Butter Prices Move Higher In Oregon Market

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 18 (AP)—Butter and butterfat prices made material advances at the Portland produce exchange today. Extras and standards in butter were 20 higher at 29c and 35c, respectively, and prime firsts and firsts 1c each. Butterfat went up 3c to 45c delivered Portland.

Scarcity of high grade butter was reported acute on the Portland market.

Egg prices were unchanged. Receipts continued liberal, with the surplus going into storage.

Cabbage prices are still sky-high without any weakening indicated. A leading produce company quoted it at 10c. Lettuce is similarly high, the current quotation being $2.75 a crate wholesale.

Wheat Firm And Higher At Close

CHICAGO, Mar. 18 (AP)—Wheat scored returns in price today, helped by corn market strength and by 3,245,000 bushels decrease of the world's available wheat supply.

Meanwhile, expectations were that a cold wave would work down from the north by Thursday or Friday over domestic wheat territory. The world's available wheat supply is now 411,593,000 bushels against 427,108,000 bushels a year ago.

Wheat closed firm 1/8 to 1/4c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1/4 to 1/2c up, oats 1/4 to 1/2c advanced, and provisions unaltered to a rise of 1/2c.

PORTLAND PRODUCE

Pajamas Smarter Than Skirts; Wear 'Em to Dine

By Diana Merwin (Associated Press Column Editor)

PARIS (AP)—Glorified pajamas for dinner wear are considered smarter than skirts by chic young Parisiennes.

As feminine long-skirted dinner dresses, but less formal, the pajama costume of chiffon, lace or satin is a compromise between couturiers and lively youth which wants to conform to correct contours, but doesn't care about convention.

The dinner pajamas of spring are developments of studio costumes of a few months back.

Unlike studio pajamas they are not necessarily meant for wear in one's own home.

The new models are so much like skirts in appearance that the most sophisticated could not think them unbecoming and the casual observer wouldn't know they were not skirts.

Chiffon pajamas, each leg a couple of yards around the ankle, are frequently made over bifurcated foundations of satin, reaching a few inches below the knees.

The effect of these pajamas is that of a long skirt over a short foundation skirt. Pajamas is abbreviated around the hips, but clever arrangement of girds and gathings camouflages the trouser cut.

The silhouette of dinner pajamas is almost identical with that of the informal dinner dress.

Most of the pajamas have matching coats or boleros designed to carry the dress idea on still further and disguise the trouser cut.

Natural Hothouses

Peasants on the island of Ischia, near Naples, make use of numerous steam vents to warm their tomato plants and so make them sprout sooner.

"Iceberg societies," says Rear Admiral Plunkett, "are taken." Yet peace societies can say some pretty harsh things about naval parades.

Bessie Love In "Girl In The Show" at State

The fact that "The Girl in the Show," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all talking production which will open Wednesday at the State theater, presents a play within a play, and that, none other than the immortal "The Yarn's Cabin," offers something promisingly new in the way of picture entertainment and enables us to give an interesting parade of American dramatic statistics.

Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett, Frank Nelson and Mary Doran do not play all of the "Yarn" show—scenes on the stage during a performance are interspersed with the backstage plot in "The Girl in the Show"—but they go far enough in their interpretations to give them a place in the "The Yarn's Cabin" honor roll.

Also Love in "Little Eva" and "Shine a Light"—is played by Gladys George.

Coast Circuit Develops Many Fine Shortstops

By Russell J. Newland (Associated Press Sports Writer)

SAN FRANCISCO—The Pacific coast league has had a lot to do with the shortstop situation in the major leagues these last two decades. Harry A. Williams, league president and former good baseball writer, reminds the writer that the coast circuit "unquestionably has developed and sent to the majors more great shortstops than any other loop in the country."

Portland has sent the most. Some of these recalled offhand and clubs they went up from are: Roger Peckinpaugh, Dave Bancroft, Ivan Olsen, Charles Helcher, Chuck Ward and Chalmers Cissell, all from Portland; "Swede" Ribberg, Heron; Zeb Terry, Los Angeles; the Cleveland, San Francisco, Tony Lazzeri, Salt Lake City; Ray Corhan, San Francisco; Ray French, Vernon; Ernie Johnson, Salt Lake City; Joe Berger, Los Angeles; Hal Ihnye, San Francisco; Lynn Lary, Oakland and Gordon Slade, Missions.

If a contest for old time boxing promoters were to be held, Al Young, San Francisco, undoubtedly would give anyone in the country a run for first place. For 28 years he has maintained establishments for chin walloping parties. Prior to 1906 he held shows once a month in the famous old Woodward's pavilion and later promoted in McManis's hall. For more than a decade he has held weekly fights, missing only one or two dates each year.

What the Oldtimers are Doing

Alex Greggains, rough and ready light heavyweight of the '90s, is a San Francisco billiard hall proprietor. In 1892 he swapped punches with "Buffalo" Costello on two occasions, once for 50 rounds and again for 89 rounds.

Veon Grigg, left hander, who set a world's strikeout record of 268 white stitching for Portland in 1919, is dealing out smokes in his establishment at Hoquiam, Wash.

Johnny Frayne, one of the most popular ringsters San Francisco had in the old days, is managing fighters here, he having a young lightweight prospect named Joe Eframe, Pittsburgh, under his wing. In his prime Frayne was a tough customer for such lightweights as Freddie Welsh, Harlem Tommy Murphy, Matt Baldwin and Owen Moran.

Ping Bodie, the second home run here in the history of the Pacific coast league, operates an automobile service station here. In 1916 with the Seals, he hit thirty circuit clouts. The ball then was far from lively.

Up around Marysville, Cal., there is a family of four brothers named Killmanworth, all fighters. They range from lightweight to the heavyweight division.

1st La Grande Clerk: "Say do you know I've been eating beef all my life and I'm as strong as a bull!"

2nd Ditto: "That's strange, I've been eating sardines all my life and can't swim a stroke!"

Little Edwin found a button in his salad.

He remarked: "I suppose it fell off while the salad was dressing."

An Englishman entered a Scotch butcher shop and ordered: "A sheep's head."

The butcher called down to his assistant in the cellar: "Alek, bring up a sheep's head."

"A regular jam," murmured another.

"Heaven preserve us!" exclaimed an old lady.

Hopkins—"I hear you have invented a new machine. What is it?"

"Inventor"—"It's a revolving nest. When a hen lays an egg, the nest revolves and the egg falls into a receptacle underneath. Then the hen turns around and, seeing no egg, thinks she has made a mistake, and promptly lays another."
