"Alaska" Subject Of Monthly Meet Of Y. W. E. A.

With a theme in harmony with the social spirit evident in La Grande this week, the monthly Alaska meeting of the Young Women's Educational Union in the basement of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

It was easy to imagine the large rooming house was an ice field stretching away into the distance, with a small glacial iceberg through which the members had to crawl to enter the smaller room in the basement where the evening's entertainment was held.

Miss Iona Harriman was chairman for the evening, with Miss Alice Klippel, Miss Mabel Norma, Mrs. L. W. Wheeler, Miss Norma Maeger, Mrs. Beatrice Young, Miss Alice Cook and Miss Kathryn Moran assisting her.

"Land of the Sky Blue Waters," a song that has never lost its appeal, was sung by Mrs. Ira Aldrich, followed by an interesting description of Northern Alaska, by Miss Mabel Doty. Pictures taken on the U. of O. summer session trip to Alaska were shown by Arnold Grullin, and explained by Mrs. Beatrice Young, who traveled on this tour.

Mrs. Claude Cooper sang a lovely selection, "Indian Love Call," "Sotompan," the meanings and many different types of totem poles, was Mrs. Young's subject when she spoke. She also mentioned something of the culture of the Eskimo. An attractive display of Alaskan articles was shown, including pamphlets about Alaska, some for slippers, and a glacial egg, and egg-shaped rock which was picked up at the foot of Mt. Denali, the highest peak in Alaska. Slaskan handwork, pictures of Alaska, and books of totemism and Alaskan history.

Unusual refreshments, also in keeping with the general scheme, were served by the committee. Near the close of the evening, the committee members participated in a human totem pole, which was framed in the door way.

During the business meeting the following committees were announced for the next meeting: Miss Mabel Doty, chairman; Miss May Stewart, Blanche Horvath, Mrs. H. E. Dixon, Mildred Hoyt, and Bertina Wallinger, with the subject California missions.

65 Couples Attend B. P. O. Elks Dance

The first dances of the new year to be given by the recently appointed committee of the Elks' lodge was a decided success last evening with about 65 couples in attendance. Other than the regular dances several other two steps were starred, to music furnished by the Star Novelty orchestra.

An entertaining feature of the evening was a dance and song number by Frances and Marjorie DeLia. Miss Arleta Galt served delicious refreshments.

The committee consisting of Vincent Eckley, chairman; Ted Kline, John K. Garly, Harley Smith, and E. C. Kennedy expect to have two more dances before the annual ball.

Miss Betty Cochran Entertains Club

Last evening the members of the P. T. Bridge club were delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Betty Cochran, when she and Miss Marion Miller and Miss Catherine Sartain were hostesses at five tables of bridge.

Honors for high score were won by Miss Constance Ray, with Miss Trillian Ashby winning consolation award. Following bridge a delightful two-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Bingaman Is Hostess to Club

The annual holiday dinner, a charming event of the Ladies Monday Bridge club took place Monday at the home of Mrs. Charles Bingaman. Unusual and attractive decorations were in a color scheme of silver and gold, symbolizing prosperity. "Happy New Year" in gold letters, was written on the gold silver cut cups, on the table, which was arranged with covers for twelve.

Following the delightful dinner, three tables of bridge were enjoyed with Mrs. Leta Jones winning honors for high tally, with guest award presented to Mrs. Anna Pollock. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. A. T. Hill.

Wistaria Club Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Farnam were host and hostess last evening to the members of the Wistaria Bridge club at their home with three tables at play. Lovely yellow and white chrysanthemums blended in a color scheme for the home decorations.

Honors at bridge were won by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Green. Following cards a delightful two-course luncheon was served. The club will meet again Jan. 21 with Mr. and Mrs. Green.

Jones Entertain La Petite Club

Three tables of bridge were at play last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones on Third street, when they entertained the members of the La Petite Bridge club. High honors were won by Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Staff with consolation awards going to Mrs. Howard Glenn and T. C. McElroy. A delicious two-course luncheon was served following the cards.

