No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leitch's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Red Cross Drug Store and drugists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Marion Davies In "Marianne" At the State

Six new song hits from the pens and pianos of popular composers make their debut from the talking screen in "Marianne," which is slated for an opening today at the State theater.

In this new Metro-Goldwyn-May-Musical talkie, in which Marion Davies is starred, tuneful melodies play an important part, having been written as an integral part of the dialogue and plot motivation.

Miss Lada Martin who teaches at Hilliard was ill at her mother's home in Cove a few days the first of the week.

G. E. Tripp, of Baker, was a visitor at the Burt Kall home last Saturday.

Mr. Listerud who was recently injured near here on the highway by a truck is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected.

The Perry school children are preparing their Father writing this week. They will send it to Portland Friday where it will be graded. Several hope to win the awards which will be sent to them if their writing is good enough.

Recent business visitors in La Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hallmark were recent shoppers in La Grande. The road is fine between Perry and La Grande now, a repair crew having been busy all week smoothing over the rough places.

Joe and Bill (Lamar) who live near the Ardell bridge made a trip to town on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Proctor were recent visitors at the Gerald Plougen home.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wright were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fletcher at Cove during the past week.

Gerald Pierson and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Horstman of Kamela one day last week.

Harry Coulwell made a load of hay.

J. Lagore, who has been ill for several months, spent part of the winter at Walla Walla, Wash., taking treatments of a specialist and returned home some time ago and recently has been taking radium treatments at Hot Lake. He is suffering of cancer. He reports that he is a great deal better the last month or so. His many friends are glad to get this favorable report.

Frances Tripp, of Baker, but formerly of Perry, was a weekend guest of Totha and Reba Kall at their home in town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Horstman and three small children, of Bondora, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hebelk this week. The two men are brothers.

Walter Sinclair was unfortunate in bumping his head while playing Monday evening and as a result was absent from school the next day.

Mrs. Hilin Carlson was a recent caller at the Joe Smith home.

ceed in difficult cases with such marked success. That was in the seventeenth century. Even so, it was contrary to the ethics of the profession. For, when another physician in the name of Palfyn in 1721 either independently or otherwise discovered the obstetrical forceps, he did not keep it a secret but presented his instrument to the Paris Academy of Surgeons and taught his fellow physicians the art of its application. Medical secrets were common in the past centuries. The competition between so-called medical schools—that is, groups of physicians who held divergent and contested sets of convictions on the cause and cure of disease—was keen. The struggle between so-called leaders was bitter, and in this spirit holding one's secrets to one's self or to one's group seemed justifiable. Today there are still contesting groups of opinion and judgment in the medical fraternity, and there are still divergent groups of thought. But there are no medical secrets among physicians; there are no secrets and jealously guarded remedies, instruments or the like. On the contrary, if anything be true it is that medical literature is flooded with the busy colleagues to tell the rest of the medical world what seems to one to be a something new.

MENUS

By Sister Mary Winter vegetables are the least appreciated. Most housewives serve them in the most conservative fashion with no particular effort to make them tempting and popular. Economically and dietetically, the winter root vegetables are important. They possess cleansing bulk, minerals and vitamins to make them of worthwhile food value. They are plentiful and cheap and make excellent extenders of more expensive foods.

Fat Comes At Forty

Sometimes in earlier years, it comes when a certain gland grows weak. This is what modern authorities find. And physicians the world over now combat that cause.

The method they use is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle you can see what slender figures, what health and vigor that right method brings. And all without abnormal exercise or diet.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula and facts. Users know the reasons for all good effects. In fairness to yourself, go try Marmola. Watch the results. All druggists supply it at $1 a box.

Salady, or oyster plant, may be found in nearly all markets. Carefully prepared and fried in deep fat, it rivals the always popular fried oyster and is much less expensive.

Combined with any left-over fish or oysters in the proportion of half and half, creamed salady is delicious and easy.

Parsnips, turnips, beets, sweet potatoes and carrots offer variety in vegetables that the woman who would feed her family economical and well should not overlook.

The fleshy root of the parsnip contains sugar and starch as well as a goodly quantity of cellulose. Its pungency makes it most appetizing in the late winter and early spring.

Parsnips baked with bacon are good for a hearty luncheon dish. Parsnips balls with roast beef preclude the use of an expensive vegetable.

Parsnip Balls Four to six parsnips, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup flour, 1 egg.

Wash and scrape parsnips. Boil in salted water until tender. Drain and mash. Season with butter, salt and pepper. Add flour and egg well beaten. Mix well and form into small balls. Roll in cracker crumbs and dip in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon water. Roll again in crumbs and fry to a golden brown in deep hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve at once.

The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 10 seconds or 375 degrees F. on a fat thermometer.

OLD CORNS COME OFF BY THOUSANDS

Our clerks are demonstrating how easily "END-O-CORN" removes the most stubborn old corns or calluses. All this and next week hundreds of men and women will profit from the demonstration being given at our stores about END-O-CORN.

You who have been discouraged by the poor results obtained from the use of so-called "corn cures" should come in TODAY to hear about the ONLY remedy that will surely remove all corns and calluses quickly and without pain.

If you live too far away write the END-O-CORN LABORATORIES, 4 Garfield Bldg., Chicago, who will see that you receive a jar promptly. Moon Drug Co.—Adv.
