S. $250,000 WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 23,000,000 undelivered letters were buried in 1929 in the dead letter departments of the post ofices and $250,000 thereby reverted to the United States treasury. That amount represented money received in mail coming to the offices, and the proceeds from the sale of undeliverable articles of value. An odd assortment of articles found their way to the dead letter offices. Novels were scattered in magazines and papers; milk hose and lingerie issued travel under outwearing periodicals. An internal machine, revolvers peering cautiously from the lips of best sellers, a human skull suggestive of a Borneo head hunter, and an arsenal of arms were among the "dead letters." Letters usually reach the dead letter offices after they have been held in other post offices two weeks. They are opened here with a lightning cutter, capable of handling 50,000 pieces of mail a day. Money is held for a year, and then, if delivery cannot be made, goes to the treasury. A woman lecturer in New York talked for two hours without referring to her notes, says a newspaper. The novelty part of that is that she did it in public.

Encircle World In Ten Days Is Husted's Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—A modern Jules Verne steps forward to encircle the world in 10 days by airplane. The Jules Verne of another day pictured man girdling the world in 25 days. Meams and Collier completed their globe tour in less than 84 days; Harry A. Husted, Cleveland manufacturer, hopes to pale wild fancy and solid achievement. Husted, arranging changes in the Cocker P-22 he has ordered for the trip, plans to leave the west coast June 15, off the beaten track over boldly projected routes. The flight over the Pacific may be non-stop, with a refueling over the Hawaiian islands and first stop in China. He then will fly northward through Siberia, heading for Moscow, Paris, England, New York and the west. "Newer developments in multi-motored airplanes, in the manufacture of fuel and oil, and in refueling," he said, "will make ocean hops in heavier-than-air craft regular ventures in the future." James Dales of Western Air Express will be chief pilot. There will be plenty for the crew of four to do besides operating the ship. Husted will have maps to check the layout of strange countries. In the nose of the fuselage will be still and motion picture cameras, half-tone and colored, and over every inch of the way he hopes to keep them clicking. These will be the first pictures of a world-girdling flight and, because of their educational value, several hundred thousand feet of them will be given to the bureau of education in Washington. There will also be "household duties." Husted will be the cook. He can cook everything, he said, except pie. Catwalks around each of the four Pratt and Whitney Wasps will permit overhauling of motors in flight. The engines will be mounted in two tandems. The fuel and oil will be of special type and the plane, which will weigh 12,570 pounds, will be able to carry 15,500 pounds of fuel. Between 60 and 88 gallons an hour is the anticipated gasoline consumption. VODKA KILLS FOXES; EXPERT FACES COURT ARCHANGEL (AP)—Three years ago an Arctic fox farm was opened on Kolguey Island, in the Arctic ocean, by the state trading department. A certain Professor Podorozki, who claimed to be an expert on fox breeding, was placed at the head of the enterprise. He started in by feeding salt fish to the animals, and giving them vodka as a universal remedy against all sickness. As a result, the last of the 211 Arctic foxes on the Island died a few days ago, leaving the professor sole consumer of the remaining stock of vodka. He has been placed under arrest and will soon face trial for wasting government resources. "Amusement Stocks Active," says a headline on the market page. We had almost forgotten there were amusement stock lists in Wall Street.
