NAVAL MEETING MOST IMPORTANT

So Says President Hoover in Statement to Newspaper Men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — President Hoover Tuesday described the forthcoming naval limitations meeting at London as "the most important of international conferences of a great many years, and probably the most important for many years to come."

"The progress of peace for the world rests in a great measure upon the shoulders of the five delegations," the president added. "There is good will toward the conference on the part of every nation, the importance and the gravity of the occasion have been recognized in the dispatch to London of the leading men of every country. They have the will to succeed."

The president's statement was made at his regular press conference some hours after he had held a final conference with American delegates and their technical advisers. He said:

"I am sure the whole nation bids Godspeed to the American delegation that leaves tomorrow for the London naval arms conference. The people and the governments of the five nations assembling at this meeting are sincerely desirous that agreements should be brought about about by which competition and construction of naval arms is brought to an end, and by which actual reduction in naval burdens

Four Fliers Killed In Egypt, Report

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — The British air ministry announced today that four members of the royal air force had been killed at Abu Sueir, Egypt, in a collision of two airplanes in midair.

"The conclusions of the conference must be such as to give a sense of security and satisfaction to each of the nations. Permanent peace is never based on either taking advantage of or accepting a position of prejudice."

"The technology and the complexity of the problem are such that we need hope for no immediate and quick results. To complete the conference in three or four months would be in itself a great accomplishment, and we should not expect any hurried conclusions. It is the most important of international conferences of a great many years, and probably the most important for many years to come. The progress of peace for the world rests in a great measure upon the shoulders of the five delegations. There is good will toward the conference on the part of every nation. The importance and the gravity of the occasion have been recognized by the dispatch to London of the leading men of every country. They have the will to succeed."

"I hope that the people of our country will cooperate in the progress of the conference by patience, encouragement, and freedom from criticism. We go to London in a fine atmosphere of international good will, and it is the duty of our country to preserve that atmosphere so far as lies within our power."

RECOVER TWO BODIES

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 7 (AP)—The bodies of Kenneth Hawkes, motion picture director and Thomas Harris, studio property man, two of the ten victims of last Thursday's midair crash of two airplanes engaged in filming a movie thriller over the Pacific ocean, were recovered from the sunken wreckage of one of the planes yesterday.
