TRACK ATHLETES LOWER RECORDS

lla Walsh and Chet owman Set New Marks For Indoor Events.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13 (AP)—Men and women track athletes had new indoor marks to shoot at today in the 45-yard sprint for men and the 220-yard sprint for women.

Miss Stella Walsh, fleet-footed Cleveland girl, shattered the world record in winning the International 220 in 26 4-5 seconds at the annual games of the Meadowbrook club in the arena last night, while Chester Bowman, Newark, A. C., hung up a new figure of five seconds flat in the 45-yard sprint.

Distance Not Recognized

Bowman's performance will not stand at a world's record, for the 45-yard distance is not recognized in international competition. The best previous record was 5 1-10 seconds, made by Percy Williams, of Canada, in 1929.

Miss Walsh's feat not only erased the old indoor record of 25 4-5 seconds jointly established by Ellen Brough, of California, and Catherine Donovan, Newark, N. J., in 1929, but also equalled the outdoor mark for the distance made by Miss Brough last year.

The Cleveland girl was about 15 yards ahead of Dallas Creamer, Canadian star, when she breasted the tape. Oliver Kreuger, of Tennessee, was third and Mabel Gilliland, New York, fourth.

Her time was 5 4-5 seconds. No record is listed for this distance, but the fast time is shown by the fact that the woman's 40-yard record is 5 -15 seconds. Last Saturday in New York Miss Walsh cut the 60-yard record to 6 seconds flat.

Elder Second

Jack Elder, Notre Dame flash, forced Bowman to the limit in the 45-yard sprint and the finish was so close that it was difficult for the judges to determine the winner. Richard Quinn, University of Maryland, finished third.

Raymond Conger, of the Illinois A. C., won the John W. Overton memorial mile. His time was 4:20.

Strangler Lewis Pins Sarpolis In Portland Match

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 13 (AP)—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's heavyweight champion wrestler, goes marching on. Last night at the auditorium he defeated Dr. Karl Sarpolis, Cleveland medic, before the largest and wildest crowd of wrestling fans that ever witnessed a match in Portland. It was the second time Lewis had turned the trick on Sarpolis, who, as in his former match, showed up well against the former champion so far as wrestling ability was concerned, but was greatly handicapped by the strategy displayed by the veteran. Lewis surprised the big crowd and Sarpolis by clamping a toe twister on the doctor before the match had been underway a minute, and 3 minutes and 46 seconds from the call of time Sarpolis pounded the mat. Sarpolis came back strong and went right after Lewis, using a little of everything and took the second fall in 17 minutes, 36 seconds with a combination flying tackle butt and his specialty, flying body scissors. Lewis asked an additional five minutes after the rest period was over. After 10 minutes of lively wrestling in the third session with the advantage seemingly in Sarpolis' favor, Lewis suddenly clamped on his famous headlock, from which the Ohio man was unable to free himself and after being slammed to the canvas three times, pinned him down. Sarpolis was groggy and had to be helped from the ring. Lewis weighed 233 1-2 pounds, Sarpolis, 212.

In a rough and tumble 45-minute preliminary, Bob Kruse and Andy Brown wrestled to a draw, neither taking a fall.

CONNIE MACK IS GIVEN BOK AWARD FOR '29

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13 (AP)—Connie Mack, veteran manager of the world's champion Athletics, has received the 1929 Edward W. Bok award, presented annually to the man or woman who, during the preceding twelve months, "rendered the most outstanding service to Philadelphia."

The gift, a $10,000 check enclosed in an ivory case, a gold medal and a scroll, was presented last night at a private dinner at which Mack and 50 prominent citizens were guests of the board of trustees of the award.

Mack, who had been in Florida awaiting the beginning of the baseball training season, made a hurried trip from the south to receive the honor, heretofore bestowed upon artists, scientists, educators and philanthropists.

Charles E. Fox, former district attorney, made the presentation speech and lauded the gray-haired manager for his years of effort devoted to the honest, decency and efficiency of the national game."

Sport Slants

by ALAN J. GOULD

"Frank Hinkey unquestionably was the greatest end of all time" declared big old teammate and fullback, Frank Butterworth. Hinkey and Butterworth dominated Yale football in the early half of the Mauve Decade. They were as inseparable then, as friends and players, as their names are inevitably linked with the greatest of 12th arbitron traditions.

"History has made a legendary figure out of Hinkey," went on Butterworth, "Strip all that away and still the facts are he had no equal. Of slight build, to look at him, he was all sinew, lithe and quick. He had a way of seeming almost to sink into the ground as a mass play came at his end. Hinkey would disappear but invariably he emerged with his arms around the ball-carrier. He tackled with a quick movement that made the very weight of the ball-carrier contribute to its force. To this was due the legend of Hinkey's fierce tackling. It was his skill, not his strength, that accomplished it."

The story is told of Tom Shevlin, famous end of later Yale days and sometimes rated with Hinkey in the All-Time class.

Hinkey was Shevlin's idol, pattern and inspiration in end play. Tom was a physical giant by comparison. As he developed, gained fame, Shevlin wondered whether perhaps he was not improving on Hinkey's record and prowess. Finally he mentioned the matter one day to Mike Murphy, the famous trainer.

"Mike, am I a pretty good end?" he asked.

"You sure are."

"Do you think perhaps I am as good as Hinkey?"

Old Mike pondered a moment, then fished into his pocket and hauled out two coins.

"See them, Tom?" He displayed a nickel and a penny."

"Well, that penny, that's you. The nickel, that's Hinkey."

Hinkey was All-American end in 1891-2-3-4. Five Yale players were picked from the Yale team of 1894 for Walter Camp's mythical eleven—Hinkey, Stillman, Hickok, Adee and Butterworth. Shevlin was all-America end in 1902-4-5.

Cleveland, which has not enjoyed a pennant since Tris Speaker led the tribe to victory in 1920, may prove the main obstacle to another triumph for the world's champion Athletics. More ballyhoo will be turned out for Bob Shawkey's Yankees but Roger Peckinpaugh's Indians have better prospects of going places and doing things in the forthcoming race.

Cleveland picked up two of the best first-year men of 1929 in Wes Ferrell, pitcher, and Earl Averill, outfielder. Joe Sewell, the former all-around Yale star who burned on the Eastern league last season, the Indians have one of the best college products since George Sisler.

Youth predominates on the Cleveland club with enough old heads like the Sewells, Jamieson, Faul and Pinsero to maintain a balance. The pitching corps is one of the best in the league with Ferrell, Miller, Shaute, Hudlin to do the heavy work.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

William Muldoon, who likes Phil Scott as a fighter and who declared Johnny Risko was too small for Carnera, once managed John H. Sullivan. . . . Stretch Murphy, Purdue's great center, is 6 feet 8 inches tall. . . . Coach Piggy Lambert noticed that Stretch didn't play so well away from home as on the home floor. . . . He asked Murphy about it and Stretch told him maybe it was because he didn't get much sleep folded up in those Pullman berths. . . . Piggy discovered that the partition between upper berths could be removed. . . . So now he always hires two uppers for the Stretch to do his dozing in. . . . "It costs us an extra fare and Pullman charges," says Piggy. "But you ought to see that guy play after a night in two upper berths."

MALONEY BEATS FRIEDMAN

BOSTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Jimmy Maloney technically knocked out Al Friedman, his Boston heavyweight rival, in the fourth round here last night, when Friedman plunged through the ropes and struck his head on the edge of the ring. The accident rendered Friedman unconscious for several minutes. Friedman had launched a furious rush at Maloney which the latter side-stepped.

"SHALL SHAPE AND SHADOW OVERFLOW"
[John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
