THE PROPHET—Moses truly said unto the fathers, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you.—Acts 3:22.

"Tolerance" usually means a willingness to forgive the other fellow for doing what you do.

GASOLINE BUILDS ROADS

Consider the fact in the case of the gasoline tax. Gasoline is now taxed in every state. The tax ranges from one to six cents per gallon and from 18 to 33 per cent of the cost of the commodity. Last year the revenue from this form of taxation totaled $449,731,000. Eight years ago when fewer states taxed this fuel and when less gasoline was consumed the total tax collected was $4,700,000.

And then ask yourself where there is another product or business that could carry such a tremendous tax burden. Where there is another tax that provokes so little grumbling by the taxpayers. Where is there a product that has steadily lowered in price as the tax on it has increased? These are not questions difficult to answer.

Automobile ownership and motoring have such a hold on the people that gas they will have at any cost. The automobile comes first—even before clothes and food and medicine in many cases. There is little opposition to the gasoline tax because it is providing the money with which the nation's highway improvement program is being carried on, and the tax is collected a few cents at a time and by the chocolate-coated method of including it in the gasoline price.

Gasoline is the country's greatest road builder.

WHO CROSSED OCEAN FIRST?

Information editors, and others to whom the public turns for facts, say the question asked them most often nowadays is whether any other flier had succeeded in crossing the Atlantic before Lindberg.

The personality of Lindbergh and all the circumstances surrounding his flight made his the most spectacular and appealing conquest of the Atlantic by air, but it was not the first. Alcock and Brown flew from Trespassy to Ireland in 1919. Two dirigibles made the crossing, one of them returning later to England. Two Portuguese airmen flew from Lisbon to Rio in 1922; and three months before the Lindbergh flight, dePinedo, an Italian, had flown to Brazil.

Each of these feats was much discussed at the moment, yet so rapidly have all escaped the public consciousness that reference sources are now beset with queries on the subject. Here we have some inkling of the difficulty of keeping history straight in the face of more attractive legend. Within nine years an exploit had been performed five times, yet apparently many people who were aware of each during the making are now unconsciously convinced that another flier, who repeated the feat in a peculiarly impressive way, was the pioneer.

Historians have been a hundred years attempting to dispose of so hollow a fable as the cherry tree legend. We are wondering what luck they will have in the next century with the very compelling legend which is now in process of erection before our eyes. Lindbergh's fame came because he flew alone, by dead reckoning, and from one definite starting point to one definite landing point.

Well, now lets have another newspaper story tellin' jest exactly what happened to that 195 gallons of perfectly good peach brandy belonging to the seventy-year-ole lady who wuz arrested an' sentenced at Versailles, Indiany. THEATERS

All-Star Cast In Talkie "Chasing Rainbows"

Director Charles "Chuck" Reisner and the five leading players of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Chasing Rainbows," featuring Bessie Love and Charles King, which will open at the State theater Sunday served as technical directors for the picture, supervising the details of production.

The six volunteer technicians are veterans of the footlights.

Bessie Love, who plays the little comedienne started in motion pictures when she was fresh from high school.

Charles King, the road show's leading man, has been acting, singing and dancing since he was fifteen years old.

Jack Benny, the stage manager of the picture, has played vaudeville and musical comedy from New York City to the Pacific coast.

Marie Dressler, veteran comedienne, admits proudly that she has spent forty years before the footlights.

Polly Moran says that she has played "everywhere."

The State begins a new serial "The Vanishing West" this week, scheduled to run every Friday and Saturday.

Wheat Averages Lower in Chicago

CHICAGO, Mar. 1 (AP)—Despite indications of future delivery buying on the part of farm board allies, wheat values averaged lower here today, especially new crop contracts. Weakness of wheat prices at Liverpool and Winnipeg acted as a weight on the Chicago market, and Winnipeg May wheat lost its premium compared with Chicago May. A feature of trading operations here was buying of May wheat against simultaneous selling of July, the latter representing wheat yet to be grown.

Wheat closed unsettled ¼c @ 1⅛c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats ⅛ @ ¼c up, and provisions 7 to 15c down.

Closing Strong In Exchange Today

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—Stock prices made further recovery in today's brief session but many of the early gains of 1 to 7½ points were cut down by a wave of profit-taking in the last hour. Nearly two score issues, including Radio Corporation and about a dozen public utilities, moved into high ground for the year.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,710,000 shares.

John D. Rockefeller Spurns The "Safety First" Style Of Golf

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—John D. Rockefeller is no "safety first" golfer.

The man who mastered the intricacies of the oil game and big business half a century ago, has found an aid to "long life" and pleasure in conquering the vicissitudes of golf.

As a young man he probably never saw a golf course, much less thought of spending his spare time on the links.

