NOTICE
IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to law, the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics has prepared, and the Governor of the State of Oregon has approved, the following rules and regulations respecting the operation in Oregon of airplanes which are not licensed or authorized to be operated by the federal government.

1. All airplanes operating in the State of Oregon, not otherwise federally licensed, must have in addition to their state registration, an airworthiness certificate issued by the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics. This airworthiness certificate shall state the purpose for which the airplane is being operated; that is, whether it is operated commercially, or for experimental flying.

2. Airplanes manufactured under approved type certificate issued by the Department of Commerce, or planes eligible for Department of Commerce license for commercial use, shall be issued an airworthiness certificate if found in safe flying condition. Other aircraft will be issued an airworthiness certificate after having successfully passed engineering flight tests, the same as adopted by the Department of Commerce, and other engineering tests, to-wit: a sand load test of 60 per cent of the design load as determined by the Department of Commerce load factor curves, or the above may be omitted at the option of the State Board upon submission of complete stress analysis on the airplane.

3. A new application for an airworthiness certificate for any plane may be made after such certificate has been denied, whenever the plane has been placed in an airworthy condition.

4. If at any time when any airplane is being flown and is found not to comply with the foregoing rules, the airworthiness certificate then outstanding shall be cancelled by the Board.

5. In the event of accidental damage to any aircraft operated under an airworthiness certificate, the owner of such aircraft shall make a complete report to the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics at the Port of Portland Airport, Portland, Oregon, and it, in the judgment of the State Board, the damage is of a minor nature, the Board may, at its option, cancel the airworthiness certificate until repairs have been made and inspected satisfactory to the Board.

6. Any inspection provided for in these rules shall be made by the Board of Aeronautics, or by any representative authorized by said Board.

7. Flying any airplane for which a certificate provided for in these rules, or a federal license, has not been issued and then in force, or failure to comply with any requirement of these rules, by any pilot, shall be deemed carelessness or negligence in endangering the safety of the public in the flying of aircraft sufficient to constitute cause for the revocation of such pilot's license.

These rules and regulations are hereby prepared and adopted this 25th day of November, 1929.
OREGON STATE BOARD OF AERONAUTICS.
By ARCHIE F. RUTH, Chairman.
By J. L. MORROW, Acting Secretary.
The foregoing rules and regulations are hereby approved this 29th day of November, 1929.
L. J. PATTERSON, Governor.
