"Socks are allus too long; neckties are too funny lookin'; cigars are never the kind we smoke; gloves are either too big or too little, an' most anybody's got a muffer — I really do believe a Christmas card is the safest bet after all, an' besides they make it easier to reciprocate," says Late Bud.

OFFICE CAT TRADE MARK REG. By Junius

I am just a bit suspicious about the person who starts his sentences with "they say." I wouldn't trust such a person with my secrets. A writer by the name of Flynn knows what he's talking about when he writes:

"They say" has wrought more havoc than most words in the dictionary. "They say" has ruined reputations and blackballed characters. "They say" has caused runs on banks and has cost fortunes.

"They say" is only an excuse to vilify and gossip. "They say" has caused broken hearts and suicides.

The love of seeing our names in the paper is universal.

By staffing the drawers with unfinished work, some fellows manage to keep their desk tops clean and "business-like."

There will be no business for a lawyer if he has no business outfit in his pocket.

"Between the dark and the daylight, when the night is beginning to close," says the children, "rejoice, the next time you see a man carrying a brief case."

"Come a partner in the day's preparation that is followed by a good cold shower," came from the back row.

Two little buddies were comparing notes. "What does your father do when you ask him questions?" one asked.

"He generally says, 'Um busy now, don't bother me,'" replied the other. "Then when I go out of the room he looks in the encyclopedia."

Before marriage she makes a fool of him and after marriage keeps him feeling like one by reminding him she loves letters to him.

FRENCH HOTEL OWNERS MUST DISGORGE TIPS

PARIS (AP)—Who gets the tips when hotels add 10 per cent "for services" is by way of being decided.

Senator Justin Godart told parliament that many hotelkeepers took a considerable share for themselves. That is to be stopped by a law which already has passed the senate.

Tips in hotels which leave customers to fight their own way out past a line of extended palms seem to be growing. France's prosperity and years of publicity about Wall Street profits have whetted the appetites of those who receive.

Dempsey Ranks Sharkey At Top Of Heavy Heap

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—So far as Jack Dempsey is concerned, the heavyweight champion of the world is Jack Sharkey of Boston. Banking the losses in each division for the ring, a little miscellany, the old Max Baer master places Sharkey at the top of the heap and terms him the "uncredited world's heavyweight champion."

Back of the Boston sailor Dempsey ranks Max Schmeling of Germany; Tuffy Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia., and Phil Sost of England. Then he groups seven men—Tommy Loughran, Otto Von Erpf, George Godfrey, Johnny Haska, Victoria Campese, Young Strickling and Pauline Ceculan. The rank-

Your Financial Engineer...

Financial wrecks vary in the seriousness of the damage suffered. If your total savings amount to $100 and you lost it all by investing in some fake stock, your finances are ruined.

The important thing for everyone who has accumulated or seeks to accumulate money, is not that a few people suffer financial wrecks, but WHY? You could probably name lots of reasons why certain men fail. Not always, but in many cases it's due largely to the lack of sound financial judgment and advice—lack of a financial engineer to steer the proper course.
