NATURAL VERSUS SPIRITUAL — The natural man perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.—1 Cor. 2:14.

Marriage can also be Reno-vated.

The fellow who believes a third party can win probably believes in perpetual motion.

Having to work is the only cure for those worries caused by not having to work.

When a man thinks a woman doesn't understand him it usually is because she does understand him.

Red Cagle has crowded football, matrimony and newspaper reporting into one short month. Some men can stand a lot of punishment.

The "business men" who entertained Al Capone at Miami are probably just as authentic as the "scientists" who "discover" cure-alls.

Now that they give you a razor free with every blade, we wouldn't be surprised much to get a new car with the next tire we buy.

LONGER LIFE

When told that the mortality rate is falling, lengthening the average span of life, many persons suppose that better doctors, improved living conditions and the natural course of evolution is responsible, but few associate with it as an institution to which probably more than anything else man is indebted for the extra years on earth granted this generation. That institution is plumbing.

Plumbing is not what could be called a "sanitary" word, although it is the first word in sanitation. Perhaps it is denied its due credit because the word is associated with grimy workmen and apoplectic bills. But one need only to compare this country's death rate with that of those countries which have little or no plumbing, to find the reason for the lengthening span of life.

So recent is it that many can recall the time when the small communities of this country were sewerless and running hot water and bathtubs were a rarity. The adoption of plumbing has been amazing in its rapidity and not less rapid have been improvements in the methods and fixtures of plumbing.

Twenty years ago plumbing was left to little better than unskilled laborers. Today plumbing has been raised to a science. Plumbing is the ounce of preventative.

YOUTH HAVING ITS DAY

A roster of champions in various sports this year carried the games of more than a score of boys and girls whose ages range from 16 to 22 years. They were successful over veterans the average of whose years was very much higher. On the stage and in the movies youth of both sexes also predominate. Youth is certainly having its day, but in the more essential activities of life men and women of mature years continue to hold their prominence. A healthy mind in a healthy body, is the greatest blessing of life. Rational sports temperately pursued are a means for keeping the physical body fit, and contribute to longevity. Long life brings experience and experience is a chief ingredient of wisdom.

If it were possible to bring some of the spirit and love of sports into the field of essential work, much friction and unhappiness would be removed from the world today. Human nature is so varied in its predilection that there is never any danger of a bitter struggle for the soft place in life. Just as there are extremes in sport between the pugilist and the polo-player, the billiardist and the footballer, so there are extremes in the field of labor, but the distance between sports and labor is measured by the poles, when the mental attitude is viewed.

One reason for the difference is that in sports each contestant strives by fair play to excel, while in the field of business and labor—well, too often fair rivalry is absent. Another and possibly the greatest difference is that in sports the contestant selects his field and if he is ambitious, trains for his championship therein, while in essential work it is often a haphazard matter of selection and indifference to results.

The world is making progress, however. Science has devised means for measuring the capabilities of youth among the varied fields of endeavor, and vocational schools are making selection and training for life a matter of more concern than was the case in our father's days. A few old-fashioned folk may deplore the fruits and frivolities of youth and declare that there is too much coddling of the latter, but the fruits of the new system will be seen in better citizenship a score or so of years hence.

Butter And Egg Prices Remain Same, But Weak

PORTLAND, Ore., June 20 (AP)—Butter and egg prices remained unchanged today, but both displayed a weak undertone. The strength shown by butter for the last few days appears to have yielded to accumulating supplies. Egg values were reported to have been shaded by some dealers, but the cooperatives, who control about 60 per cent of the output, announced no change.

Poultry prices have declined materially while fresh meats, with the exception of lamb, have advanced. Poultry yards are being culled and most of the culls are reaching the consuming markets.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Portland bureau of the U. S. department of agriculture says: "Strawberry supplies were lighter today, and sold 25c per crate higher. Oregon's main strawberry season will be completed by the end of this week, although smaller movement will continue for some time yet.

"Carrots of green peas are selling readily to cash buyers at 25c to 45c per crate, depending on quality. Eastern markets are a trifle weaker today, but still eastern shipments from Portland grossed financial returns of $5,000.00. In addition, many peas are being shipped daily by motor-truck to northwest points.

"Yakima reported storage holdings of potatoes totaling 25-30 cars, early this week. Nearly thirty cars have been loaded from that state during the first three days of the week, of which only 4 or 5 cars were new potatoes. The Yakima Notted Gem market is dull, present loadings of combination grade, selling at $5.00-$5.25 per ton.

"Walla Walla onions will move in a few days, but no orders have been placed by Portland distributors yet, due to liberal supplies and low prices of California onions.

ALTERATIONS IN CAPITOL RECOMMENDED

SALLEM, Ore., June 20 (AP)—A committee of the Oregon legislature, the staff of representatives and senators, and the Oregon National Guard, are recommending alterations in the constitution of the state capital, according to a committee report. The committee is recommending that the capital be moved to Salem, and that the capital be a city of 100,000 people. The committee also recommends that the capital be a city of 100,000 people.

Closing Prices In Wall Street Near the Floor

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Share prices fell back $2 to $14 a share on the New York stock exchange today, cancelling much of yesterday's gains. Renewed bear selling was attracted by the violent upswing yesterday, and another sharp break in the Chicago wheat market was distinctly unsettling.

The cut in the New York rediscount rate to 2 1/2 per cent, the lowest in history, and the drop of $211,000,000 in brokers' loans, caused a vigorous upturn in share prices as the market opened, but selling appeared in large volume during the late morning and early afternoon. During the afternoon the list rallied moderately at times, but closing prices were close to the day's low.

Trading was in comparatively moderate volume, total sales aggregating 2,500,000 shares, or about yesterday's total.

U. S. Steel common, which recorded the year's low record at $155 on Tuesday, sold up $162.25 today, but closed at $158, a drop of $2 from yesterday's final level. American Telephone sold down to $294.75, but closed at $296.27, off $2.57 ex-dividend. American Can dropped to $115.12, and closed at $116, off $3.50. Westinghouse Electric was off $7. Allied Chemical sold off $34, and rallied $2. Eastern Kodak closed $27.50 lower. J. I. Case closed at $171, off $14. Shares of $2 to $2.50 included Radio Keith, Standard of N. J., Warner Bros., Bethlehem Steel, Columbia Gas, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Gas and Radio Corp., American and Foreign power, Public service of N. J. and electric power and light were off $4 or more.

WOOL REPORT

BOSTON, June 20 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

"The wool market is well sustained in this country, with prices firm but unchanged and the movement both in the eastern seaboard markets and in the west fairly steady. Demand in the Boston market has not changed appreciably. Of the new domestic clip, it is estimated that 75 to 80 per cent is out of the growers' hands.

"The foreign markets are fairly firm. Prices in Sydney this week are quoted about a penny. Clean locks, lower. Yorkshire is very slow and the disposition in England and on the continent, more or less, is to await the opening of the next London sales, July 2.

"The manufacturing position is regarded as very sound. Though restrictive, but with business hardly commensurate to the volume of wool which has been sold.
