Bulgaria Spurns Rumanian Bride For King Boris

SOFIA (AP)—Rumors concerning the probability of a marriage between King Boris and Princess Helena of Rumania have been spread here, but have been squelched by the Bulgarian government. Officials here declare that the reports, which had their origin in the Rumanian press, were inspired and that they were without foundation.

Since the opposition of the Vatican wrecked the project of an alliance between the Bulgarian ruler and Princess Giovanna of Italy, the king has seemingly given up for the time being, those looking toward the perpetuation of his dynasty.

Ever since the close of the World war there have been recurrent rumors of a Rumanian alliance. It was generally believed here, however, that they were part of a plan which Queen Marie of Rumania conceived of having her three daughters marry the kings of Jugoslavia, Greece and Bulgaria, consolidating the relations among those countries and increasing Rumanian prestige in the Balkans.

Two-thirds of this program was actually carried out. The monarchy disappeared from Greece, but in Jugoslavia Queen Marie's nameake shares the throne with Alexander.

The third part of the program was delayed first by the political situation in this country, Bulgaria was disturbed successively by the communist movement, the agrarian agitation and a Bolshevik menace and the bachelor king had plenty to think about without considering marriage.

After the domestic problems had been settled, King Boris began to consider the future. He decided that national and dynamic interests would best be served by an alliance with the House of Saxe, that which

MARKET NEWS OF THE DAY

Table with columns for CHICAGO WHEAT, PORTLAND WHEAT, and their respective prices (Open, High, Low, Close).

Wheat Averages Higher Today In Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Wheat prices averaged higher and scored gains of 1/4 to 3/8 a bushel today despite a midseason decline to new low levels, attributed to the influence of the work market. Closing prices were $1.14 1/2 to $1.25 1/2 for December wheat; March $1.21 1/2; May $1.25 to 1/2 and July $1.25 1/2.

Trade today was more near the normal volume, and except for the heavy wave of sales at one period the level of prices was better than yesterday, when seven cents a bushel was knocked from the wheat market. Hope for support from the federal farm board helped sustain prices, and there was a better volume of export sales today.

to the hotel, seized a shotgun from a closet near the desk, threw one shell into the magazine and left. A few moments later, according to police, a shot was heard. Wright found Darling just leaving the hotel kitchen, where he had been talking with Floyd Moore, dishwasher.

Moore is said to have heard Wright at the door and started to open it, and Darling is thought to have seen the barrel of the gun pointed at him. Before he could warn the dishwasher the gun exploded, spraying shot over Moore and shattering the skull of Darling.

When told later that Darling was dead, Wright is alleged to have said, "Well, I did a good job."

line to join their systems and permit entry of the Great Northern into California from the north. The proposed line would extend from Klamath Falls, Ore., to join with the Western Pacific at Keddies. Eleven railroads, 11 states and about 50 cities have lined up on some side or the other. The proposed route would create another direct rail route between California and the Oregon-Washington area, at present served solely by the Southern Pacific.

Before Mr. James began his testimony Guy V. Shoup, general solicitor for the Southern Pacific company, announced the opposition of his organization to the building program of the rival railroads. Linked up with the Southern Pacific were the Union Pacific system and several of its subsidiary transportation companies, a long with the state of Nevada and several civic and community organizations.

SHELLS OUST FISHERMEN

SALLEM, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP)—Use by the Oregon National Guard and artillery units of the regular army of the waters off Clatsop spit in the mouth of the Columbia river for target practice has defeated efforts of the Columbia River Fishers' association to fish in those waters. Also it caused the state land board today to cancel, at the request of W. L. Thompson, president of the association, the state's lease of the grounds to the packers.

Target practice comes during the fishing season, and the result was that fishermen employed by the Fishers' association refused to risk being blown into the water by shells from the cannon ashore.

