Cove High Will Stage Operetta Saturday Night

By Mrs. A. B. Conklin (Observer Correspondent)
COVE, Ore. (Special) — The outstanding event of the week will be the "Wishing Well" a three-act operetta to be presented by the high school chorus at the Macaulay and Saturday evening, Mar. 1. This is a delightful little play depicting Irish rural folk who find the charmed well the scene of many happy meetings. The characters are reported to be well chosen, the music good and the fairy folk lend witchery to the scenes.

The Cove high basketball team played Enterprise Friday evening with a score of 20 to 25 in favor of Enterprise and they played Joseph Saturday evening with a score of 20 to 20 in favor of Joseph. The Cove boys found the Wallowa county teams more than a match for their skill but went down gamely. In the game with Enterprise, Eugene did some outstanding work and Darrel Welmer made some good scores at Joseph. The hotel proprietor at Enterprise where the Cove boys stayed and the Cove boys were the nicest basketball team they had ever entertained. The timber girls will come here for a game Friday.

Mrs. E. H. Bell spent several days in Pendleton last week the guest of Mr. Bell's sister Mrs. Hilda Hawkes.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Conley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Barker Sunday.

Thursday will be "Red Letter Day" at the Woman's club. Mrs. J. R. Fletcher is chairman for the day and will make a short address on "The Federation, its aims and achievements." Mrs. Harriett Macdonald, of La Grande will talk on "Housekeeping Fifty Years Ago," and Mrs. F. L. Appleby, also of La Grande, will make an address on "Art Appreciation." Two musical numbers will round out the program. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock at the L. D. S. community hall.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school is coming back into its own after its week of absences due to illness. Sunday there was an attendance of 100.

The Rev. Harry S. Hamilton, district superintendent of the Idaho division of the M. E. church held a business meeting here Friday evening.

The revival meeting led by the Rev. Billie Dowse at the L. D. S. community hall will continue for another week.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will celebrate the 22nd anniversary of its organization Wednesday Feb. 26 at the church parlors. A short program will be given and refreshments served.

Captain Lewis, the missionary in charge at Baker, held services at the Ascension Episcopal church Sunday afternoon Feb. 23. The venerable S. W. Cressley, of Pendleton will be here for service Sunday, Mar. 2.

The Ladies Guild was entertained by Mrs. G. E. Barker at her home on the hillside Saturday afternoon. At the business meeting the women decided to sew for the Waverly Home in Portland during Lent. They will meet with Mrs. Laird Saturday Mar. 8 for an all day meeting to begin the sewing. After the business meeting bridge was played at three tables. Mrs. R. S. Comstock won high score and Mrs. T. C. Hefty second. The ladies present were Mrs. L. E. Anderson, Mrs. R. I. Barker, Mrs. C. E. Bertsch, Mrs. R. B. Comstock, Mrs. A. G. Conklin, Mrs. Roy Conley, Mrs. J. R. Fletcher, Mrs. T. C. Hefty, Mrs. C. E. Lawson, Mrs. L. M. Laird, Mrs. J. E. Mills, Mrs. Louis Probst and Miss Bernice Vin. A dainty lunch was served.

The Dorcas society met with Mrs. Leo Childers recently. They went in the morning, had a potluck dinner at noon and spent the day sewing. Those present were the Rev.

Health Talks

HOW GERMS STRIKE

The man in the street well knows now that germs cause disease. He knows little or nothing, however, of the manner in which they injure the body.

This dearth of specific information is shared, in a measure at least, by the scientific world. There are many disease-producing germs known to medicine, whose particular manner of operation, so to say, is still a mystery.

The bacillus of tuberculosis, known since its discovery by Robert Koch, in 1882, is such a germ. Recently tuberculosis workers redoubled efforts in studying the nature and constitution of the offending bacillus.

It is hoped that through a knowledge of the chemical and physical composition of this widespread germ we will better understand the type of injury it inflicts. With such knowledge we should be better able to combat its ravages.

The history of medicine bears out our hope. In diphtheria, for example, the responsible germ was discovered by Löffler in 1884. But the knowledge that a particular bacillus caused the disease, did not in any appreciable degree help in curing it. It did help in preventing its spread.

More had to be learned about the manner of its operation—about the specific way in which it caused sickness and death.

Subsequent studies demonstrated that the hurt came from a specific poison, a toxin, produced by the diphtheria bacillus.

On the basis of this added knowledge Kitasato and Behring were able, six years after the discovery of the diphtheria bacillus, to produce a specific remedy, diphtheria antitoxin.

More recently it was possible to develop a technique for rendering children immune (resistant) to the disease, and thus enable them to avoid even the risk of contracting the disease.

Sandwich bread now comes in pink, green, orchid and yellow. One of the next innovations that may be made is the insertion of a piece of meat in the restaurant variety.