The club will meet next with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn.

Members of Club Enjoy Afternoon

A pleasant afternoon of bridge was enjoyed Monday by the members of the Wakelita Bridge club at the home of Mrs. Chester Keyle with three tables at play. Mrs. A. E. Hug won the honors for high tally, with Mrs. W. E. McElroy winning second prize. A guest award was presented to Mrs. Westley McDonald.

Following bridge a dainty luncheon was served.

Tatapchon Group Meet at Church

The Tatapchon Camp Fire group of the Lutheran church, with Mrs. Leta Jones, guardian, Helen Hughes, assistant guardian, and Doris Hunt, leader, present, Sylvia Turin, vice president, took charge in the absence of the president.

Miss Helen Hughes explained the high school honor for 1929. Agnes Green, secretary of the group, gave a clever reading, "Candles," and Winifred Scott recited a poem, "The Puzzled Dutchman."

A coasting party was planned for their next meeting. If the snow lasts, two Camp Fire cheer songs were learned by the group, and they also planned to clean their room in the church.

Announcements

The Starch and Chatter club of the American Legion auxiliary will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Melvia Galbraith at 1295 O street, at 2 o'clock.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet Thursday afternoon, Jan. 9 at the parlour when Mrs. Leta Jones will be hostess to the group. All members are requested to be present, as this is the annual meeting when election of officers for the year is held.

Division B of the Loyal Sisters will meet with Mrs. C. E. Duffey, apartment No. 7 in Landis-Court apartments, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The G. E. A. of the B. of L. E. extends an invitation to all members and their wives to attend the annual dinner, to be given tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock in the K. of P. hall.

MENUS

Many housekeepers overlook the possibilities in vegetable juice cocktails. The finest hotels and restaurants include them among their course appetizers for luncheon and dinner and they are most practical for home use.

As in any appetizer, careful seasoning is essential. Careful use of vinegar, sugar, salt, sometimes a mere suspicion of spice, a drop of onion juice, just a hint of pepper, can be added to almost any vegetable juice with appetizing effect.

Thorough chilling and attractive serving are also imperative. While the cocktail must be perfectly smooth and "drinkable," it need not be of a watery consistency. Strained orange juice has a bit more substance than clear water and is pleasantly smooth with a consistency ideal in a cocktail.

Many Vegetables Usable
Most vegetable and cucumber juice are rather commonly used, but other vegetables can be successfully manipulated. Canned vegetables or fresh ones are equally good and there is no waste or loss of vitamin or mineral content when the juice as well as the solid vegetable is made use of.

Vegetables which are wanted quite dry for dressing for the table offer less difficulty for the cook. If she need not cook away every drop of liquid, when the vegetable stock is drained off and used in another meal as a cocktail, nothing is lost and the cook can relax her cast-iron vigilance of the last few minutes of the cooking period.

The water in which celery is cooked, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, broccoli, carrots, mushrooms or the like, from canned vegetables is made pleasant and stimulating by proper seasoning.

Of course, the same vegetable should not appear twice in a meal. Some morning, when stewed fruit or baked apples have been the breakfast fruit, try serving a tomato juice cocktail for the luncheon or dinner first course.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
One cup tomato juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons minced celery.

Combine ingredients and bring to the boiling point. Remove at once from the fire and let stand, chilled. Serve in cocktail glass.

Vegetablechowders are a boon to the busy mother whose children come home at different hours for their luncheon. The chowder can be kept hot almost indefinitely without hurting it, is easily and quickly served, and good for both older children and adult "first-graders."

There is a large amount of nourishment in a vegetable chowder and it is easily digested. The food is not heavy or rich enough to produce the foggy feeling that makes afternoon cooking so trying, but is nourishing and stimulating to tired young brains and growing bodies.

Crisp crackers or toast sticks are excellent to serve with a chowder, for they add the necessary hard food which requires chewing.