EGG, BUTTER PRICES SHOW NO CHANGES

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP)—Egg and butter prices were steady today with no changes announced.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Portland bureau of the United States department of agriculture says: "Trading was active, following the weekend and Armistice holidays. Jonathan apples are showing smaller sizes than earlier offerings, and prices for all grades of Jonathan are lower. Other apple prices are steady."

"Cauliflower production will benefit materially, as a result of Saturday and Sunday's rain; and quality is excellent. Carrot sales have been made as high as $1.50 per crate, and local values have increased accordingly."

"Celery is stronger, with sales to retailers generally 10 to 15¢ higher per dozen stalks than last week's levels. Carrot demand is good, and sales are being effected at $2.00 to $2.25 per crate, in the rough."

PNEUMONIA

By Arthur O. Hart, M. D., St. Johns, Mich.

Pneumonia is second only to heart disease as a cause of death. It is the cause of the loss of many valuable lives between the ages of twenty-five and forty-five, the period of greatest activity.

This disease is caused by bacteria of which there are several groups. The mortality varies from fifteen to forty per cent and while much can be done by well trained physicians to carry the patient through this disease, there has as yet been found no specific cure for it. The serum of pneumonia are almost constantly present in the mouths and throats of over fifty per cent of people in good health.

It is therefore evident that human beings, when in normal health, possess a natural immunity to it and can only acquire this disease when this natural immunity is lessened or destroyed.

The prevention of pneumonia seems to consist largely in the maintenance of this natural immunity. There is, at present, no method known for rendering people permanently immune to it, such as there is for diphtheria and several other diseases. It seems impossible to prevent the presence of pneumonia germs in the respiratory passages.

It seems to me from observation during many years of practice that there are at least five causes of lowered immunity that are of importance in relation to this disease.

Common colds are due to different germs than those causing pneumonia. But such colds may so lower the normal resistance as to render the body susceptible to attack by pneumonia germs, especially if some of the other causes are, at the same time, operative.

Sudden changes of temperature, under certain conditions, are a frequent cause of lowered resistance to pneumonia and should be guarded against.

Over-work means working too long hours rather than too hard. If, during a time of great activity and stress, a person acquires a cold and then has occasion to worry and lose sleep, an excellent background for this disease may result.

If people in active life, when afflicted with colds which are light, cause fever or loss of appetite, would promptly lay off work and stay in bed or rest until the severe symptoms abate, pneumonia might many times be avoided. I have repeatedly known persons who, through neglect of these precautions, have lost their lives from this disease.

During the period of a common cold, even without the above symptoms, due care should be taken to eat regularly, avoid over-work and get sufficient sleep. Periodical health examinations by a competent physician will often reveal conditions which must be corrected in order to maintain normal resistance to acute diseases.

While pneumonia is some what contagious and precautions should be taken to prevent its spread, the necessity of maintaining normal immunity should be ever borne in mind.

Brodie Eliminated PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP)—Elimination of E. E. Brodie, editor of the Oregon City Enterprise, as United States minister to China was seen today in Shanghai dispatches that the name of Nelson T. Johnson had been submitted by Washington for their approval in that position.

Brodie's name had been given President Hoover by Senator McNary, Oregon, according to Washington news dispatches. The editor is one of the three Oregon newspapermen who have been named minister to Siam.

A DEMONSTRATION CONVINCED US— A DEMONSTRATION WILL CONVINC YOU!

Before we took over the SPEED QUEEN agency in La Grande we thought it was just "another popular-priced washer." But we found different. A demonstration convinced us that the SPEED QUEEN offers all the advantages of the highest priced machines in smoothness of operation, durability, washing efficiency and guarantee. It is in every respect a high quality washer. Yet it sells for $50 less than many other machines of similar quality.

A demonstration will convince you the same as we were. It is really amazing to see how fast and clean the SPEED QUEEN washes—how quiet it runs—and how durably it is constructed. Come in tomorrow and let us show this remarkable washer to you.

For homes without electricity a built-in 4-cycle gasoline engine is furnished at additional cost.
