GRAIN LOWER, BUT DEMAND IMPROVES

Cash Markets Strengthened by Light Receipts and Good Inquiry.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18 (Special)—Grain markets strengthened materially toward the close of the week ending November 16, following the sharp decline earlier which carried wheat prices to the lowest point of the season, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Weakness at Liverpool as a result of pressure from Argentine exporters to dispose of their wheat afloat unsold, together with the continued unsettled situation in the domestic stock market, was largely responsible for the sharp decline in wheat prices early in the week. Other grains largely followed wheat, but receipts to all grains fell off materially at the lower prices and demand improved with the result that the cash market strengthened materially toward the close of the week and a good part of the decline in futures was offset by an advance in cash prices.

With native wheats still being offered in fairly good volume in European markets, demand for foreign wheat continued slow, although export sales of North American wheat was reported somewhat larger during the week. Argentine exports have fallen off materially since the first of November, but stocks of wheat afloat and those being pressed upon the market, 63 1/2 lbs. tonnage afloat was quoted in Liverpool, November 15, at $1.17 1/2, while No. 2 Manitoba for November shipment was quoted at $1.40 1/2. These lower quotations on imported wheats weakened the Liverpool market and were reflected in a decline of 2c to 3c on quotations of native wheats in the principal European markets. North American shipments of wheat and flour are well below last season, with Canadian exports from August through October totaling about 46,000,000 bushels, compared with 109,000,000 bushels for the same period last season. United States exports for this period totaled about 25,000,000 bushels, compared with 45,000,000 bushels last year. North American market stocks are still unusually large, totaling at the first of November about 426,000,000 bushels, compared with 304,000,000 bushels a year ago. Total stocks of wheat in North America appear to be around 160,000,000 bushels smaller than at this time last season, with practically all of this decrease in Canada. The smaller crop in Canada has been reflected in decreased marketings, inspections for the western division for the three months August through October totaling a little over 374,000,000 bushels, compared with 469,000,000 bushels for the same period in 1928. The quality, however, is unusually good, with nearly 87 per cent of the inspection grading No. 2 Northern or better, compared with 75 per cent for the corresponding period last season.

Domestic cash markets developed a firmer tone toward the close of the week under an active mild demand for the limited offerings. Export inquiry was also improved and reported sales were the largest for some weeks. These sales, however, were mostly of wheat in store at the Gulf which has been offered at relatively low prices.

Pacific northwest markets continued with eastern markets in some extent, but price changes were less pronounced than at eastern points. Cash prices showed a net decline of about 1c per bushel for the week at the close of the market November 15. There was a fairly active Oriental demand for both wheat and flour and parcels lots of wheat sold at Portland totaled around 8000 tons during the week, according to trade reports, with several substantial flour sales also reported. Bids from the United Kingdom and the continent were well below current quotations. Farmers were not disposed to sell freely at current prices and were holding for prices 2c to 4c over spot prices. Three hundred and fifty cars of wheat were received at Portland during the week and 117 at Seattle. At the latter market the export demand was dull, but there was a good inquiry for Red wheats for feed. A good inquiry for flour from both China and Japan was reported, but offers were said to be about 20c per barrel under mill quotations. Big Red bluestem hard white was quoted in that market at $1.24, No. 1 red wheat at $1.19 to $1.19 1/2 per bushel. No. 1 soft hard western white was quoted at Portland at $1.19. No. 1 hard winter northern spring and western red at $1.11 and No. 1 Big Red bluestem hard white at $1.32 per bushel.

TURKEY PRICE IS CHEAPER IN OREGON MART

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18 (AP)—Indications point to cheaper prices for turkeys this Thanksgiving than last year, according to quotations of a leading producer company today. Buying prices for No. 1 birds were 32c to 34c, 25c was being paid for No. 2 and 29c for culls. The live stock was priced at 18c to 20c.

The only stock for which there seems to be demand was the No. 1. The lack of demand for the lower grades is shown in the cheaper prices. The live birds are of unusually poor quality at 18c and 20c.

Shippers were asked to get their fancy birds on the market by Friday or Saturday morning at the latest, as much of the Thanksgiving demand will be filled this week.

MAC-HI WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

 that gained 39 yards, and a forward pass that added 16 more.

HELD FOR DOWN
 In the final play, Mac-Hi twelve started for the La Grande field, reaching the 20-yard line only to be held on downs, and as the gun ended the game, the Pioneers had just made it first down on La Grande's seven-yard line.

The Mac-Hi line outplayed the Tigers a good share of the time, giving the backs time to get started. In addition, a formidable interference proved difficult for the La Grande gridsters to pierce.

Garber, Wells, Olinger and Markham played a strong game for the victors, with the entire backfield rolling up a large amount of yardage. Statistics show that Mac-Hi made a total of 395 yards during the game, with 21 downs to forward passes. La Grande's strong fight for honors is reflected in the fact that the Tigers advanced the ball 176 yards of which 51 came from aerial thrusts. In first downs, Mac-Hi led the Tigers 19 to 8. Play was closest in the first half when both teams made six first downs. In the air, Mac-Hi laced 17 passes, three being intercepted and six completed. La Grande passed 13 times, completed three and had three intercepted.

Plenty of Thrills

The game was full of thrills, particularly in the first half, and was cleanly played.

During intermissions, the La Grande High school band played and at half time the students formed a serpentine while the band marched about the field.

Bates, chairman of the county library committee which is acting under the supervision of the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher associations, was present and explained that the committee wishes to establish a committee to form a Union County league which will sponsor an educational campaign to arouse wider interest in good books throughout the county and which is hoped will lead eventually to the reestablishment of the Union County library.
