Sport Slants

by ALAN J. GOULD

Old John may have to stage a come-back after all to pull the heavyweight tank out of the barbed wire entanglements. Of course we mean old John Dempsey who with no more leg-power than he manifested in his last fight against Gene Tunney probably could have disposed in rapid succession of the Scotts, Sharkeys and Schmeling who have been either groaning or crying out loud this year.

Contrast the records of Dempsey and Tunney, the last two great heavyweights, with those of the trio appearing in the 1930 spotlight.

Dempsey won only one bout on a foul, in six rounds, from Carl Morris, long before he became champion.

Tunney never won nor lost a fight. Sharkey has won three fights on fouls, lost one and almost another, to Scott.

Scott won six bouts on fouls. Schmeling was proclaimed "champion" on a foul.

Dempsey and Schmeling would be a million-dollar drawing card in either Chicago or New York. Old John is still the most popular pugilistic figure in the United States, by several miles. He has laid off now for three years but Dempsey still could be counted to pack dynamite in a few of his famous left hooks.

Could he cope with so spry and rugged a youngster as Schmeling? Perhaps not, but it would be worth getting steamed up about after three years of mauling that have done the boxing game in general and the heavyweight class in particular no good.

When Wesley Cheek Ferrell of Greensboro, N. C., won 21 games and lost only 10 for the third place Cleveland club last season, there was some disposition to look upon the youthful right-hander's achievement as a one-year outburst, a flash in the pan.

Picking up where he left off, Ferrell had won ten games by the middle of this June, helped keep Cleveland in the thick of the pennant fight and removed any doubt about his ability. Wesley is only 22, but he is big, strong, fast and unquestionably the best right-handed twirler to come up from any corner of the bush in years.

And he is one of the main reasons for Cleveland's big comeback under the Bradley-Eds-Peckingpaugh system of control. Some of the others are Johnny Rodapp, Earl Averill, Willis Hudlin and Eddie Morgan, not to forget the Sewell Bros. Inc. "In all probability," postcards Dan Ferris, the oracle of the A. A. U. from Berlin, "the next Olympics (that is, the 1936 Games) will be awarded here and I'll make the rash prediction now that Germany will win. The whole nation is behind the athletic movement."

ABOUT LOST HOPE OF GETTING WELL

"I was so weak and rundown I had practically given up hope when I started Sargol. An attack of yellow jaundice 2 years ago left me in a badly weakened and rundown condition. I suffered with pains in both sides, and in my stomach, and no medicine helped me until I started Sargol. Ten bottles have strengthened and invigorated me so that I'm up and going, every pain in my body is gone and I feel as good as I did years ago. It has been 4 months since I've taken Sargol and there has been no recurrence of any of my troubles.