Radishes or celery, egg and lettuce salad or head lettuce with French dressing and a dessert such as ginger bread and applesauce, crisp cookies and canned fruit, or sliced bananas or fruit baby served with hard sauce, round out a chowder luncheon satisfactorily.

When eggs are used in the salad, a simple dessert without eggs should be chosen. But if a plain salad green is planned, the dessert should make up the lacking calories.

Finely minced parsley sprinkled over the top of each serving adds to the flavor as well as the attractiveness of the dish. "Coin" spots of paprika also add color. Grated cheese stirred into the hot soup after serving increases its food value and enriches the taste for older children.

Mixed Vegetable Chowder
Two cups diced potatoes, 2 cups diced carrots, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1-2 cup diced turnips, 2 onions, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups boiling water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-1 teaspoon pepper, 3 cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in kettle and add onions finely minced. Cover and cook over a low fire for five minutes. Add remaining vegetables and water. Cover and bring to the boiling point. Simmer 20 minutes. Add remaining flour in sauce pan and stir in flour. Cook and stir until thickly and bring to the boiling point. Add with salt and pepper to cooked vegetables. Stir and cook five minutes and serve in soup plates.

Milady's Shoes To Be Colorful During 1930

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—Longer skirts demanded daintier and dresier footwear for women this year, with high heels returning to popularity, shoe stylists at the National Shoe Retailers' convention here said. Shoes are to be more colorful than ever before.

The footwear fashion show reveals that shoes are more feminine, and that the silhouette gowns require shoes of a design that avoids the more utilitarian effect created by the short skirt era. New tones of blue and green to complement the shades of spring dresses are seen, with brown, white and combinations in the background. Shoes also are in demand to match dress accessories. Snake skin shoes are popular, with lizard and python skins in demand in the higher grades. Black footwear will be worn in the early spring with medium shades of brown appearing later. For summer, light colors will be provided.

Mrs. shoes are still the richest man in all Italy. Prices are about the same this year as last.

MARIE JOSE AND HUBERT WED TODAY

King Victor, is reputed to be the richest man in all Italy. The nuptial mass was celebrated "according to royal prerogative."

Cardinal Maffi then blessed the rings of the two and they exchanged them. The choir began "Oramus Pro Principe nostro—let us pray for our prince." The cardinal pronounced them man and wife and the music went on, punctuated with other bits of music. At its conclusion the cardinal read then the terms of the pope's letter of special benediction to the young people.

Then arm and arm they marched down the central aisle of the chapel, bowing and smiling to the right and left, the future king and queen of Italy. They went through the palace to the balcony where they were accorded a tremendous ovation by the crowd gathered below. They were cheered to the echo by the multitude, which included Fascist organizations drawn up in military formation.

The ceremony over the bride and bridegroom went directly to the Vatican for a private audience with Pope Pius XI.

Humbert and the new princess of Piedmont arrived at the Vatican frontier just before one o'clock. They had been delayed 25 minutes because of a great crush of people about the quinal palace. Police and soldiers had the utmost difficulty in clearing a way.

Pope Pius smiled benignly when they finally were ushered into his presence. He dismissed their excuses for their tardiness with a gesture and told them how much their visit pleased him.

The Vatican was bedecked with the Italian, Belgian and Papal flags.

of Broadway to bring gripping drama to the sound screen. "Night Parade" is a succession of thrills, plots, white-hot love, burning romance, and an attempt to break a father's heart through being disgraced to the son who he and the world had learned to loathe.

Hugh Trevor and Dorothy Gulliver, despite the efforts of Allen Pringle and Robert Ellis to pull a popular idol from the pedestal, Lloyd Ingraham enacts the father, and Lee Shumway gives a convincing performance as the sports writer who appoints himself a committee of one to see that the teeth are drawn from the menaces to a boy's reputation and a father's devotion.

"Night Parade" was written by George Abbott, Ted Parmore and Hyatt Lewis. It was produced under the direction of Mal St. Clair.
