Sport Slants by ALAN J. GOULD About all that can be said for the spring's major league baseball holdouts is that they have been a bit more persistent and more calculating before coming into the fold. There are still a few recalcitrants, hardy veterans such as Burleigh Grimes, but the hold-out rally has ended, for all spectacular purposes, when Babe Ruth signed for $50,000 and Art Shires for $25,000. It is a strange circumstance that the Babe, with no special powers of eloquence at his command, gained a raise of $10,000 a year for 100 years while Shires, despite his full-throated rant from Texas, will be paid less than a third of the sum at which he valued his diamond services. Yet it may not be so strange after all. Ruth has something that cannot be purchased, or even developed, for twice or three times the sum the Yankees will pay him. Shires has yet to demonstrate the possession of any indispensable qualities; in fact he has been requested to dispense with a number of his habits.

I went from 3000 to 6000 feet unintentionally in almost nothing flat and in trying to keep down had to dive at about 80 miles an hour." UNION OFFERS COBURN POST AS PRINCIPAL By W. V. Connor (Observer Correspondent) UNION, Ore. (Special)—From wrongly interpreting a statement in the Union items published Saturday, April 5, some readers believed that Mr. Coburn of the Union schools had failed to be re-elected for the next school year. He has been offered the principalship of the high school again, but has not decided just what he will do as yet. His work here has been very satisfactory and Union people will welcome the news if he should decide to remain for another year's work in the local schools. Headquarters company of the national guard went out to the range near Hat Lake Sunday morning for their first outdoor rifle practice, but finding that the range was stocked with sheep the boys returned to Union and had target practice in the gym. Sunday afternoon the municipal tennis courts were in use practically all the time. Among the out-of-town players who took part in the games were Park Taylor, Ed Rogers and Ward Rea, of La Grande. The Gooding college program which was to have been given here this week has been postponed till a later date. Eugene Parent, Sr., was a visitor in La Grande Saturday. His foot, which was injured while he was working on the highway, is much improved and he is able to walk on it. Special activities will be held at the Methodist church (ill after Easter. Next Sunday the morning service will be in charge of Dr. Judson T. Perkins, who has
