California Team Favored To Win Tilt With Cards

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19 (AP)—The grand climax of the Pacific coast conference football season will unfold itself in the Stanford bowl Saturday, with the University of California Bears pitted against their ancient rivals, the Stanford Cardinals.

With the conference championship at stake, the Bears cannot afford defeat. A victory will give California the title, but a loss will bring on an anti-climax in which the Trojans of Southern California would stand an excellent chance of pulling the crown.

All things considered however, California appears to be the favored contender for the championship. Undeclared and untied in conference play, the Bears were rated the superior eleven by virtue of the better showing they have made.

With several of their good men out of practice with injuries suffered in the clash with Santa Clara, the Cardinals were at work today preparing for their battle Saturday. It was not certain whether the injured players would return to the line in time. They were Heinicke and Taylor, centers, and Roddy Rintala, halfback. They were all treated for leg injuries at Palo Alto hospital.

from the operations of nightly riders, but the clean-up for the turkeys was the most serious blow of all. Mr. and Mrs. Lindley have a home in town where they spend most of their time and no one has been at the farm nights, giving the thieves plenty of opportunity to help themselves to what they want. —Enterprise Record-Chief.

Attend Reunion— Mr. and Mrs. Leo Niederer and children and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sanderson and family of the Creek were among the members of the Niederer family attending a family reunion last week in La Grande at the parental John Niederer Sr. home. Other guests at the time were Mrs. Dora Glenn and children of Pendleton and Mr. and Mrs. John Niederer Jr. of La Grande.

To Have Election— Members of the Rebekah lodge will have the annual election of officers at their regular meeting Wednesday evening. The Odd Fellows will meet next Saturday evening. These organizations are already busy preparing their plans for entertaining the county district association when it meets at their guests in December.

Care For Ranch— Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Long and Mrs. E. Sanderson of Summerville are staying at the Frank Woodell farm and caring for the stock and poultry during the next two weeks or more.

Visit Springs— Residents from over the valley have been driving to Medical Springs these nice days to inspect the improvements which Mr. and Mrs. Pat Powers are making on the recreational end of their enterprise at that corner of the county. The last big addition to the plant to be started there was the recreation hall, work on which was started recently. The building which is adjacent to the new plunge will stand 42 feet wide by 112 feet long. A stage and dressing rooms across one end, a main-mouth fireplace at the other, music dancing floor, balcony—these are some of the items featured in the building.

Visit In Idaho— Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hughes of the Grange Hall neighborhood have been in Weiser, Idaho, for a few days visiting among relatives who live in that city.

Work on Park— Residents of Elgin contributed some more labor last week on the excavation for the pool which is being built under the sponsorship of the Women's club. The women are hoping to have the drain in before severe weather. In the spring the club members are hoping to have $600 ready to be supplemented by some money from the city treasury, and the work hurried through to completion. The women have a number of projects on for this winter to raise the balance of the money.

Cattle Shipped— Three car loads of cattle were shipped last week from Imbler by Dan Myers and Albert Kiefer. Dillard Choate of Dry Creek accompanied the shipment to Portland and is having a few days in the city.

To Have Roll Call— Pythian Sisters of Elgin are making quite elaborate plans for their "Roll Call" to be held on Thursday of this week.

Apple Packing— Scott Harris of Elgin finished packing out his apple crop the last of the week. A few more days will complete packing of the Torrey crop. Packing of apples from the Weatherpoon orchard will in all probability not be finished before the first of the year.

A SEASONABLE RECIPE

Spanish Lima Beans
Two cups dried lima beans.
Two cups milk.
Four tablespoons butter.
Four tablespoons flour.
Salt.
Two-thirds cup grated cheese.
One pint.
Three tablespoons chili sauce.
Soak the lima beans over night. Then cook in salted water and drain. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and salt. Add the cheese, pimentos and chili sauce to the white sauce and mix with the beans. Put all in a buttered baking dish and cover with cracker crumbs and melted butter. Bake three-fourths of an hour.

repairs made, getting the line in readiness for the stress and strain of winter weather.

Visit in Washington— Mrs. Mary Wickins of Elgin and Mrs. Jesse Breshers of La Grande drove to Yakima last week, and are having a few days visit with Mrs. Breshers' sister.

In Portland— Mrs. Grover Grimmett of Mt. Glen was among those from this valley who visited Portland last week and witnessed the production of the Passion Play.

