petitioners the relief they are justly entitled to under the law. "I was said among other things, in the argument that the levy had already been made, extended on the assessment roll and that roll was delivered to the sheriff. But when the application was made for the alternative writ the assessment roll had not been delivered to the sheriff. There is no reason why the writ should not be made peremptory.

"In the instant case the public would be injuriously affected if the writ were denied. To deny the writ would ruin the credit of the defendant improvement district and injure to some degree, if not a large degree, the credit of the state. None of the defenses is sufficient to defeat issuing the writ."

JOSEPH CASE ARGUED

SALEM, Ore., Apr. 15 (AP)—That the disbarment trial of George W. Joseph was conducted upon the wrong theory by the three referees who heard the case and recommended his disbarment was the contention of Bert E. Haney of the Joseph defense when the case came on for argument before the su-

Mrs. Blackburn To Give Lessons In Dressmaking

As soon as the Easter bonnet and frock is stowed away to keep fresh for Easter morning, the urge for more new clothes is not appeased but seems to grow with every spring day. If it is a thin purple that is your worry, Mrs. Judith Blackburn has a message for you. If it is the strangeness of the new lines, and the fear of them for your figure, Mrs. Blackburn will tell you exactly. Mrs. Blackburn will dispel the doubt, for she knows all that experience teaches about fitting, designing, dressmaking, tailoring, individual types, and who is a greater teacher than experience.

Mr. Blackburn, who has made dresses for grownups, ever since she quit sewing for dolls, will give practical instructions for two weeks beginning Monday April 21 in morning and afternoon classes at Falk's department store. Two free lectures will be given Monday and Tuesday on the subjects of colors, lines and types.

In classes just completed in Salt Lake City some of the pupils made as many as two dresses and a wrap during the course. Before the material is cut, the pattern is fitted to the person; afterwards the garment is personally fitted by Mrs. Blackburn. The lessons begin with the choosing of a need, by also the inventor of a patented machine that can be adjusted to make a correct pattern for any measurements.

This fall Mrs. Blackburn will be with the Hudson Bay company, and until then is resting. Hearing of an opportunity to stop in La Grande before visiting relatives through the summer, she is spending about a month in this city. She has travelled considerably in the United States and Canada, having been in a large department store of every large city in this country, meeting thousands of women and teaching them the art of sewing.

She has written a book of more than 200 pages telling of the art of dressmaking, beginning with simple busting stitches going through the details of dressmaking, tailoring and ironing. She is also the inventor of a patented machine that can be adjusted to make a correct pattern for any measurements.

prone court today. Haney contended that the trial should have been for the purpose of determining whether Joseph's charges, aside from the disbarment and hand for the supreme court were made in good faith, and not for purpose of determining whether his charges were true.

John C. Veatch, also for the Joseph defense, stressed the point that while nine charges were made against Joseph the referees made their findings and recommendations upon only five. One charge was withdrawn at the trial, he said, and the referees gave no consideration to the other three. After pointing this out Veatch said: "It is our understanding that the disbarment of an attorney must be based upon the charges filed and those charges must be supported by competent evidence."

BULL MONTANA IS BEATEN BY JOHN KILONIS

DALLAS, Tex., Apr. 15 (AP)—Bull Montana, whose face has added considerable to his moving picture characterizations of wild times, was disqualified here last night in a wrestling match with John Kilonis, Boston trapper, but not before he covered himself with both glory and gore. The match, billed for an hour, the best two out of three falls, lasted 25 minutes, the principals scolding the spotlight from the expected headliners. Liberally sprinkled with rights, lefts and uppercuts, the bout went from the ring to the ropes, from the ropes to the floor, and thence up and down the aisles until the men were forced apart. Before he was disqualified Bull was twice warned for straddling. When the wrestler's legs were disentangled the former movie villain was bleeding profusely from a mouth cut, and his sturdy Greek opponent was considerable worse for wear and tear.

In the head line match, Jack Reynolds of Cincinnati took two out of three falls from Bert Kuhn of Dallas in defense of his world-circuit title claim. Hughie Nichols, Mex. Tex., who claims the light heavyweight title, went to a draw with Bobby Myers, Oreg. Ore., contender.

Coast Circuit Opening Second Week of Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Apr. 15 (AP)—Pacific Coast league baseball gets underway again today after the Monday traveling time out and Los Angeles remains at the top of the standings with five games won and only one lost. The Angels rate a percentage of 33.3.

The San Francisco Seals meet the other Bay City team, the Missions, here this week. Seattle comes south to Oakland; the lowly Portland aggregation will tackle the senators at Sacramento; Hollywood's Stars go against the league-leading Angels at Los Angeles.

and that every effort should be made to be included in the total population of the city. The census is supposed to be completed tomorrow, and any one not included is urged to call their enumerator immediately. If unable to reach their enumerator, call The Observer office and give your name and address, and The Observer will notify census headquarters so that the count may be made.

All questions asked are confidential and no one need hesitate about divulging information asked by the enumerator, as it will be used only in the census and for no other purpose. Mr. Williams points out.

TINKHAM VOICES CHARGES AIMED AT DRY LEAGUE

Tinkham charged that until 1929 the league made "no returns whatever" under the federal corrupt practices act, which was passed in 1912.

"The league and its state subsidiaries fare a political committee under the working of the federal corrupt practices act," he continued, "and its activities come within the terms of the federal corrupt practices act."

"It maintains a political organization in every state of the union and in some states, New York and Illinois, notably, it maintains expensive and extensive headquarters."

Underwriting in FIRE INSURANCE Who shall, or shall not, be insured; what property shall, or shall not, be covered; and what amount of insurance shall be accepted, if any? These are problems which daily face the underwriter. Fire insurance companies do not insure property, but do insure and safeguard the interests of persons or corporations in property. The property owner's character, financial ability to possess and maintain the property, the usefulness of the property to its owner, his fire record, if any; and other pertinent particulars, concern the underwriter. Property to Be Covered The type of property to be covered, be it dwelling, mercantile, manufacturing or personal property, as well as construction, occupancy, fire protection, exposure, damage-ability, amount of insurance carried compared with the value of the property, along with many other conditions, must be studied by the underwriter. The underwriter is equipped with insurance maps, surveys, engineering data, confidential character and financial reports, fire records, and other information upon which to base his judgment of a particular line of insurance. Broad Experience Underwriters of Stock Fire Insurance companies are men of broad experience who are carefully trained in the selection of desirable, and in the avoidance of undesirable, risks. The Underwriter renders an important public service by endeavoring to avoid insurance on risks that are likely to produce illegal or questionable claims and a consequent effect on the cost of fire insurance.
