Coffee flavor is the most sensitive thing that enters your kitchen—easy to go wrong. Try to make cheap coffee and good coffee on successive mornings—week after week. How good will your good coffee be? And it is far more difficult in blending and roasting coffee. There is only one place where only good coffee is made—the Schilling roasting rooms. No cheap blends—no 2nd or 3rd grades are ever found there. The finest things usually come from those who make fine things only.

and South Africans at his side. Nearly half the space in the huge room was taken up by the newspapers, who numbered more than 200. Presence of Lord Dawson of Penn, his majesty's physician, on a seat back of the delegation table was accepted as a mere precaution in the event of some mishap to the sovereign. King Is Ceased King George remained in the conference hall only long enough to hear his speech translated into French, the official diplomatic language of Europe, and then made his departure. Outside Westminster he raised his hat in acknowledgment of cheers from the handful of people who remained in front. In the few minutes between his arrival and departure the fog lifted sufficiently to permit somewhat greater visibility. Ramsey MacDonald was at his post as an orator when he made his address. With the musical tone of an artist he held his hearers in charmed attention. Colonel Stimson sat almost immobile and listened. Archie Hamilton, to whom the day's ceremonies could have held little novelty, rested his chin on his hand and looked straight ahead, but his address—like that of King George—went without applause. The hour and the historical precincts of the summer old gallery had made their impress of serious quietude on the entire assembled company. The initial pronouncement of the American and British governments, embodying the principles which must largely guide the basic decisions of the conference were separated by but a brief interval while the interpreters repeated the prime minister's address in French. Carefully Prepared Colonel Stimson, speaking for the United States pronounced slowly the phrases of his carefully prepared address, reading dispassionately from the manuscript which he held in his left hand. His only emphasis was that conveyed by the undulating tone of his deep voice and by an occasional nod of his head. He had no trouble making himself heard. Colonel Hamilton for Canada spoke without a manuscript. With his hands at his sides he made his point by turning from side to side and speaking to individuals around the table. Each of the British commissioners added his word to the general chorus of conciliation, the first of the representatives being J. E. Denton of Australia. When the formal opening addresses, which were broadcast by a worldwide hookup, had been completed the conference adjourned to reconvene Thursday morning at ten o'clock in St. James palace. Tomorrow the delegates will spend an informal discussion to clear the way for Thursday's meeting which will be a private one.