Today, as he [illegible] toward his ninety-first birthday, golf is the part of his daily routine in which he finds most satisfaction and benefit, whether it be during the summer on the courses at Pocantico Hills and Lakewood, or in the winter time on the sandy stretches of the Ormond Beach golf club, a mashie shot from the Atlantic ocean.

Plays but Eight Holes

Rockefeller is among the millions of the game's followers who do not "break 100" for 18 holes.

Unlike the others, however, he does not even attempt it, for his winter "round" is confined to eight holes of a morning.

[illegible] ... [illegible] style. He enjoys the novelty of situations and the possibilities of [illegible] shots than this method of play provides.

The Rockefeller game is built on accuracy, and length as direction rather than distance, on a well-controlled swing instead of power.

Student of the Game

[illegible]

On the other hand, the closely [illegible]

[illegible] to calculate a ball shot there by his partner. Rarely on his own account, does he find the traps as good as his control and direction.

Takes Chance on Approach

Rockefeller's accuracy in the short game, whether it is in approaching from distances of around 75 to 100 yards of the green, or in putting, is the high-spot of his play. Nothing pleases him more than to chip nicely to the green, and he does it with regularity.

In the spirit of the real golfer, he pitches more often than he attempts the safety-first "run-up" type of approach.

[illegible]

Throughout his matches, Mr. Rockefeller is keenly alert to every shot and situation, exchanging pleasantries, rewarding a companion's shot with a "bravo," or, if very well placed, with a bright new nickel. The [illegible] are [illegible] only at the start and finish. His favorite exclamation is "My Goodness."

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Son (calling at office)—Why, dad, where are you going in such a hurry?

Dad—I'm getting out while I have a chance. I just fired my secretary; and, son, she has a tongue just like your mother.

Son—Why, I see she's still working.

Dad—Yeah, that's it. She's just about ready to turn on the dictaphone, and I don't want to be here when she hears the sad news.

RESCUE MANY CHICKS FROM BROODER FIRE

One of the brooder houses on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Fleshman in Willowdale district near La Grande was destroyed by fire last evening, and with it several hundred fine baby chicks received from a hatchery the first of the week. In a short time after the fire was discovered, neighbors from within a radius of several miles had gathered to help extinguish the flames and the Fleshman family believes that had it not been for this aid the other farm buildings could not possibly have been saved. The building destroyed was one of two brooder houses, so only a part of the chicks were in it at the time of the fire. The loss is estimated at between $150 and $200.

The chicks were received a few days ago and when the temperature dropped slightly night before last and yesterday, Mrs. Fleshman put down quantities of straw about the brooder house. This straw became ignited and the fire spread very rapidly. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fleshman were right there and were able to save a good many of the chicks although they knew from the first that it would be impossible to save that one building.

Spring Sale Of Used Cars Will Be Staged Here

The greatest ten-day sale of used cars ever staged locally was announced yesterday by the Larison Chevrolet Co. Thirty-nine automobiles of all makes, each completely reconditioned, are being offered.

"Unused transportation" is the key-word of the sale, according to Mr. Larison. "That is what these cars really mean, service that has not yet been used.

"Too many persons have the wrong impression of used cars and the values that lie in them. This results from the unfortunate employment of the word 'used' which implies a previous ownership and a reduced worth.

"Today cars are built with years of life and limitless thousands of miles in them. Drivers are more efficient today. Cars are serviced more often than formerly. Better roads reduce abuse of travel. Cars are traded in when the bulk of their lives still is ahead of them. Some have been driven only a little longer than is necessary to break them in. Thousands of so-called used cars being offered today at prices far below their actual value are better than cars of like age still being run by their original owners.

"Backing our policy of careful trade-ins is the national Chevrolet policy of completely reconditioning a car before we offer it for resale. Every part of such a car is carefully checked, and if not up to our rigid standards, is repaired or replaced. The result is a car in more nearly perfect condition and with more service in it than if it was still in its first owner's hands.

Two Grades Of Butter Move Up One Cent Today

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 1 (AP)—The two lower grades of butter, prime firsts and firsts, advanced 1c each to 35c and 32c respectively today.

Egg prices were unchanged and steady.

Following the advance in wheat prices, all grades of flour have been moved forward 20c by the Sperry Flour company.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Portland bureau of the United States department of agriculture says:

"Although no lettuce was received Friday, the market continues dull, due to rather heavy team-track accumulations, some of which are several days old, and consequently of only fair quality. Generally high quality of Imperial valley lettuce loadings, and the limiting of shipments to 5 days each week, are apparently saving this deal from complete disaster. As it is, shippers are barely receiving cost of harvesting and packing for their crop. Portland retailers are paying $2.25 to $2.75 per crate of 4 to 5 dozen heads."
