Among the citations which will comprise the lesson-sermon will be the following from the Bible: "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me into his heavenly kingdom; to whom be glory for ever and ever" (11 Tim. 4:18).

The lesson-sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation" (p. 482). "In Science we learn that it is material sense, not Soul, which sins; and it will be found that it is the sense of sin which is lost, and not a sinful soul" (p. 482).

PERILOUS HOPS ESSENTIAL PLANE BUILDER ASSERTS

GLENDALE, Cal. (AP)—Long, hazardous flights are essential to advancement of flying, concludes Allen Louhead after 18 years spent developing fast airplanes. But this does not mean indiscriminate ocean flying, he adds.

Long hops, Louhead says, give builders an accurate record of performance and stability. They determine what weight can be carried without danger. Also, it is learned how a plane acts in the upper reaches with a full load.

"Only through these experiments can transcontinental and intercontinental air passenger service be developed," he asserts. "Wind and general weather conditions can become known only in this way. Upper air winds especially concern long distance fliers. On his second projected non-stop

Tacoma-to-Tokyo flight Lt. Harold Bromley expects to chart the upper air winds. "Aviators know what that means. If one flier can tell others what conditions to expect at a 4000-foot altitude at points along a route, they can determine their actions accordingly."

Grinding For Bad Hay
AMES, Ia. (AP)—Tests at Iowa state college reveal that cows prefer whole hay or fodder to ground roughage. Grinding alfalfa does not seem to add to the digestibility of the hay, or make it more palatable. The operation is considered an unnecessary expense.

Bananas From Canada
WASHINGTON (AP)—Canada exports bananas to the United States. Out of more than 5,000,000 bunches imported one month last year, says the commerce department, 3583 were supplied by Canada—of rather, by Canada.

Aid Oyster Farmers
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina is giving the oyster a big hand. To encourage private oyster farming, the state board of conservation and development has offered to lease state-owned bottoms free for two years.

Turkey Co-ops Come Back
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Raising turkeys for cooperative shipment to central markets is staging a comeback in North Carolina. In Anson county, one of the leaders, home demonstration club women meet at a central point where the turkeys are picked, dressed and shipped.

Horses Getting Old
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Horses and mules used on farms in North Carolina are getting old. There were 408,411 in 1925 and figures for 1928 show very little change. Imports of 5000 work animals annually indicate the almost entire absence of colts.

Auto Use Boosts Chromium
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rapid expansion in chromium consumption is attributed by Lewis a Smith, bureau of mines, in part to extensive adoption of the metal for plating automobile parts.

Stars of Spring Beginning To Appear In The East, Led by Leo

By Robert H. Baker
(Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois)
URBANA, Ill. (AP)—With the approach of spring, Orion and the dog stars have moved into the southern sky in the early evening. The stars of spring are beginning to appear in the east, led by the constellation Leo.

On the first of the month Leo is in full view above the eastern horizon after 9 o'clock in the evening. This constellation is easily recognized by its sickle of bright stars, with Regulus, its brightest star, at the end of the handle. Below the sickle is a right triangle whose lowest star is Denebola.

Regulus marks the front paw of the lion and Denebola locates the tail. To the left of Leo, in the northeast, the great dipper is balanced on its handle. It is interesting to watch its upward progress from night to night at the same hour, until about the first of May it will be found inverted high in the north.

A line from the lowest star in the dipper two-thirds of the way toward Denebola in Leo directs the eye to the large faint star-cluster of Coma Berenices. This cluster marks the location of the north galactic pole, the point farthest north of the milky way.

With the telescope the region of Leo and Coma is remarkable for the enormous number of spiral nebulae which can be seen. The spirals are vast systems of stars presumably like our own and so far beyond it that their distance must be reckoned in millions of light-years. Just as the stars in our own galactic system gather into clusters, so these exterior galaxies are assembled into "galaxies of galaxies." Hundreds may be counted on a single photograph in this part of the sky.

Some people can make a dollar go a long way, and others can keep it from going at all.
