Butterfat And Butter Prices Soar This Week

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 16 (AP) —With the threatened heavy surplus reduced by smaller receipts, butter and butterfat prices made material advances today with 3c added to the two top grades and 2c to the two lower grades. Butterfat went up a full 3c. This gives the producer a 6c advance since Monday. Butter extras were bid at 37c and butterfat at 37c delivered Portland.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Portland bureau of the United States department of agriculture says:

"There was practically no trading on the wholesale fruit and vegetable market, except for a few deliveries to retailers on telephone orders, on account of heavy snow and drifted streets. All prices were nominally unchanged, although with many commodities there were too few sales to establish definite values."

Closing Heavy In Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — Persistent demand for utility and several of the leading industrial shares lifted the stock market irregularly higher today. Despite another bear onslaught against isolated shares. Trading expanded notably. Sales during the first two hours of trading totalled nearly 1,500,000 shares, exceeding turnover of the full five hour session on Monday.

Offerings of various low priced shares, particularly the motors, eventually weakened the rising trend and the list turned downward in the late dealings. U. S. Steel sold 1 point under the Wednesday close and much of the gain in the electrical and utility issues was erased. The close was heavy. Sales approximated 2,900,000 shares.

WHEAT SHAKY AT CLOSE IN CHICAGO MART

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (AP) — Wheat prices scored an early upturn here today helped by reports that Brazil is asking for offers of wheat from North America. In this connection, dispatches were at hand stressing the poor quality of the new Argentine wheat crop. Opening unchanged to ¾ higher, Chicago wheat afterwards scored gains all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting unchanged to ¼ up, and substantially holding near to the high figures.

Wheat closed shaky, ½ to 1⅝c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅛ to 1⅜ down, oats ½ to ⅞ off, and provisions varying from 5@7c decline to a rise of 25c.

Wool Growers In Convention Today

THE DALLES, Ore., Jan. 16 — (AP)—With sixty members already gathered from all Oregon points, and many more expected before night, the 33rd annual convention of the Oregon State Wool Growers association convened here today, the city of its birth on March 3, 1898. An anticipated attendance of 300 was cut because of the winter storms which have swept the interior and rendered motor travel difficult.

Walter P. Mahoney of Heppner was elected president of the association, and Walter A. Holt of Pendleton was elected secretary as the first business of the organization today.

State Highway Commission To Let Contracts

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 16 (AP) —The Oregon state highway commission, with county judges from practically every section of the state in attendance, today opened bids for road and bridge construction totalling $1,133,524, all of the work to start within the immediate future.

Convening early during the morning, the commissioners and a jammed audience listened until after noon to the numerous bids offered on the seven state projects outlined by the commission at the last session. So large was the crowd the commissioners were forced to move from the regular meeting room to a larger one in the courthouse.

Foremost among the bids opened today was the bridge across the mouth of the Rogue river on the Coast highway. Seven bids were offered and out of them Mercer and Fraser Construction company of Eureka, Cal., lead with a low bid of $566,181. Other bids ranged as high as $773,293 and 677,285.

Clemenceau And Foch Lead 1929 Death Roll Over Civilized World

By Charles P. Stack
(A. P. Biographical Editor)

NEW YORK (AP) — Death, respector of no class or creed, closed the careers during 1929 of an unusually large number of persons widely known for their leadership in their respective spheres or because of the high stations they occupied.

Among them were many whose achievements won for them fame throughout the world.

The most noted figures to pass from the world stage were Georges Clemenceau and Marshal Ferdinand Foch. It was Clemenceau, the statesman who, as prime minister welded together all France for the final strike in the world war and made Foch commander of the French army. From that post the marshal advanced to command of the allied armies to finally achieve victory.

There was somewhat of a coincidence in the writing of "30" on the careers of two eminent journalists, Melville E. Stone, one of the organizers and for 25 years general manager of The Associated Press, and Thomas (Tay Pay) O'Connor, "father of the house of commons." Mr. Stone preceded his famous Irish contemporary in life by two months and in death by nine months.

Deaths among noted churchmen included Cardinal Gasquet, regarded as one of the most learned men in the world, and Cardinal Dubois, head of the Catholic church in France; the Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in America and Bishop Charles H. Brent of the Methodist Episcopal church. Another religious and social work leader who died was General William Brainwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army.

The careers of 10 members of congress—three senators and eight representatives, were terminated by death. The senators were Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, the dean of the senate; Theodore E. Burton of Ohio and Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee. There also died during the year Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, a former senator and representative, and Victor L. Berger, former congressman.

Public officials and political leaders who died during the year included James W. Good, secretary of war; Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, and Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy.

Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister of Germany, Lord Rosebury, noted British statesman, Prince Bernhard von Bulow, former German chancellor, and Prince Max von Baden, the last German imperial chancellor were prominent Europeans who died.

