Promise People Vote Road Tax Of Six Mills
By Mrs. Bertha Carper (Observer Correspondent)
PROMISE, Ore. (Special)—A special road tax meeting was held at Promise Nov. 18, beginning at 1 p. m. F. G. Corbett acting as clerk. After discussing the road situation it was decided to vote upon a special tax of six mills for the coming year. The levy carried unanimously. Every one is much pleased with the work that is being done on the road this year and it is hoped that Promise will have a good road some day. They expect to get the grade to the gravel pit on top of the Summit in a short time.

Mrs. Sadie Carper went to Walla Walla Saturday, returning home Sunday evening. Her brother, Luella Carper spent Saturday night and Sunday with her uncle Walter's family.

Henry Hafer and son, Chester, passed through Promise Monday on their way to their home at Palen.

John Carper is helping John Carper and sons cut logs this week. John has the contract to cut the logs for Jim Crowley who is logging at Cougar Creek for Bowman-Hicks.

Miss Theresa Smith went to Maxville Saturday to visit with friends for a few days.

John Doud and Vesper Henderson finished sawing their logs Monday.

Walter Carper killed a large lynx Sunday. He came upon the cat near the old Miles Smith place.

Boyd Carper returned home Tuesday after spending several weeks in and near Boise, Idaho. His wife is at Caldwell, Idaho, recovering from an operation. She has had a cataract removed from one of her eyes and was apparently successful as she seems to be recovering her sight. Boyd will return to Caldwell to accompany her home as soon as she is able to return.

Obe Swearingen hunted out six nice calves Monday to Charles Hunter, who had purchased them at from $20 to $25 each.

Walter Carper finished baling his hay Saturday. He had about 20 tons of hay and was assisted by Leo and Jarrett Kenworthy. Walter is preparing to move away but has not decided just where he will locate.

Lee Kenworthy is intending to move to the Colpit place as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carper made a business trip to Wallawa Tuesday.

Lola and Myron Corbett fed their father's sheep Monday afternoon while their brother, Dunn, attended the road tax meeting at the grange hall.

RESIGNATION OF MCEWAN DUE TO RENEWAL REFUSAL

again for a decision, but he told me he had not and would not until after the first of the year. He outlined for me his idea of an ideal football coach, but it was so far in variance with what I thought a football coach should be that I asked him if he were contemplating a change. He told me he was planning on changing the type of head coach and that he was considering changing the coaching staff from contract to a professional status with a possible reduction in salary.

McEwan said he told Dr. Hall that this type of football coach had never been successful in the history of American football, that it was impossible for a football coach to retain his position if his team did not win.

"He agreed with me," McEwan said, "and told me that a football coach on the purely professional status was the only type he would tolerate. I asked him again if he desired to retain me, but I made no mention of salary or terms of contract. I asked him if he would object to my making a public announcement of my resignation and he told me he had no objections whatever."

LIE DETECTOR USED TO GET CONFESSION

"yes, sir," or "no, sir," until attention was focused on cemeteries in or near Bothell. Sunday, Colvin said, Mayer smashed the "lie detector" when he was pressed for answers in regard to the Bothell cemetery, and thereafter he was shackled and required to wear an "Oregon boot" while being questioned.

Search Narrowed Down
By noting the reactions on the registering device of the "lie detector," the search for Bissett's body was narrowed down to an area of two square miles, including both Bothell cemeteries, deep woods adjacent to one of them and a small white house on which Mayer had paid a $10 rent deposit at the time of Bissett's disappearance.

The "truth serum," which was said to produce the effect of an anesthetic by which the patient is numb in all faculties except that of speech, was injected hypodermically after Mayer became recalcitrant. The "lie detector" consists of leather-covered plates on a chest, to record respiration, and a rubber tube wrapped around an arm for recording blood pressure. Movement of both parts of the device are registered on a drum of ruled paper which, when completed, is said to show a chart of emotional reactions.

Borrowed From Illinois
The "lie detector," which is known scientifically as a pneumo-cardic sphygmometer, was brought here from Joliet penitentiary in Illinois. The "Oregon boot" is a five to 15 years on larceny charges, heavy metal boot, formerly used said he was "not concerned over widely in transporting prisoners. Mayer's purported confession," so weights one leg that running away is impossible. Colvin reported just such a one in the case of Mrs. Smith last week.

Attorney Henry Clay Agnew, year, he said, Agnew said he was who represents both Mayer and his convinced. Prosecutor Colvin had mother, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, testified laws by forcing Mayer to who was sentenced to serve from, testify against himself.
