It is expected to take several weeks until the final federal figure on La Grande is compiled in Washington and released as official. The present final will not be changed, it is said, excepting in cases where La Grande people visiting in other towns and not counted here, are included in this city's total on the basis of returns from the town in which they were visiting.

Other census figures announced recently include McMinnville which has a population of 2,854, an increase of 97 over the 1929 total.

city but ran out of funds and took a job at a lumber camp at Veneta where she stated he worked under the name of Harold Browne. The woman said she was the daughter of a man in the U. S. forestry service, one of seven children and that two of her sisters had taken prizes in beauty contests. She said as soon as her husband accumulated enough money he intended to return to his law studies.

The baby was born at Pacific Charitable hospital Eugene, November 7, the woman stated and the doctor was Dr. Charles E. Hunt. The couple remained at the lodging house some time after the baby was born and during December disappeared riding in a green sedan. The blankets, she said, disappeared with them. A short time afterward she read of the baby being found on the Salem doorstep.

U. S. NAVAL DELEGATION IS WELCOMED

ting Ambassador Morrow, who said:

"It is a good treaty, a good treaty for the United States, a step forward in the movement for world peace."

Secretary Stimson is entitled to the highest credit for accomplishing the aims for which President Hoover sent the delegation abroad. By his high character, his great courage and his constant patience he earned the respect not only of his colleagues and helpers on the American delegation, but all of those at the conference.

"I'm glad to be back," Mrs. Stimson said. "This has been a very busy time for all of us. Our husbands worked so hard that we scarcely saw them and we feel as though we'll have to be introduced to them all over again. Our part was making them as comfortable as possible."

"Mr. Stimson is very tired—but he's not half so tired as he would be if he hadn't brought back a treaty."

English People Delighted

Mrs. Robinson said the wives of the American delegation had been "very busy entertaining and being entertained."

"The English people were delighted and entertained us most graciously," she said. "There was little time left for sight-seeing."

After they had landed the delegates entered automobiles and

Fire Insurance a Key to Low Prices

Few have a true appreciation of the far-reaching effect of Stock Fire Insurance in holding down the cost of all merchandise.

No less authority than the Encyclopedia Britannica contributes a "testimonial" as follows:

"In the United States, as in no other country, has insurance in all its various phases become universally recognized as an essential of commerce and industry. To this fact may be attributed in large measure the achievements of America in business enterprises.

"Insurance encourages men and corporations to hazard their resources on new developments without fear of loss from natural and unavoidable catastrophes."

At every turn in the processing of materials—storage, manufacturing, transportation, wholesaling, retailing—the protection of Stock Fire Insurance contributes that indispensable element of certainty without loading prices for speculative risk.

By paying a premium which on the average is only a fraction of 1% of the amount insured, business transfers to the Stock Fire Insurance companies what would otherwise be an oppressive carrying charge against the risk of destruction by fire.

The 239 Stock Fire Insurance companies constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters have rendered their services at an average price that has constantly declined for more than twenty years.
