GRAIN MARKETS ARE UNSETTLED

Bread Grains Slightly Lower in Week—Feed Grains Barely Steady.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31 (Special)—Grain markets continued generally unsettled during the week ending March 29, with wheat and rye weak as a result of the lack of export demand and only moderate inquiry from domestic buyers, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains were barely steady with demand fairly active, but offerings, particularly of corn, were somewhat heavier than in recent weeks. Flax was weak with wheat.

WHEAT: The small takings of foreign wheat by European buyers continued to be the dominating factor in the wheat market, but crop developments are becoming an increasingly important influence. The condition of the winter wheat crop in the United States remains mostly satisfactory, although the crop needs rain in Kansas and Oklahoma, and there are many reports of irregular conditions in the Ohio valley. Winter wheat in the most important producing countries in the northern hemisphere appears in generally favorable condition and better than at the corresponding date last year, when winter killing and weather damage was unusually severe in some large producing areas. Statistics of areas sown in European countries are not yet sufficiently complete to indicate total acreage for this season, but recent official and trade reports suggest an acreage only as large as last season. Slight decreases in acreage are reported in France and Italy, but North African countries have increased wheat acreage and crop conditions are now favorable. The acreage in India is somewhat smaller than in 1929 but some increase in production is indicated in trade advices.

Reduce Acreage: United States farmers have expressed an intention of reducing durum wheat acreage about 15 per cent this spring, but are apparently planning to maintain about the same acreage of other spring wheat as was harvested last season. Stocks of wheat in interior mills and elevators in the United States at the first of March totaled approximately 95,000,000 bushels, according to the official estimate, or about 13,500,000 bushels more than a year ago. Combining these with farm and market stocks at that date, total supplies of wheat in the United States, exclusive of stocks in merchant mills, were about 25,500,000 bushels larger than a year ago. World shipments of wheat from the principal countries were the smallest in recent years, and stocks on ocean passage have been reduced to an amount only about one-half as large as a year ago. Current offerings, however, both in domestic and foreign markets, appear mostly adequate to trade requirements, and the market situation continues weak and unsettled. Southern hemisphere shipments totaled something over 4,000,000 bushels, and Black Sea shipments, of which about one-half were Russian wheat, amounted to about 600,000 bushels. 62½. Russia for March shipment was quoted at Liverpool at $1.12, and Australian wheat at $1.10 per bushel on March 28. A cargo of Southern Russian wheat now being shipped was sold at Liverpool at $1.12. Quotations on United States wheat were above an export basis and no export sales were reported. No. 2 Hard Winter, New York was quoted at $1.12 per bushel. Canadian wheat continued to undersell United States wheat on the Pacific coast and fairly large amounts of Canadian grain were reported sold both to the Orient and to European markets.

Domestic cash wheat markets were mostly dull with prices generally following futures. Receipts at Minneapolis were relatively small and were readily taken by mills and industrial buyers.

Hard winter wheat markets held about unchanged. Offerings were of only moderate volume and demand from domestic buyers was about sufficient to absorb the current daily arrivals.

Soft winter wheat in more active demand, largely as a result of the small quantity of good milling quality wheat.

Wheat Unsettled; Two Cents Lower

CHICAGO, Mar. 31 (AP)—Notwithstanding 1,867,000 bushels decrease in the United States wheat visible supply, wheat prices today pursued a general downward course. Predictions of rain in drought territory southwest dominated the market, although no moisture was reported up to the close. Official summaries indicated abandonment of domestic winter wheat acreage this season would be small.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1/4¢ up, oats unchanged to 1/4¢ advanced and provisions unchanged to 1/2¢ down.

Market Irregular; Trading Is Heavy

NEW YORK, Mar. 31 (AP)—The stock market, which moved into high ground for the year last week, turned irregular today under a heavy wave of profit-taking. A score or more issues dropped 1 to 5 points below Saturday's quotations, with a sprinkling of specialties down 6 to 17 before the decline was checked in the early afternoon by a spirited demand for U. S. Steel common, which was marked up to another 1930 high. The close was firm. Sales approximated 5,100,000 shares.

Various versions of the collision were given. R. J. Holland, captain and owner of the Swan said: "I know my lights were in order and my lookout was not in the wrong. We did not see the Davenport until she was upon us and then it was too late."