ROCK WALL GRANGE MEMBERS SEE HALL NEAR COMPLETION

Members of the Rock Wall Grange, near Elgin are very proud over the record which they have made in the erection of their new grange hall. And well they should. It has been a comparatively short time since the hall for the building was set rolling. Timber was given the grange if members would get it out. That job was done very shortly and the logs taken to the mill of the Ponderosa Lumber Co. where they were worked into lumber of the proper and usable sizes. Following the policy of all grange organizations, the group proceeded just as fast with their building projects as funds actually on hand would permit. From the first, volunteer labor was asked for and apparently very freely given.

The cement foundation was poured during the fall months, and the frame work was started only on November 2. Wednesday of last week saw the last job finished, when 24 members put on very nearly 1000 shingles each, finishing the roof before night-fall.

The grange has always held its meetings in a nearby school house, north of Elgin, but so active has the subordinate always been that the meet place soon became quite inadequate. It was then that ground was donated by the Gallows and plans started for a permanent home. This is one of the Valley Pioneer Passes Away In Northern State

Word has only recently been received by old friends in this valley of the death of Mrs. Alex. (A. C.)

McClelland, for many years a resident of this valley and still remembered by the older pioneer families of Union county. The McClelland family lived in La Grande for a time and for 30 years, or perhaps longer they lived in Island City. This was at a time when Island City was the city of this part of the valley. La Grande was confined for the most part to that section designated today as "Old Town." For a number of years Mrs. McClelland was the proprietress of the millinery shop in Island City. The family were very prominent all during their years of residence in this part of the state.

Mrs. McClelland's father was also a prominent pioneer in the great northwest, his homestead comprising areas which are in or near the present site of Tacoma, and what is reputed to be the largest golf course in the northwest is located on that homestead. The McClelland family moved from this valley to California and have since resided there. Mrs. McClelland, who had been in rather frail health had accompanied a brother and sister-in-law up into Washington to visit at the home of another brother. It was while there that her condition became very alarming and examinations revealed cancerous trouble. Mrs. McClelland visited in Island City about three years ago, and renewed many old acquaintanceships—apparently enjoying every bit of the time spent with the friends of the years.

"I'll take two of them. How much will they be?"
"Let's see: eight pounds—eight times eight are eighty-four. Take them for seventy-five cents, Mrs. O'Brien."
"Thank ye, Mr. Goldstein. I'll do that. Ye're always good to the Irish, I'll say that for ye."

THE WEeping MUSE

Modern Industrialism about to deal the Art of Music the saddest blow of its history? To blame Machinery as an instrument of Decadence may seem startling, but it is true that Machinery in the form of Canned Music is elbowing Real Music out of motion picture theatres, thus denying to the masses the cultural influence of a Fine Art. Surely, if machine-made music displaces the artist in thousands of instances, the incentive for any individual to improve his talent is necessary in all art—is minimized and music can no longer hold the cultural value that it has possessed. Any art is dependent for its progress upon the number of its enthusiastic exponents. Do you, Mr. Reader, find the pleasure in Mechanical Music that you do in Real Music? If you believe that Real Music should be raved to the masses who attend Motion Picture Theatres make your opinion known to the manager of your favorite theatre. Very likely he will appreciate your frankness for he wants to please his patrons.

The New KIMBALL

A RADIO SENSATION

"From the Famous Kimball Factories"

This has a meaning that is far-reaching, for seventy-two years in the foremost rank of the music industry counts for something to be sure.

Builders of the Kimball piano—there are more Kimball pianos in use than pianos of any other make—the choice of the masters for half a century, those most particular ones who demand the utmost in musical instruments.

Builders of a piano that has been the choice of more music schools, public institutions, authorities in a position to judge true worth, the honored critics or judges at the great International Exhibitions, than any other piano.

Builders of pipe organs for decades—gigantic organs running into an aggregate worth of millions. Organs in the largest and finest theaters, churches, temples, city auditoriums in the land.

Here, then is experience. Here, in itself, is an industry of vast proportions and with unlimited resources. In the Kimball factories are laboratories where the greatest advances of an age in tone production have been developed.

Here are loyal craftsmen, whose hearts are in their work, whose full experience fits them well to serve you better.

Is this not the logical birth place for a uniquely splendid radio receiver that will bring you the best in music whenever you want it? Naturally it must conform to the highest standard of tone reception. It does!
