Seals Climb To Second Place In Pacific League

By the Associated Press
The San Francisco Seals occupied the runner-up position in the Pacific Coast league pennant race today by virtue of a hectic 9 to 8 victory over the Sacramento Senators in yesterday's game, when they scored seven runs in the eighth inning.

Ed Bryan, Seals hurler, pitched a ball until that fateful frame, before the side was out he was on his way to the showers and the batter were weary from running bases. The Senators went on a hitting spree in the fifth scoring five runs to give Bryan a four run lead and the game seemed to be in the lap of the visitors. Then came the eighth and trouble.

Home Run Helps
First to score for the Seals in the eighth was Zinn, pinch hitting for McFadden. Bryan threw a few nats to the plate and looked up to find the bases full. Wings cleared them with a home run and four tallies came in to tie the score. Two more runs came in before the side was retired, and although Sacramento scored twice in the ninth, their efforts went for naught.

The league-leading Oakland Oaks had their lead cut to one full game at Wrigley field when the Los Angeles Angels took a double header, 3 to 2 in the eleven, lining a homer and 4 to 1 in the second game, a seven-inning affair. Dumovich and Helmsy staged a forty round duel until the final inning of the first game when the Angels bunched three timely hits to score the winning run. Horne pitched the Angels to victory in the nightcap, holding the Oaks to eight scattered hits.

Missions Win
The Mission Reds smote off the legs of the Seattle Mariners for an easy win and answered all the diamond near exhaustion from running lines after chalking up a 12 to 2 victory. "Dutch" Lister and five Indian batters to five hits. Rosenberg, Missions left fielder, got two doubles, a single and sacrificed in four times at bat.

Main caused the postponement of the Portland Buckle-Hollywood Stars game at Portland and a double header will be played today—weather permitting.

The art of center-field play, nowhere has been more strikingly exhibited this season than in the opening game between the Yankees and Athletics at New York.

Earl Combs, great Yankee star, roamed far and wide to pull down eight drives. He made all three putouts in one inning. George (Muley) Haas, rising young ace of the Athletics, made four fine catches and converted two of them into double plays, the last on a towering drive from Babe Ruth's bat that he took as he tumbled into the bleacher wall.

Combs, fast and a good hitter, is more experienced than Haas. Haas, however, has a much better throwing arm, is a trifle faster and probably will outlast Combs or any other centerfielder in the league this year. Haas is tagged to become one of the outstanding all-around outfielders in the game.

Lloyd (Sprout) Waner, considering all qualifications, probably is the ablest center-fielder in the National league. The younger Waner is a born ballhawk, great leadoff man and possibly the fastest runner in baseball at getting down to first base. His arm is none too strong but that is his only weakness.

Earl Clark, the Braves' center-fielder, set a major league record at 12 putouts in a game last season and ranks around the top. Hack Wilson is no galloping ghost in the outer garden but the Hack is a hard worker and harder hitter. Taylor Douthett of the Cardinals is a fine defensive outfielder.

White Sox.

And if Wild Bill Hallahan, the sensational left-hander of the Cardinals, didn't set a record when he fanned 29 Cubs and walked 16 in two games, he deserves one. These Cubs got the whiffing habit when 50 of them fanned in five world's series games and they apparently are still swinging.

One of the curious angles of the Carnera merry-go-round is sudden rush of boxing authorities to protect the belt virtue after the big Italian freak had about finished his cross-country jousting. The New York ring sultan auctioned Carnera's first affair, a palatial set-up with Big Boy Peterson in Madison Square Garden, yet calmly sat back and waited for evidence from California, upon which to base disbursement proceedings against the Primo, after the fight had been put over 16 times in succession.

There could not have been any misunderstanding about the Italian's debut in New York. Beforehand the boys enjoyed themselves discussing what brand of bathing suit Peterson would exploit. The customers, plenty of them, packed the Garden, not to see a fight but to inspect the latest ring freak. Carnera swished his big fists and showed nightly. Big Boy bounced up and down with a great deal of alacrity and everybody enjoyed a big laugh, including the boxing commissioners.

PITCHERS SHINE IN TWO CONTESTS

Jess Petty and Wesley Ferrell Stand Out in Major Games Friday.

By Hutch S. Fullerton Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Leads of heavy hitting are becoming so common in the major league that few of them can excite much comment while the few pitchers who are able to hold the slacker in check are earning most of the season's glory.

For this reason, Jess Petty of Pittsburgh and Wesley Ferrell of Cleveland stand out as the leading performers in the eight games played in the two big leagues yesterday. Petty took the mound against the Boston Braves with none out and the bases full in the ninth inning yesterday and a slim 3 to 2 lead to protect. He did the job by fanning one batsman and forcing another to hit for a double play, starting it himself.

Ferrell, meeting the Boston Red Sox, gave up just three hits in seven innings before he yielded the job to Ken Halloway, but his team was trailing 3-2. The Indians scored six runs in the last two innings to gain an 8 to 2 victory.

Joe Sewell absent

The notable feature of the game was the absence of Joe Sewell. His streak was broken by illness, which kept him in bed with a temperature of 102. Joe had missed but one previous game since 1929 and none at all since 1922.

Ted Lyons of Chicago turned in another good pitching performance as the four first division teams of the American league downed the New York Yankees to six scattered hits and gave Chicago a 10 to 1 victory. Bud Clancy aided with two home runs, a triple and a single.

"Sad Sam" Jones of Washington hurled much the same kind of game as the Senators downed the St. Louis Browns, 12 to 5, for their eleventh victory in 14 games and the fifth successive Browns' defeat. Washington benefited from four errors and made 17 hits.

Walberg Wins

Bobo Walberg completed the roster of winning pitchers for the season by hurling the Philadelphia Athletics to a 9 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. He allowed but eight hits and struck out six.

The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds went to the other extreme as the Giants again became former leaders of the National league. Seven moundmen were used by the two teams with the final result a 9 to 4 victory.

Three-Cornered Race In Relays At Seattle, Wn.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 3 (AP)—Washington State college, Oregon State college and the University of Washington were the likely winners of the eleventh annual University of Washington relay carnival here today.

Washington State, winner of the 1928 relay carnival and out this year to repeat, was conceded to be the combination to beat for the championship.

Several carnival records were expected to fall when the 200 athletes from the colleges and high schools of the northwest swung into action. Existing marks in the one and four mile relays, discus, shot put, pole vault and 120 yard high hurdles were due to bow to new figures in the class "A" or Pacific Coast Conference division.

Eleven events were scheduled in the class "A" division, three in class "B," two in the state high school class and four in the Seattle high school division. Steve Anderson, Washington's premier hurdler and captain of the Husky squad was pronounced in the top shape for the big stick event for the first time in ten days. Anderson sprained an ankle just before the Stanford-Washington meet last week and was unable to compete in the south.

A DAILY FEATURE IN The EVENING OBSERVER

BASEBALL AT NIGHT TRIED IN IOWA GAME

DES MOINES, Ia., May 3 (AP)—Apparently only the turnstile approval of baseball fans now is needed to make night baseball under artificial lighting a success.

The Des Moines and Wichita, Kan. clubs of the Western League, last night demonstrated before nearly 12,000 spectators that mechanically the game may be played as well under powerful lights as in the sunlight—and probably better on gray days.

Des Moines defeated the league-leading Wichita club, 13 to 6, by a wild first inning which netted 11 runs, but there was no indication that the unusual conditions were responsible. The pitching was as good as in the day time, and the players handled ground balls and throws without hesitation. Wichita played errorless baseball while Des Moines was charged with four misplays.
