ATHLETICS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

Power of Hitting Brings Philadelphia to Top in American League.

By Herbert W. Barker (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics have overcome the snotty play that marked their early-season efforts and vaulted back into the lead in the American league race.

St. Simon's fifth homer of the season enabled the A's to register their fifth successive victory at the expense of the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 10 to 12 in 12 innings. It was the sheer power rather than the continuity of the champions' play that beat the Browns.

Victims of a vicious batting attack at St. Louis, the Cleveland Indians fell back into a tie with the Athletics for the league lead. Four Indian pitchers were pounded for

20% MORE HEAT FROM TON OF COAL

Steel-riveted Lennox Torrid Zone Furnace Has Extra Large Radiator—And It's Gas-tight

Many home owners report a yearly saving of from $30 to $50 in fuel since buying a Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. The special oil-burning model saves even more, and is recommended by all oil burner manufacturers.

Design as well as construction is responsible for this economy. The steel plate which is hot-riveted and cold-calked to prevent leaking of gas, smoke, or dust, conducts heat more quickly than cast iron and is more durable. But it is the efficient design of the fire-pot and radiator which gets more heat from fuel.

The deep fire-pot insures better combustion. The oversized radiator makes the gases and smoke escaping from the fire-pot travel from 13 to 20 feet before going up the chimney—squeezing from them every last possible bit of heat.

There are seventy-nine different Torrid Zone types and sizes for heating every different type and size of building—and they burn and save hard coal, soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.—Marshalltown, Iowa—Toronto, Canada.

American Team In England For Golf Contests

PLYMOUTH, England, May 6 (AP)—Members of the American Walker cup team reached England today on the Mauretania. All disembarked except Bobby Jones, who remained aboard and proceeded to Southampton. He expressed the opinion that the team's prospects were good.

"But," Jones said, "I am sure that we shall have a very hard fight for I think that Great Britain has got together her strongest team in years. I myself have been playing very well, but not having played a lot of golf I don't like to say too much about that. I have not played for three weeks, however, and got only a little practice on the boat. We shall see how we shape up when we get down to hard practice."

Jones would not commit himself on probable pairing of his men in the foursomes. The junior member of the team, Donald Mor, evidently was puzzled over his first visit to England. "The responsibility thrown upon us by the golf association rather frightens me," he said, "but I'm determined to play my very best. I know I'll have a wonderful time."

Douglas Fairbanks also arrived on the Mauretania, with the intention of seeing the matches. He said that he had gone so far as to book a room in Hollywood while his fellow countrymen were battling in England. He was even more optimistic of the team's chances than was Jones himself.

The Americans declined all invitations to play in tournaments before the match with Great Britain. It was Jones' opinion that the men can best get rid of their sea legs by practice among themselves. They will go to Adlington, Wokingham, Heath, or Sandridge tomorrow.

Baseball and football have had their fair share of brotherly love. Baseball still has, with the Wagners as prime examples. Golf has one of the finest family book-shops of them all in the Farrell brothers. Jimmy, the quiet but quite efficient elder, and Johnny, the fashionable, former National Open champion and who had with the millions-dollar smile. It isn't a new combination. The Farrell brothers have long been partners in the professional business at the Quaker Ridge club, across the road from the course of which the National Open was played last year in Westchester county. Winters they team up at St. Augustine.

Not so much is heard of Jimmy, the silent partner. Take it from Johnny, however—he runs the family show.

"You know I really didn't start anywhere until the spring of 1927," Johnny says. "Up to then I was just one of the boys, winning a flock of quality trophies, but finishing nowhere at the end of the tournament. I got going with Jim's help and advice and began winning some tournaments. In fact I won a flock of them in 1927, starting with the Met Open. Then I won the National Open in 1928 at Olympia. Jim was so nervous he could not follow me around during the playoff in which I beat Bobby Jones by a stroke."

