Tennyson Speaks At Neighborhood Club Meeting

A very impressive and interesting address on "The History of Music," tracing it from the early tribal forms to the present day music, was given by the Rev. M. G. Tennyson, yesterday at the meeting of the La Grande Neighborhood club in the La Grande hotel.

"All of our music shows a hang over from these early times, and the best music has not yet been produced," Mr. Tennyson said in beginning. The Chaldean and the Egyptian were the first to really develop music and it is from these the Hebrew took his forms for hymns, the speaker continued. He spoke of Mozart as an apostle of God, because of the great changes he brought about in music. Mozart exalted melody and took the theme into all part of the hymn.

In closing, Mr. Tennyson contrasted hymns to "popular music," saying that "the Christian church is responsible for the advent of the jazz age. A need of physical expression brought this age about." He said "The American religion was evangelized; that people get religion and then forget about it."

Mrs. H. N. Ashby played examples of the different forms throughout the talk. When one heard familiar Sunday school hymns played strictly to time, one felt the urge of dancing and agreed with Mr. Tennyson's startling statements. The program was not only entertaining but inspirational. The audience reacted as if in a church.

Mrs. Glenn Thompson became a member of the organization yesterday at the meeting. It was announced that the Oregon Trail Reunited committee would meet the first Saturday of each month at 4 o'clock in the La Grande hotel.

Mrs. H. P. Murphy, chairman of the Christmas seals committee, which is sponsored by the Neighborhood club, reported on the progress made with this work. Mrs. Murphy's advisory board includes Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. George Cochran, Mrs. Albert Hunter, Miss Alice Marquardt.

Mrs. George Cochran is chairman of the speakers' committee for the Christmas seals. Speakers are: Mrs. Oscar Warnock, Mrs. Robert Eakin, George Cochran, Harry Zarbick, the Rev. M. G. Tennyson. Yesterday four of these were speaking over the county. Publicity manager for the seals is Mrs. K. B. Morgan.

Mrs. J. T. Longfellow is chairman of the educational committee, with Mrs. W. W. Nussbaum and Miss Charlotte Kuhl assisting. This group has planned an essay contest in the grade schools and recommended an oral theme for English classes in the high schools. Over 200 letters and 55 packages of materials have been sent out by this committee.

La Grande chairman for the seals is Mrs. Charles Graham. Members assisting her are: Mrs. Fred Spaeth, Mrs. Grover Grimmett, Mrs. Jerry Foley, Mrs. S. B. Morgan, Mrs. Andrew Loney, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Iversoncroft and Mrs. Charles Playle.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
There are a few well established rules to keep in mind when planning menus for families.

First, a balanced diet must be maintained.

Second, "protective foods" must be supplied in abundance.

Third, each meal should contain something crisp which requires thorough mastication for the sake of the teeth.

Fourth, a pint of milk a day for adults and a quart for children must be used either in cooking or as a drink.

The following menu for a November day is suggested with these rules in mind.

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal pancakes, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed oysters with piloncillos on toast, apple and celery salad, ginger bread, milk, tea.

DINNER—Meat loaf with boiled rice border, cauliflower in cream sauce, jellied tomato salad, cheese crackers, peach cup puddings, milk, coffee.

When members of the family must care for the convalescent in the home, the question of diet often looms overwhelmingly. The invalid's appetite is capricious and far from normal. Lack of exercise hinders digestion and the power to assimilate food is proportionately lowered.

A HOW collar of kolinsky is noted on an imported coat of green cloth.

However, a balanced, nourishing diet must be maintained. Substantial food is needed to repair tissues while mineral constituents and vitamins are essential for the proper regulation of body processes and the promotion of growth.

Milk is one of the best foods for the convalescent. However, it should be supplemented with fruits. Pure orange juice, slightly sweetened, and diluted grape fruit juice and lemonade are particularly desirable and available at this time of year. Canned and stewed dried fruits also can be used. The person who does not like milk to drink should be served cream soup, vegetables in well made cream sauce, and desserts made with milk or served with cream.

Eggs Are Important
Eggs should be used generously. Poached, coddled or shirred, they can take the place of meat. In custards or beaten into milk and flavored with vanilla or nutmeg they are nourishing and easily digested.

Meats should be used sparingly. Liver and sweetbreads are excellent to use occasionally in place of the muscular cuts. Never serve a convalescent tough meat and be sure that it is neither over-done or under-done.

Well cooked root and tuber vegetables as well as the green, leafy ones are of utmost importance in the diet. Aside from their vitamins and mineral content, their bulk and water-holding capacity is of great value. Vegetables do much to keep the digestive tract in a good hygienic condition and are so smooth that they cannot irritate even a delicate digestive apparatus.

Careful seasoning, attractive serving, hot foods hot and cold foods cold, and a pleasant variety will do much to tempt the appetite and aid the convalescent in complete recovery of health.
