YANKEES A REAL PENNANT THREAT

New York Team Ready to Step Back Into American League Scramble.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 13 (AP)—The warning may as well be broadcast now that the New York Yankees, after taking it strictly on the chin in 1929, are ready to step right back into the American league pennant fight and make the Athletics prove they belong on top.

Four years ago, after the first championship machine of the Yankees cracked up, the late Miller Huggins produced the cogs needed for another three-year winning drive. Keen-eyed, baseball wise Bob Shawkey, "Hug's" successor at the helm, may repeat the process. At least Shawkey has a wealth of remarkable new material in hand to remedy most, if not all of the weaknesses of 1929, whether or not this is sufficient to accomplish more than an argument with Connie Mack's great outfit. Pitching remains the question mark and a big one.

Babe Ruth Eager

With Babe Ruth roaring defiance from all corners of the field eager to prove he is a bargain at $80,000 and far from being through the Yankees have the spirit as a rallying point. The youngsters as well as the veterans all gain a big chunk of inspiration from the Babe, who is more irrepressible on the field than ever. Cynics doubt Ruth's under-pinning and digestive system can carry him through more than 100 games at his old pace; yet outwardly the big-browed playboy of baseball looks to be in remarkably good condition.

The club needed a robust, hard-hitting outfielder to replace Bob Muesel and seems to have found him in Allen (Dusty) Cooke, who hit .338 for St. Paul in the American association last year, and looks like a finished product. A third baseman was required and he appears to have arrived in the person of Ben Chapman, also from St. Paul. Ben's throwing habits have been altered in camp but he can field as well as hit.

More and better pitching has been the most important of the spring's requirements and the club apparently has uncovered three, if not four prospective stars in Ivy Paul Andrews, the Alabama boy, who was with Albany last year; American Polli, who won 22 and lost 8 with St. Paul last year; Vernon Gomez, southpaw who won 18 and lost 10 with San Francisco; and Bill Henderson, picked up as an after-thought from Jersey City.

Reserve strength was needed in case anything went wrong with the seasoned Keystone combination of Mark Koenig, shortstop, and Tony Lazzeri, second baseman whose shoulder has bothered him for some time. On tap for this possible emergency are Lyn Lary and Jimmy Reese, the former Oakland combination, brought together again for the first time since they were bought by the Yankees. Reese, with the benefit of additional experience is a fine looking second base prospect.

Lou Gehrig, at first, and Earle Combs, in center, need no recommendation for their jobs.

Behind the bat, the Yankees seem better equipped than at any time since Wally Schang was in his prime. Bill Dickey was a great young catcher last year and a greater one this year on the basis of his work so far. Eugene (Hubbles) Hargrave, persuaded to accompany Polli, Chapman, Cooke in the general movement from St. Paul to New York, has the experience needed to work with the young pitchers, as well as a potent bat.

There is no question whatever that the Yankees will have as big, if not a bigger wallop than ever and no one has yet referred to them as the "lifeless wonders." With either Dickey or Hargrave wearing the mask there is a potential .300 hitter in every position and a .350 punch in three or four positions. Combs, Lazzeri, Ruth and Gehrig all have hit over .350. In the American league, Cooke did it in the American association and Hargrave has exceeded this mark in both the National league and American association.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. P 3, Box 731, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Sport Slants

by Alan J. Gould

The popular idea about dog racing apparently is that the greyhounds go into a scramble into the barbed curbs with which most tracks are surrounded, after a mechanical rabbit is propelled around the course in a loose turn.

The surprising situation, as the observer finds it, is that the greyhounds appear to employ fairly intricate and deliberate tactics, indicating knowledge of curves equally as effective as that being learnedly practiced.

For instance, a wide swing the soft, ladylike three-quarters of a mile track of the Miami Beach Kennel club, after a race there and running abreast nearly half the dogs might or might not succeed in the turn, so that a maneuver was started and the less enthusiastic canines, to protect their "lanes" increased the speed, the percentage resulting in not much in the case of the Miami Beach track.

Three racing greyhounds have a competitive life of only about three years, starting when about a year old. Few are able to keep up with the pace after four years of age. Slim and sensitive, they develop a keen racing spirit, too. It will not be surprising to learn some overbalking now in the big dog days are held in the Far West. Many Colorado dogs are racing in Florida. Butte, Montana, is the only city in the country with a population of less than a half-million at which the International Greyhound Association operates a track.

In spite of some difficulties and the operation of so-called unfair tracks in a number of places, greyhound racing has developed to a point where it ranks high among the sports attracting the wagering elements of the population. The "International," which is the natural thing in the dog racing game to a hockey club or controlling body, operates tracks in Chicago, Reno, St. Louis, Miami Beach and several parts of England. The sport flourished in England long before it developed the following in this country.

The Florida dog tracks this year also adopted the anti-cheating drive by the novel method of the "photo-finish system" whereby the leader at each "close decision," corresponding to a disputed ticket, was testified to at least a thousand refused. In other words, even a losing ticket was redeemed to the pay mut at the track, so that a transaction was granted and the bet authentically cashed. To protect itself, the house" increased the operating percentage totalling 14 per cent in the case of the Miami Beach track.

Florida has been selected by Cleveland's clubs in preparing hearts before and after school. The Miami High school football team has already changed over the practice for him.

When Pig Bill Cissy, the Chattanooga and welter boxer, returns from a trip to South America, he will not be surprising to see some overbalking done in the organization machinery of the Madison Square Garden corporation, New York's gladiatorial center in professional sports.

It is no secret, among other things, that all was not well in the operations this winter at Miami. A substantial number of directors of the corporation, including Orne, not only felt they had been misinformed into a dangerous match but that the job of putting it on was not quite all that could be desired. Tex Rickard would have blushed at some of the track changes in halftime the Sesqui-Sharkey affair, though he would have been pleased with at least one feature of it—the "hard sell" in the ringside seats at the Philadelphia show. The trouble with that scheme was that the blase folks at P. B. took their view of the fight with some condition self-satisfying.

Frank J. Brown, the garden's general manager, has devoted most of his career to the conduct of such tracks. He was in charge of the Miami track during the winter at Miami, a job that took the entire summer of his time and ingenuity, especially when the gambling element who fought in the middle of a local political battle. Bruce Scrimshaw, who was able to devote the time to the task personally, was not able to devote the time to the task personally, was not able to devote the time to the task personally, was not