Two widely known capitalists who died were Asa Griggs Candler, called the "coca cola king" and Benjamin N. Duke, one of the wealthiest tobacco magnates in the country. Other leaders in business included Samuel Rea, former president of the Pennsylvania railroad and Thomas E. Mitten, of Philadelphia, traction magnate; Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company; Louis Marshall, noted New York lawyer and leader in Hebrew activities; and Ulysses S. Grant Jr., son of the late president.

The curtain was rung down for the last time on several stars of the amusement world. Among them were Lily Langtry, an oldtime actress noted for her beauty; Raymond Hitchcock and Frank Keenan, veteran actors; Jeanne Eagels, a young star; John Cort, theatrical producer and manager, and Henry Arthur Jones, a British dramatist.

The world of sports lost one of its most picturesque figures in the death of George L. (Tex) Rickard, promoter of world's champion boxing bouts; three who won fame in baseball—Miller J. Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees; George T. Stallings, once called the Miracle Man of baseball, and Joe McGinnity, whose pitching stunts earned him the title of "iron man;" John E. Madden, widely known breeder of race horses, and Edward Payson Weston, veteran pedestrian.

She's Getting Thinner Every Day

Her Fat is Melting Fast Away

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning.

The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts at the Red Cross Drug store or any drug store (lasts 4 weeks) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

One Montana woman lost 15 pounds of fat in 3 weeks and feels better than she has for years.

Library Chats

By Mabel E. Doty,
Librarian

The following new books recently put into circulation at the public Library will make excellent reading for cold winter evenings:

"Queen Elizabeth," by Catharine Anthony. The story of one of the world's greatest queens. Queen Elizabeth is shown here with those contemporaries who were closest to her—Burghley, Leicester, Essex and the tragic Mary, Queen of Scots. A most interesting biography.

"The Last Home of Mystery," by E. Alexander Powell. A record of high adventure in the curious and mysterious kingdom of Nepal, hidden among the fastnesses of the Himalayas, north of India.

"The Tragic Era", by Claud Bowers. The dark era of intrigue and corruption that stretched from Lincoln's assassination to close of the Grant Administration. An absorbin narrative.

"Peter the Great", by Stephen Graham. "The weird combination of child and friend in the nature of the Tartar of Russia makes reading that is picturesque and exciting."

"The Sea Devils Fo'c'sle", by Lowell Thomas. The story of Count von Luckner who has dipped "again in his sea chest for new nautical yarns and tales."

Health Talks

In attempting to present an understandable and inclusive picture of the human machine, Dr. Mathews, professor of physiological chemistry of the University of Chicago, draws a comparison between the body and an oil lamp.

"The body may be likened," writes Dr. Mathews, "to a lamp, which as long as combustion (burning) continues, continues to give light and heat. So the body, as long as it continues to burn—or, as it is called in living things, to respire (breathe) — continues to give off heat and those various forms of energy found in living things.

"And just as the lamp, if the supply of oil runs low, burns its wick, one of its constituent parts, and is ultimately extinguished; so in the body, if the supply of food or raw material for combustion is exhausted, it burns in part its own substance and then life is extinguished.

"But, while this analogy with a lamp or candle is in many ways most apt, it must not be pushed too far, for the body not only burns the fuel supplied to it, but manufactures or repairs the wasting of the machine of the body. It is as if the lamp were able to make new wick material from the oil so as to make good the loss of wick material which occurs daily."

But to accomplish this growth and repair the body must be supplied with a variety of foods; it must, more strictly speaking, have a proper balance of fats, starches, and proteins, as well as a sufficiency of mineral substances and vitamins.

It is this that we wish to provide by urging balanced diets. The total diet in terms of calories will of course be determined on the basis of the work the body is called on to do.

The heavier the work in terms of muscular effort, the more generous the diet should be. But assuming an average daily diet of 3000 calories, the required energy should be taken in approximately the following ratios: 400 calories in proteins, 800 in fats, and 1800 in starches.

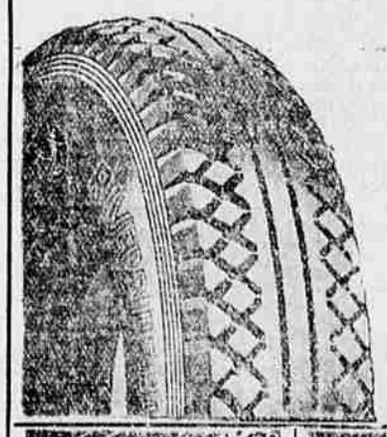
Sensational Increases in Riverside Guarantees

. . . with no increase in prices!



ACTUAL mileage records developed by our own large fleet of test cars, and the experience of millions of users have conclusively proved that the former mileage guarantees on RIVERSIDE tires . . . while most liberal . . . did not fully express the superlative quality of the tires themselves.

To more closely represent actual RIVERSIDE performance, we announce these new and greater mileage guarantees—covering a complete line of tires that conform to such specific standards of service only because they embody the finest of materials, the most modern design, and the expert workmanship that all superfine tires must receive.

Back of each of these sensational guarantees stands the prestige and responsibility of an organization whose record of 57 years of fair-dealing is unquestioned!
