value of the whole club. Stripp was not a big success but while he was falling down Young Cuccinello, alternating between second and third, was setting the A. A. on fire.

Furthermore, Chic finished second among the big thumping troupe in the A. A. last year. He whaled the ball at a .358 clip, getting 56 doubles, ten triples and 70 homers. And that's tolerably good swatting for a fellow who weighs only 155 pounds.

Chic, a native of Astoria, N. Y., signed with Syracuse in the International League in 1926. He was formed to Lawrence in the New England loop where he batted .233. For the same club in 1927, he batted .319.

Going to Danville in the Three-I circuit in 1928 he again hit .319 and late in the summer was bought by Columbus where he batted .326 in 14 games.

Chic bats right handed. His first name is Anthony. Yet they call him Chic.

STOCKMEN HAVE PLENTY OF HAY

Wallowa County Farmers, Remembering Last Winter, Have Ample Supply

By Mrs. William Wiggins (Observer Correspondent)

LOSTINE, Ore. (Special) — With the weather conditions somewhat moderated, the stockmen are compelled to do much feeding. The snow in most places is from 2 to 15 inches deep. The snow plows have been busy during the last few days in scraping the highways which the county engineer, J. D. Walker reports were easily cleared on account of the snow being light and dry. Wallowa county farmers were looking forward to this winter and put up much hay for feeding purposes and will have plenty to go through the winter. Last winter they were compelled to go long distances to haul hay to their stock, some even going out of the county. Some of the horses that are coming out of the mountain ranges look fine for this time of year.

Guy Skaggs, of Enterprise, who went to California some time ago, writes to his friend that California is having her share of winter as he drove through two feet of snow within 50 or 60 miles of Los Angeles, and he said that it could surely rain there and when it stopped he would start out to see the country.

Last Saturday saw a train of 42 deck loads of late lambs shipped to eastern markets. The lambs were winter fed at the Johnson-Franklin and Dobbin-Dunne farms. They have been in the habit of selling to Portland markets a few carloads at a time but the eastern buyer took the train load all at once to the lambs were the small lambs of under weight when the fall shipments were made and by feeding them this winter they have grown to about 80 pounds each. They have about two carloads when they will ship to the Portland markets later.

Martin Harsin, of the Buttes, was brought to Enterprise hospital recently as he was very ill.

Walter Arnold, who was arrested at Minam charged with possession of a still, waived examination and was held to the grand jury. His bonds were set at $1000 and he was lodged in the county jail.

Mrs. Berkeley Candler entertained the Christian Ladies Aid Tuesday with 17 members present. Delectable refreshments were served by Mrs. Candler, assisted by Mrs. George Wart. A special meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 28 as the women have special work to do. Mrs. O. J. Daley will be hostess and a potluck lunch will be served. A dance was given Saturday evening in the amusement hall with a fair-sized crowd present.

There is no reason for the citizens of Lostine to be without ice next summer as the ice is fine on the river. Several braved the zero weather to put up their supply.

William Wiggins and the Cassin brothers have their woodzard in condition and from now until spring will keep the sawdust fly-boys at bay. They have several hundred feet of wood down and ready to be sawed up.

Cuccinello May Be Panacea For Reds' Headache

By Jay Vessels Sports Editor (Associated Press Feature Service)

NEW YORK (AP) — A small package containing one midget ball player, consigned to Cincinnati, may be the cure the Reds need for a very bad headache.

The headache, it seems, was contracted when Cincy bought a whole ball club to get one promising rookie. That rookie flizzed but the club the next season produced another prospect that promises to make the original investment pay a good return.

Chic Cuccinello is the new youngster who is counted upon to make Redville forget the disappointment over the failure of Jersey Joe Stripp to come up to expectations.

The hope is that the Reds decided to buy the Columbus franchise of the American association two years ago after finding that the price on Stripp alone represented a sizeable portion of the

YOUNG WOMEN SEEK VICTORY AT TRUCKEE

TAHOE TAVERN, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP) — Two young women met in the snow here today, shook hands and sealed a pact. "May the best woman win," they said, "but above all, let the best man lose."

The women were Thula Geelan of McCall, Idaho, and "Whistling" Hutchison of Ashton, Idaho, sole feminine entrants in the 20 mile dog derby to be run through the snows between Tahoe and Truckee Friday, Saturday and Sunday. By their pact they are out to beat the men.

The race is to be run in daily laps of 39 miles each. Cash prizes totaling $4000 and possession for a year of the Marco Hellman trophy go to the winners. Among the contenders will be "Scotty" Allen, Fay Delezene, Ted Kent and a half dozen other veterans of the snow.

Entrants went about preparations for the event today, putting their makeups over the frozen trails. The presence in the race of Delbert Groom, 17-year-old entrant from Rigby, Idaho, attracting as much attention as that of the two women.

Egg Prices Go Lower Today In Oregon Market

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29 (AP) — All egg grades declined again today, according to announcement from the Pacific Co-operative Poultry Producers. Fresh extras and standards dropped 2c each to 34c and 33c, respectively.

