Origin of a War Custom During the Fenian rising in Ireland in 1867, the British troops bagged too many prisoners for them to handle. "Take away their braces and cut off the buttons from their trousers," was the commander's orders. This practice was often resorted to during the World War in similar circumstances.

F B E S H Tea

A QUALITY YOU WOULD INSIST UPON IF YOU KNEW ALL THE FACTS

Till coffee was packed in vacuum, you never knew how much of its glorious flavor you had been missing. The same is true of tea. The two are identical in one respect. A little air—a little moisture—and pff!—the finer flavors are gone. With coffee it happens quickly. With tea more slowly—but surely. And it is many months before tea reaches you from the tea gardens—frequently a year. Its original flavor you could never enjoy until Schilling, by a secret process, packed tea hot in vacuum.

SCHILLING TEA

SEALED HOT IN VACUUM Both a tea leaf and a coffee bean must be toasted to drive off the moisture, which helps to rob them of flavor. Good coffee is packed in vacuum immediately after roasting. Tea is toasted at the tea gardens, then sealed in large chests lined with lead. When it arrives in America it is repacked in ordinary tins or even cardboard boxes. And that's where the damage is done! But this is how Schilling does it. As the tea is poured from the lead-lined chests, it is toasted again, and while still hot (just like your coffee) it is sealed in vacuum. Schilling Tea comes to you as fresh and fragrant as it left the Orient—the only tea completely protected from the tea garden to you.

SCHILLING ICED TEA

Schilling Iced Tea is far more refreshing than any other, because it is fresh to begin with—fresh and fragrant. Black tea (orange pekoe) is best for iced tea. And try using tea bags instead of loose tea. Steep the tea to the desired strength, remove the tea bag, and your tea can stand for some time before pouring over the ice. No danger of its steeping too long before icing. Just two or three minutes over-steeping makes a lot of difference in the flavor of tea.

TEA IN BAGS

Tea bags as well as loose tea are packed in vacuum by Schilling. A Schilling Tea bag contains just the proper amount of tea for two delicious cups or two tall glasses of fragrant iced tea. Try this modern way of serving it.