"I said to myself, 'This was easy. How long has it been going on?' And that's just where I made a big mistake. I thought more about my game, tried to pick it apart to see how it ticked—and you know what happened. I didn't qualify for the last two rounds of the 1929 Open, right in my own backyard. That was tough but I have learned that too much self-analysis does not pay in this game of golf. So I am just up there smacking 'em now."

The latest testimony concerning Brother Jimmy is that, in a trial with steel-shafted irons, he is smacking 'em straighter and farther than ever. He will be back in the running when the clans assemble at Interlachen in July.

All signs point ponderously to a prospective change in the heavy-weight wrestling "championship" ranks, with the scenery shifted this time from Boston to Los Angeles and the latest challenger, Everett Marshall, groomed to lift the prize of the pachyderms from colicky Gus Sonnenberg.

Sonnenberg has been offered a "renewal" match with Marshall. That is the first step of impending events. The second is a victory for Marshall over the veteran Ed (Strangler) Lewis, warhorse of the troupe whose activities range from Boston to the Middle West, South and Far West.

Lewis (Big) Munn flopped ways at Kansas City when it was decided that what the game needed was collegiate atmosphere; specifically the rulership of a Nebraska collegian. Later, the culture of old New England was sought and Gus Sonnenberg of Dartmouth picked to beat Lewis for the "championship." And there, as the saying is, you are.

Oregon Bowling Team Takes Third

SEATTLE, Wash., May 6 (AP)—The half way mark was scheduled to be reached tonight in the eighteenth annual Northwest International Bowling congress with teams competing from Spokane, Tacoma, Everett, Bremerton, Ferndale, B. C., and Seattle.

The majority of early leaders in the various classes continued to hold their places through yesterday's play. The Oregonian five of Portland rolled into third place in the five-man commercial division last night with a score of 2167. The only first place to change hands yesterday was in the housewife class when the telephone pioneers of Seattle forged to the top with 2567.

Gus Sonnenberg Pins Challenger

LOS ANGELES, May 6 (AP)—Some 17,000 persons to spend for entrance fees, last night saw "Gloomy" Gus Sonnenberg cling to the chair he lays to the world heavyweight wrestling crown. He tackled his way to the two concluding falls of a finished exhibition after Everett Marshall, La Junta, Colo., grappler had annexed the first act with a prolonged airplane spin in less than half an hour.

PORTLAND AND SEATTLE OPEN SERIES TODAY

By the Associated Press

The reputedly fast-swinging Los Angeles Angels make their first appearance of the season today against the San Francisco Mission in San Francisco. The Seals meet Hollywood at Los Angeles in the first game of a three-week tour that will take the locals to Oakland and Sacramento to conclude touring to Recreation park while Sacramento and Oakland clash at Oakland. The two northernmost teams of the circuit, Seattle and Portland, who with Hollywood are waging a torrid contest for cellar honors, meet at Portland.

Sacramento moved into the league leadership last week by virtue of a whirlwind finish against the Seals on the latter's home ball yard. The Oaks started the week in first place and returned home for the series with the present leaders in third place.

Lostine School Commencement To Be May 15

By Mrs. William Wiggins (Classroom correspondent)

LOSTINE, Ore. (Special)—May 15 in the basement of the Presbyterian church, the lower class entertained the upper classmen at a Junior-senior banquet. The class colors of purple and gold were used in decorating the room. Interspersed throughout the banquet were toasts centering around the idea of arts given by Claudine Gerth, Ruth Leonard and Vernon Bradshaw, with Sgt. Crow acting as toastmaster. Following the banquet, a short program was given consisting of "Cake Walk" by Bernice Winnings and Margaret Foley; vocal duet by Esther Flesner and Freda Hall and a musical reading by Ruth Swartz which was enjoyed by all present.

The Lostine commencement exercises will be held the evening of May 15, in the high school auditorium. Ex-Governor Walter M. Pierce will give the address. A program has been arranged as follows: Professional, Freda Hall; ovation, orchestra; invocation, the Rev. Mr. Hartman; violin solo, Claudine Gerth; piano solo, Margaret Foley; address, M. Pierce; presentation of diplomas; benediction by M. Hartman.