Butter prices were firm and unchanged.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Portland bureau of the United States department of agriculture says:

"Trading is good on Portland's wholesale fruit and vegetable market this week. City retailers are replenishing their stocks, following their two weeks enforced hibernation due to impassable streets. Wholesale delivery trucks are also finding their way to suburban and rural retail centers; all of which makes for active distribution.

"Most commodities are unchanged in price, although wide price ranges generally prevail, due to variation in quality of southern produce now offered for sale. Some stock shows deterioration, possibly due to too long storage in refrigerator cars last week, awaiting an opportunity to unload.

"Demand for apples is active; cheaper grades, especially cleaning up readily, both at Portland and at shipping points.

"Ninety-four cases of cauliflower were shipped from California and Arizona yesterday; this being the season's peak movement thus far.

"The potato market shows increased activity at Yakima valley shipping points, and prices are 1 to 3 dollars per ton higher than last week's close. Portland potato prices are unchanged though, and the market is rather dull."

PORTLAND HAS CHANCE

SEATTLE, Jan. 29 (AP) — By virtue of their 3 to 2 overtime victory over the homeless Victoria Cubs here last night, the Portland Bluejays will have a chance to gain momentum in the Pacific coast hockey league next Thursday night when they meet the Seattle Eskimos in the Oregon city. Last night's win put the Bluejays within one point of the first place Vancouver Lions.

After scoring a two goal lead against the Cubs, the Portland club nearly threw the game away when they lost their giant defense ace, Jack Pratt, who slipped and fell on the ice.

WHEAT PRICES DOWN THREE CENTS TODAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP) — Tumbling down nearly 3c a bushel, wheat prices today went to within a fraction of the lowest level reached here yet this season. Weakness of wheat quotations at Winnipeg, Liverpool, and Buenos Aires, together with lack of export demand for wheat from North America, had a pronounced bearish influence, especially as Russia was said to have sold 220,000 bushels of wheat to Italy and Germany. Heavy selling out of future delivery holdings of standing orders to step losses at various fixed limits was an outstanding feature of wheat operations here, with corn, oats and rye all dropping to below the season's previous level.

Wheat closed nervous to 2 1/2c lower a bushel than yesterday's price. Corn closed 1/2 to 3/4c down, oats 1/2 to 1 1/4c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2c.

OREGON WOODS

By John B. Horner (Professor and Director of Historical Research at Oregon State College)

The woods, the deep primal woods,
The incense-laden Oregon woods—
Where luscious streams and sunlit bowers
Abound in varied leaves and flowers,
And censers swing in Nature's shrine,
Exhale a fragrant breath divine.

The woods, the vast resounding woods,
The wind-swept, vibrant Oregon woods—
The zenith's plumbeous, The carcase's deep fortissimo,
The litany of happy birds—
Are halcyons without words.

The woods, the dense imposing woods,
The towering, templed Oregon woods—
A sermon every leaf reveals,
Have sympathies the woodland pools
And columned aisles mid zephyr
Tower skyward like cathedral spires.

The woods, the quaint enchanted woods,
The elfin-haunted Oregon woods—
The sighing bough and hermit owl,
The spirit at prayer and nymph in cowl,
The phantom note of mourning dove—
All tell the rosary of love.

1,400 HOMEWARD BOUND

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 29 (AP) — Fourteen hundred persons man-rooned on bleak Tierra Del Fuego when their ship, the Monte Cervantes, went ashore last Wednesday today were homeward bound, little the worse for their adventure.

The sister ship of the Monte Cervantes, the Monte Sarmiento, picked up the 1,100 tourists and 300 crew members at Ushuaia yesterday.

HAVE NO COUNTRY

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP) — British women who marry Americans have no country. So far as Great Britain is concerned they are aliens. To become Americans they must be naturalized. Foreign Secretary Henderson elucidated when questioned in the house of commons. There have been no indications of perturbation because of bachelors among the American delegation to the navy parley.

Mexico is seeking police who can speak several different languages. Why not put a few of the regular men on traffic duty?

OREGON WOODS

By John B. Horner (Professor and Director of Historical Research at Oregon State College)

The woods, the deep primal woods,
The incense-laden Oregon woods—
Where luscious streams and sunlit bowers
Abound in varied leaves and flowers,
And censers swing in Nature's shrine,
Exhale a fragrant breath divine.

The woods, the vast resounding woods,
The wind-swept, vibrant Oregon woods—
The zenith's plumbeous, The carcase's deep fortissimo,
The litany of happy birds—
Are halcyons without words.

The woods, the dense imposing woods,
The towering, templed Oregon woods—
A sermon every leaf reveals,
Have sympathies the woodland pools
And columned aisles mid zephyr
Tower skyward like cathedral spires.

The woods, the quaint enchanted woods,
The elfin-haunted Oregon woods—
The sighing bough and hermit owl,
The spirit at prayer and nymph in cowl,
The phantom note of mourning dove—
All tell the rosary of love.

1,400 HOMEWARD BOUND

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 29 (AP) — Fourteen hundred persons man-rooned on bleak Tierra Del Fuego when their ship, the Monte Cervantes, went ashore last Wednesday today were homeward bound, little the worse for their adventure.

The sister ship of the Monte Cervantes, the Monte Sarmiento, picked up the 1,100 tourists and 300 crew members at Ushuaia yesterday.
