Musical Program Feature of Club Session Tuesday

When the La Grande Neighborhood club met in the auditorium of the La Grande High school yesterday afternoon W. W. Nusbbaum, of the Eastern Oregon Normal school, and of the La Grande High school, presented a program on "Instruments of the Orchestra" which he developed with the aid of members of the high school orchestra.

The opening number was "Percussion" by Maurice Baron presented by the orchestra. Mr. Nusbbaum then explained something of the composition and early development of orchestras bringing out the instrument families used in the orchestras of today.

Miss Edna Turner gave a paper on the "History of the Violin" in which she brought out romantic and historically interesting facts concerning the violin family which make up the backbone of an orchestra and especially of the violin itself, the center of the "family group."

A violin solo, a Mexican serenade by Ponce, "Capriccio" was given by Miss Virginia McWilliams accompanied by Miss Edna Towery.

Another number by the orchestra, "The Nightingale" was explained by Mr. Nusbbaum, who next played, "The Toy Grandchildren" by Leo Edwards.

Dolph Skerbitz gave an interesting talk on the history of the Kluge after which he played "The Nightingale" and "The Frog" by Lauchler and "Reverie" by E. C. Fainliner, accompanied by Mr. Nusbbaum at the piano.

"A History of Brass Instruments" was then given by Leo Johnson and following this Wayne Nusbbaum played a trombone solo, "A Serenade" by Grotto, also accompanied by Mr. Nusbbaum.

The last number was "Hymn to the Norse Gods" by Greig, played by the orchestra, showing effects obtainable with brass instruments.

The program of the day was under the direction of the program music committee. Mrs. H. N. Ashby introduced Mr. Nusbbaum and his high school orchestra. Others on this committee are: Miss Ida McMeekin, Mrs. H. C. McChesney, Mrs. Lee Reynolds, Mrs. H. H. Richardson, Miss Gladys Miller, Mrs. W. E. Adler, Mrs. R. Ralph Clark, Mrs. George Richardson and Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Jr.

During the business meeting Mrs. H. G. Smith reported that the Highway Beautification committee had received more than sixty dollars as a result of the series of parties given by the committee last week.

This group hopes to encourage the beautifying of business district and of private homes along Adams avenue, the street on which the Old Oregon Trail passes through La Grande. Prizes are to be offered.

The chairman also made a plea for preserving trees in the city at present as well as the wild flowers which beautify the highway in spring. The committee also hopes to bring a speaker to this city to give instructions on further beautification of the highways.

Mrs. S. R. Morgan announced the concert to be given March 4 in the Presbyterian church to raise money for purchasing organ chimes, which many feel will be a distinct asset to the community.

There will be a colonial silver tea, Saturday, Feb. 22 from 3 to 5 given by the D. A. R. at the home of Dr. Margaret Ingle. This is an annual event held on Washington's birthday. Funds are to go to a student loan fund and to local denominational colleges in the state. Mrs. Edward Moon became a member of the club at this meeting.

In response to an invitation, the club after its own adjournment, attended a meeting of the classroom teachers organization.

Mrs. Pierce Gives Talk at Meeting

Mrs. Walter M. Pierce gave an interesting talk on the "History of Oregon" at the meeting of the classroom teachers yesterday, the meeting being in honor of Oregon's birthday.

This was preceded by lantern slides, showing Oregon scenes, accompanied by a poem written by Arnold Grapig also shown on the slides. Mrs. Grapig accompanied the scenes with piano selections.

The song, "Oregon Rose" sung by the Greenwood quartet, Miss Frances Ingles, Miss Hulda Anderson, Mrs. Nell Thacker and Mrs. Eleanor Gable, concluded the delightful program.

Entertain Club At Bridge Party

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Ruckman were host and hostess to members of the La Petite Bridge club at their home on Walnut street last night at an enjoyable party. A patriotic motif, in keeping with Washington's birthday, was followed, red and white carnations featured the decorations.

High score were made by Mrs. Wayman Scott and Howard Glenn and consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. T. C. McDonald and William Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will entertain the club Mar. 4.

Choral Society In Social Meet

Members of the Lutheran choral society and their friends enjoyed a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Schilling and Mrs. Helen Schilling Saturday.

Games were a diversion with Miss Nellie DeFrees and Mrs. Walter Pohnman winning honors. The home was decorated in a valentine motif, which was also evident in the dainty refreshments.

Quiet Marriage Tuesday Evening

Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian manse, Florence Hogoboom, of Joseph, was united in marriage to William G. Cordiner, of Walla Walla, the Rev. J. George Waiz reading the marriage service. Mr. and Mrs. Cordiner will leave on Wednesday for their future home at 249 Clinton street, Walla Walla.

Seattle Woman Hides $90,000 Behind Heater

SEATTLE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Although she had lived alone in a small cottage here for many years, Mrs. Frances Jackson, 52-year-old widow of one of Seattle's early steamboat captains, today was revealed as the possessor of a fortune.

The widow, whose son William T. Shirley, 61, had her committed to a sanitarium last Saturday, had hoarded $90,000 in cash, bonds and stocks in a cache in the back-board behind her kitchen stove. The woman, neighbors said, was obsessed with the idea she needed to save every penny for future necessity.

Known to her neighbors as the "old lady of the lamps" because she hung to oil lamps instead of gas or electric lights, she is said to be opposed to her son as a guardian for her wealth. A hearing has been set for February 28.

Shortly before Mrs. Jackson was taken to the sanitarium, she telephoned police with her and she was afraid for her fortune. Officers called at the little house and questioned Morley, who suggested that his mother's money would be safer in a deposit vault. The police took the woman and about $50,000 in negotiable securities downtown and obtained a safe deposit box. The next day, however, Mrs. Jackson removed the money from safekeeping and hid it, together with $40,000 more in the cache behind the stove.

The hidden wealth was found by Morley and R. W. Reynolds, a bondsman, in a search of the house.

"Be Gay" Say Evening Styles

By Diana Morwin Fashion Editor
Associated Press Feature Service
PARIS (AP)—Paris spring styles for evening hours strike the latest be-gay note.

"It," says Paris, "is real and life is earnest, put on your feminine frillery at night and forget it!"

Feminine frillery naturally suggests frailty. Chiffon lace and tulle are in ascendency with rich stained-metal brocaded chiffon and tiny printed taffeta much in evidence. Ankles are definitely in eclipse. Even toes disappear occasionally behind swirls of wide chiffon panels which trail and bump the floor by a whisker.

Spring evening silhouettes are straighter than those of winter, with soft draping around the waistline, or softening edges of halter, which makes normal waistlines less difficult to wear.

Dance and dinner dresses continue to show exaggerated décolleté, some of the prettiest being literally backless to the waistline, except for miniature shoulder caps which split up the center.

There are "decollété evening wraps" as well, with adjustable collars which can be worn exposing bare shoulders or draped around the neck.

Evening wraps nearly all are hip length. Evening ensembles of printed chiffon with fur lined cape-jackets to match, are new. The same idea is carried out in lace or satin. Colored long gloves are widely shown and dressmakers place insistence on jewelry.

Colored silk gloves of elbow length also are suggested. One leader shows silk gloves with stiff little frills of organza around the top and down the side to accompany organza hats for summer wear.