This establishes a Wallawa county trout hatchery, which will supply the many streams with kama fish and after they have grown large enough to shift for themselves, they will be released in the different streams, but before the young fish were shipped in from elsewhere and the streams have not gained in number.

George W. Joseph, candidate for governor spoke last Tuesday night to a large number of voters in the court house at Enterprise. Mr. Joseph held his listeners for one and three-quarters hours, stating his platform.

The eclipse of the sun was easily seen in Wallawa county without the aid of a smoked glass.

J. W. Henderson, president and manager of the Community market at Enterprise negotiated a deal whereby the butcher shop and business owned by Alva Victor, of Wallawa, became the property of the Community shop at Enterprise. T. B. Leonard, of Lostine, who has been working for this company for some time, will be manager of the Wallawa shop which will be supplied from the Enterprise market.

While working on the log loader at the Bowman-Hicks lumber camp near Maxwell Saturday, Frank Stawler, colored, was injured so severely that he died Sunday morning at the Wallawa hospital. He was buried at Enterprise Tuesday afternoon. While loading logs the log slipped out of one end of the log and jammed the man against a big pile of logs.

In a number of sections of Wallawa county the ticks are reported to be very bad, especially in the Swamp creek and Leap districts. Along Swamp creek 15 animals had died from the pests which congregated on the back of the neck in bunches. The other animals were gathered in and treated with sheep dip and other remedies.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hensley, of Summerville, returned to their home Sunday after several days visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crow, of Hurricane creek, were Lostine visitors Tuesday.

Friday Wallawa county was visited by a heavy rain which continued all night. Saturday morning snow was evident on the low mountain sides north of the North woods and west of Lostine the snow was very low on the hillsides, remaining all day.

A number of Lostine L. O. O. F. members went to Enterprise Saturday night to help celebrate the birthday anniversary. The program was in charge of the Rebekahs. After the program refreshments were served. This marked the 111th anniversary of the founding of the parent order.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson and son, Ralph, of Hubler, spent Sunday at the home of Radie Hudson and family, of Joseph.

Friends of Henry Ramsey, who was killed Wednesday night in a boxing match at Enterprise, were glad to hear of his passing. Mr. Ramsey came to Wallawa county four years ago.

Harley Allen, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. C. L. Allen, Miss Nell Allen and Mrs. Lester Enimons, motored to La Grande Wednesday where they spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Emmons and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Crow, on Hurricane creek.

Mr. and Mrs. William Goebel and little daughter and Miss Mildred Cole, of Wallawa, spent Sunday at the home of their father, Charles Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bridwell of Portland, who were called here by the death of George Akeley, spent several days visiting relatives in Lostine before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Marian Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Van Bossman, of Elgin, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen.

Kelo Draper went to La Grande and submitted to a fourth operation for sinus trouble recently.

Earl Allen is out again after a severe attack of gallstones.

Roses are blooming in the department in Enterprise of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spear. The rose bushes were ordered and when they arrived were budbed. Each bush they have been covered against frost and the buds kept on developing until they burst out in full bloom and have been admired by numbers of people as this is a rare thing for Enterprise to have roses in bloom this time of year.

E. T. Daggett, of Joseph, who takes great pride in the cultivation of flowers went to the cemetery at Pradria creek to look after his family lot and to attend to his flowers. He was much surprised to find that several of his choice plants had been removed. Two bunches of bleeding hearts, most prized, were both gone. There were spade marks which showed that they were moved recently.

This spring Donald Beth, of Joseph, purchased 200 baby chicks, built a new brooder house and purchased a new brooder. The chicks were four weeks old and doing fine until Sunday night when his brooder house caught fire from the oil burner and burned up chickens and all. This was quite a loss to Mr. Beth who was trying to get into the chicken business.
