Clara Butt we move to a long line of rose Darwins with lighter tints, some blue rose. Baronne de la Touraine is one of the most popular of this type. Even finer are Massenet and Massachusetts. In deepening tones we come to Pride of Haarlem, one of the finest of the Darwins and the brilliant Petrus Hondius.

Approaching the scarlets is the handsome Farcombe Sanders, as claimed by some authorities as the finest Darwin. This is a more brilliant scarlet, Armande crimson and rose. King Harold a deep purplish red and William III a very deep crimson.

In the blue and purple range, Painted Lady is a white faintly tinted with heliotrope. Remembrance, Lantana and Duchess of Hohenberg are pale slaty blues with rose tints. Enterprise is a little deeper and Enterprise moves into the violet range. La Tristesse is in this range. Dream and Rev. Ryland come in deeper and brighter tints of violet and heliotrope. In the deep purple Sir Trevor Law-

WE'RE HAPPY BECAUSE WE JOINED THE FALK CHAIN

During the short period of time that our store has been affiliated with the Falk Chain—and particularly during the 61st Anniversary which you helped us to celebrate during the past week—we have been happier every day because we joined the Falk Chain of stores.

We are happy because Falk's great purchasing power enables us to buy for less—and to sell for less. We are happy because duplication of effort is eliminated—enabling us to sell for less. We are happy because in the 61st Anniversary Sale we broke all records! And that proves that you liked the merchandise—and the prices—we featured.

I personally want to thank the many friends of Falk's La Grande Store who helped us to put the Anniversary Sale over in such a big way. And I want to assure you that although it is a long time until next November, we are starting right now to make plans for the next Anniversary Sale—to make it even bigger and better than the one just past.

Cordially,

WILL SIEGRIST.

Watch Your Children When They Read at Night

Winter evenings are here—evenings when children are busy between the evening meal and bedtime studying tomorrow's lessons, reading, writing, drawing.

Practically every evening amusement is one that makes them use their eyes constantly. Watch them at work or at play—what kind of light are they working under? Do they have enough light? Is it the right kind of light? Are they straining their eyes?

Children's eyes are young and are usually tireless at work. They can undergo a strain without realizing it. They may be able to read or study under poor light for years and not notice it. But the effect is eventually disastrous.

Protect those childish eyes. See that they have plenty of light, that they do not work in a glare or in semi-darkness. The right light will do wonders in protecting children's eyes of today so that they will be strong and useful in their adult years.

Perhaps you can correct some of the difficulty with larger bulbs—or with convenience outlets that will permit reading and study lights that will protect their eyes. Light is inexpensive—yet it can save much in lost efficiency and in doctor bills of the future.
